Prowler Quint Edges Bemidji Here 48 - 46

A capacity crowd crammed into the Lincoln gymnasium here Wednesday night for the basketball game between the undefeated Prowlers and the undefeated Bemidji Lumberjacks, and after thirty-two minutes of thrill-packed basketball, coach Jack Junker's local squad whooped off the floor with a two-point win, 48 to 46.

The Prowlers will leave for Minneapolis Friday for their game against the Detroit Lakes Lakers on the University of Minnesota fieldhouse court at 1:30 Saturday afternoon. The game will be played as a preliminary to the Minnesota vs. Purdue Big Ten game.

In last night's thriller, the Prowlers and the Lumberjacks matched point for point during the first half of play, and the score was in a 28-all knot as the teams left the floor for the half-time intermission.

In this first half of play, lanky Ron Hanson kept the Prowlers in their point-race with the Jacks, the rangy center looping seven field goals and four free throws into the vest basket. Hanson was very effective in hooking the ball, both right and left handed into the net.

Bemidji, finding it difficult to sift through the Prowlers' zone defense, resorting to outside shooting. Lee Fawbush, who has just recently joined the Bemidji squad after being plagued by injuries, hit on six field goals, getting four in the second period.

To open the second half of play, Larry Higgins, from the lane, flipped in a field goal, and the Jacks led, 30-28. But the lead was short-lived as Harvey Ebbighausen, from just off the lane, dropped in a field goal, and Ulferts added a free throw. Ulferts, on a jumper from the left, hit for two points. Price and Fawbush marked up free throws, and the Jacks trailed by one, 33-32.

Ulferts scored on a drive-in shot; Ebbighausen lofted in a two-pointer; and Ulferts scored on a rebound, and the Prowlers lead, 39-32, with 2:15 to play in the period. The Jacks added a point on a free throw by Price, but Ebbighausen tossed in a field goal for the Prowlers. Bill Hanson, into the game at guard for Bemidji, scored on a corner shot. Ron Hanson, from the lane, hit on a one-handed shot, and when Gary Anderson scored on a lay-up the Prowlers held a 45 to 35 lead.

In the hectic fourth period, Bemidji scored nine unanswered points to pare the Prowler lead to one point, 45-44, with three minutes to play. During this surge, Higgins scored from close in, Hanson swished in a shot from the left corner, Higgins marked up a free throw, Hanson rang up another shot from the corner, and Higgins found the net with a jumper.

Ebbighausen scored a Prowler free throw. With 2:15 to play, Price broke up a Prowler play in mid-court and dribbled in for layup to knot the game at 46-all. With 1:57 to play, Ebbighausen loped in a field goal to score what proved to be the game-winning points. Bemidji, with 18 seconds to play and in possession of the ball, called time-out to set up a scoring play, but at the resumption of play the Prowlers shifted to a man-to-man defense and the Jacks were forced to take a hurried shot at the basket. The ball went out of bounds as the game-ending buzzer sounded.

Ron Hanson, although held to but two points, on a field goal, in the second half, was the game's high-point player with twenty points. Lee Fawbush, with six field goals and free throw, paced the Jacks' scoring with 13 points. Larry Higgins, who proved to be one of the most effective of the Bemidji players, had 12 points. Harvey Ebbighausen, with 11 points, was the other Prowler scorer to reach double figures.

Chamber to Open 1961 Membership Campaign Shortly

The Chamber of Commerce announced today that the 1961 membership drive will get under way shortly. Planning the drive are Treasurer Bob Baker, Sig Quam and Jim Winjum Sr. The committee plans to conduct the drive in the following manner: Each of the three men will pick five member prospects to contact and subscribe. Each of the five men will in turn contact five more and so on down the line until the entire membership has been signed up. In this manner, no man has over five people to contact and it can be handled easily by the chairman if each solicitor does his job properly. This "multiplier effect system" has been used before with a record of success.

HARVARD HOCKEY is benefiting by the presence of a former Prowler hockey star, Jerry Jorgenson, in its 1960-61 lineup. Jorgenson, a sophomore, has earned a wing position on coach Cooney Welland's Crimson varsity squad. It marks the second time in recent years that a former Prowler hockey player has earned varsity status at Harvard as Lyle Guttu, a member of the 1954 Prowler state champions, earned three hockey letters while attending Harvard. Jorgenson, during his high school career here, was a letterman in hockey, baseball, and football, and co-captained the Prowler hockey and baseball squads in his senior year.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Gerry's Progress

We have received some information from the Harvard University athletic department relating to the hockey progress of Gerald Jorgenson, the former Prowler all-round athlete.

States the release, "Harvard University's hockey team faces a crucial Ivy league test next week when it entertains the defending champion Dartmouth, and the Crimson may have a big surprise for the Big Green in the person of Thief River Falls native Gerry Jorgenson.

"The Lincoln high graduate had seen limited action during the first part of the current season. But in the Holiday tournament at R.P.I., coach Cooney Welland started to use him a little more and and the extra work paid large dividends in last Monday's game with undefeated Boston college. Jorgenson not only played a great game, but also netted the sudden-death overtime goal that gave Harvard a 2-1 victory over the previously undefeated Eagles.

"As of now, it looks as if 'Jorgy' has earned a regular spot on the second line with captain and center Stew Forbes and junior wing Jim Dwinell. 'He's come right along for us,' Welland remarks, 'and later on in the season he'll be even more valuable. He skates well and really fights for the puck. He earns everything he gets.'

"Jorgenson's fore-checking bothered B.C. all night long. He had missed several good scoring opportunities before he picked up a loose puck at the face-off circle in the overtime, moved in, fired a 15-footer high in the corner to settle the game.

"If the five-foot six-inch, 145-pounder can continue his rapid improvement, he could be a key factor in the Crimsons' effort to wrestle the Ivy crown away from Dartmouth this winter."

And speaking of Harvard, a member of the freshman hockey team this season, and playing a strong game as a center, is Romuald Ikauniks of Crookston. Ikauniks is a former Crookston Cathedral Blue Wave hockey star, and has played against the Prowlers on numerous occasions.

The Regional Favorites

If hustle and aggressive play, and a record of wins over some of the state's top-ranked teams is any criterion, the Warroad Warriors can be installed as one of the favorites, or the favorite, for the Region Eight hockey title.

On Tuesday night, playing at Warroad, coach Gordon Genz' hard-skating club scored a 4 to 1 win over the defending champion Prowlers. This win, on top of a 6 to 3 win over Eveleth and a 3 to 0 win over Coleraine, should give the Warriors the confidence they need. The Warriors will meet the Roseau Rams at Warroad on Tuesday, Jan. 24. This game could develop into one of the highlights of the Region Eight season.

The luckless Prowlers received another blow this week when defenseman Jerry Larson, a four-year veteran and the team's co-captain, was declared ineligible. The Prowlers could ill afford to lose any of the veterans that returned for this season's play, and Larson's loss is indeed grievous. Jerry had been playing an excellent brand of hockey this season, and coach Gene Sack had been relying on the veteran for full-time duty on the blue-line.

Attention: Senior Hockey Fans

The senior hockey Thieves will travel to Crookston this evening, Thursday, for a game against coach Bud Salem's Crookston Pirates.

And on Sunday afternoon, with the face-off slated for 2:30 p.m., the two teams will play a return game on the Arena ice sheet here.

The Thieves and Pirates always produce an entertaining brand of hockey.

Miscellany

The result of that important MIAC basketball game played at Moorhead on Monday night found the Augsburg team defeating the Cobbers, 76-67. Phil Hanson added 11 points to the Augsburg total as the Auggies, by their win, moved into first place in the conference standings. . . . Murray Balagus, the former Thieves hockey player, and who just recently returned from an European trip with the Winnipeg Maroons, is now employed by Malvin's at Warroad. And, of course, playing hockey with the Warroad Lakers. . . . Clark (Corky) Johnson, the righthander who pitched for the Springfield Giants in the Eastern league last season, and who is a San Francisco chattel, is coninuing his education at Bemidji State college this winter. Because of his professional baseball status, he has been declared ineligible for college athletics with the Beavers, but Corky has organized an independent basketball team that has been playing a series of exhibition games around the area.

Warroad Whips Prowler Six 4-1

With the score in a 1-all knot late in the second period of the Region Eight conference hockey game played at Warroad on Tuesday night, Warroad's Geo. Reinhart, after intercepting a Prowler clearing-out pass just inside the Prowler blue-line, whipped a hard shot past goalie Tom Teal and into the west net to give the Warriors a 2 to 1 lead. With just ten seconds of the second period remaining, Warroad added a goal when Gary Hokanson, on an assist from Alan Johnson, tallied. And in the third period, at the half-way mark, Dick Ganyo added an "insurance" goal to give the Warriors a 4 to 1 win over coach Gene Sack's Prowlers.

On Saturday night, on the Arena ice here, the Prowlers will meet the improving Roseau Rams in an important Region Eight conference tilt.

In Tuesday night's game at Warroad, the Warriors moved into a 1 to 0 lead in the first period when, at the 3:38 mark, Ted Lockrem, during a melee in front of the Prowler net, crammed the puck past the local netminder.

The Prowlers made it a "new" game when, early in the second period, Dennis Erickson raced in to recover the re-bound of Keith Poppenhagen's on-goal shot and flip the disc into the east goal.

In the preliminary game, coach George Schlieff's 'B' team defeated coach Ed Kruzanowski's Warroad 'B' team, 4 to 0. In the first period, Wayne Loeffler, Elroy Froiland and Rick Thompson scored to give the locals a 3 to 0 lead. Froiland added a Prowler tally in the third period, giving the local 'B's a well-earned 4 to 0 win.

Vet Pensioners Told to Report '60 Income

Approximately 6,139 disabled veterans and dependents of some 2,217 deceased veterans in North Dakota and Ninth congressional district of Minnesota who receive monthly pension payments, are being reminded by the Veterans Administration to report their annual income promptly and avoid the risk of having their payments stopped.

John R. Parrish, manager of the VA Center in Fargo, said today that all pension recipients are receiving a tabulating card along with their January 1 checks. It is on this tabulating card that the income report must be made and returned to VA within 30 days.

Pensions cease under the old pension law if the income of a single individual exceeds $1,400, or $2,700 if the recipient has dependents.

Under the new law which went into effect last July 1, Mr. Parrish pointed out, pensions will cease if the income of a single individual exceeds $1,800, or $3,000 if the recipient has dependents. The amount of pension payment will vary according to the recipient's annual income and may be adjusted upward or downward depending on the amount of income.

Dependent parents who receive dependency and indemnity compensation will also receive income questionnaires and their payments are similarly regulated by the amount of their income, Parrish added. Regulations require payment to be stopped if the income report is not returned to the VA within 30 days. Annually, a sizeable number of pension recipients suffer payment interruptions through failure to make their income reports on time.

No income questionnaire is sent to veterans or widows who are receiving service-connected benefits.

Manitoba Music Festival April 10

Minnesotans Invited to Enter by January 21

Deadline for entries in the 1961 Manitoba Music Festival is January 21. This festival has in recent years attracted an increasing number of competitors from neighboring communities in the United States. Traditionally, the Manitoba Festival is the largest of its kind in the British Commonwealth.

In 1960 approximately 500 young Americans trooped across the border in choirs, bands and singly, to perform in Winnipeg. Some of them impressed the English adjudicators enough to win top prizes. For example, the Hallock, Minn., high school band is regularly tops in its competition.

The purpose of the festival is to give young performers good experience before an audience, and expert criticism that will advance their musical skills.

The 1961 Manitoba Music Festival starts in Winnipeg April 10. Entries must be submitted to the Secretary, Manitoba Music Festival, Room 58, 221 Osborne St., Winnipeg 1, by January 21. The program listing all events, as well as entry forms, are available also from that address.

Prout Acting Chief of Conservation

Is Temporary Successor to Commr. Geore Selke

Minnesota's newly appointed acting commissioner of conservation, Clarence Prout, began his career in state service as a forest ranger 35 years ago. He thus becomes the first to rise through the ranks from a beginning position to the highest office in the department.

Prout's appointment by Governor Elmer L. Andersen became effective as of January 4.

Born in Eveleth, Minnesota, on August 11, 1900, Prout attended Eveleth Junior college for two years and graduated in 1923 from Iowa State college with a B.S. degree in forestry. He joined the Minnesota Forest Service, forerunner of the present forestry division, two years later.

He held various positions in the division of forestry until his appointment as deputy commissioner on January 1, 1954, under then Commissioner of Conservation Chester S. Wilson.

Prout remained as deputy commissioner under Dr. George A. Selke, commissioner for five years in the Freeman administration.

Selke's resignation was announced following the results of the November election and he recently was named to an agriculture post by Freeman who will take office as U.S. Secretary of Agriculture in the new Kennedy administration.

With college training and many years of service in the department, Prout is considered to be a career conservationist.

As acting commissioner of conservation, he will have one of the largest departments in the state government under his direction.

WILDLIFE in Minnesota

Director of Game & Fish

The increased interest in conservation legislation being shown by sportsmen's organizations, civic groups, and other conservation-minded people is highly commendable. Nothing these groups can do is more important conservation-wise than exerting their influence in favor of good conservation legislation and against that which is poor.

It is not always realized that these bills are brought up in committees which are open to the public. Of course, the bills which we are most interested in usually come up in the game and fish committees of the House and Senate. We are always on hand at these meetings to provide any information which may be helpful and we usually are asked for our recommendations.

The Department will have about 20 game and fish bills which we will ask legislators to introduce during the coming session. In addition to these 20 there will be at least five times as many bills from other sources. Last year I believe each of these committees had to deal with approximately 130 game and fish bills.

Of course, it is just as important that your legislators defeat poor legislation as it is that they pass good laws, and one of our biggest jobs during the session will be, to point out the weaknesses as we see them in some of the proposed laws. This is never a pleasant or a popular thing to do but something which must be done.

Each bill, before it becomes a law, must pass a minimum of two committees, two houses, and be signed by the governor. In addition, it may go through several other committees and subcommittees. When you multiply this times the 130 or so game and fish bills, you have a rough idea of the problem involved in just keeping track of where all the game and fish bills are. Considering the problem involved in just keeping track of game and fish bills, imagine how much more difficult it, for your legislators who serve on many committees and have an almost infinite number of bills to ride herd on.

Anyone who thinks the legislators have it pretty soft loafing around St. Paul for three months should spend a few days in the Capitol when they are in session. He should attend some of the evening sessions which may run far into the night. We think he'd change his mind in a hurry.

Some people have been asking of late what has happened to the "four-million-dollar" balance in the game and fish fund. The first answer is that there never was a four-million-dollar balance. In 1952 the balance reached its peak of $2,865,000. Starting in 1953, which was about three years before I had anything to do with recommending budgets, the balance was being used at the rate of about one-half million dollars a year. Large balances are not desirable so this practice has been continued.

It is also interesting to note that game and fish legislative transfers, or diversions as sportsmen call them, increased from $450,000 in 1953 to more than double that amount, $993,000 in 1958. So you can see where much of the balance went.

During the last session our legislators wisely reduced the amount of these transfers to approximately $650,000. Remember, these transfers cannot be eliminated. Game and fish must pay its share of the "housekeeping fees" which include bookkeeping, engineering, legal services, administration, etc.

"Ideals are like stars; you will not succeed in touching them with your hands, but like the seafaring man on the desert of waters, you choose them as your guides, and, following them, you reach your destiny." —Carl Schurz

Good Progress

Once upon a time, many many years ago—maybe it was only many months ago—American soldiers maintained law and order in the city of Little Rock, Arkansas, as Governor Orval Faubus and some of the white citizens adjusted themselves to the embarrassment of a court order forcing racial integration in the public schools. The Governor and his followers declared they would not permit such a thing to happen. But it did happen, and now more and more Negro children in Arkansas are attending classes where only white children were permitted before.

More recently similar trouble erupted in New Orleans, but in New Orleans local authorities were able to maintain order. The Louisiana legislature and Governor Jimmie Davis were in almost constant session trying to find a way to enforce segregation, but the federal court has prevailed and desegregation is maintaining a foothold in the city.

Three hundred miles to the west, white citizens of Houston asked Governor Price Daniels to intervene in their behalf in an effort to defy the federal authority. Governor Daniels rejected their appeal, telling them nothing could be done.

In other southern cities, where desegregation has been ordered starting next September, there probably will be some repetition of what happened at Little Rock and New Orleans, but it appears that the worst of this struggle is now over. Segregation is on the way out.

There has been some criticism about the way the government has proceeded in enforcing desegregation. Some who speak with authority think the government has not moved fast enough. We do not agree with that.

In matters of this kind it is better to proceed slowly, permitting a test of every legal technicality as the authority of the federal government is questioned. To have moved fast would have greatly increased tensions, and lengthened, rather than shortened, the period of transition.

Good progress has been made with a minimum of bloodshed.

Distressed Area Relief

There will be strong pressure on the legislature for special relief for depressed areas, mainly the Iron Range communities of northeastern Minnesota. There no doubt are communities in that area that have special relief problems because of the curtailment of activity by the mining industry, and some special consideration for such communities may be justified.

No action should be taken, however, without due consideration of what has been done and what is now being done by the state to assist those communities. In 1941 the legislature created the Iron Range Resources and Rehabilitation Commission, and gave it a substantial percentage of the total iron ore occupation taxes collected by the state, with the authority to use this money, "When the commissioner shall determine that distress and unemployment exists or may exist in the future—" for the relief of the area by the "—development of remaining resources."

Some good probably has been accomplished by this commission, but the overall record is not impressive. The commission has handled millions of dollars of public money with broad powers to spend, under very limited controls. We are not informed as to the present status of the operations but it would be a kindness to refer to the Iron Range Resources and Rehabilitation Commission's business ventures merely as a stupid, and in some instances, a scandalous waste of public funds.

We believe therefore, that under the circumstances, before the Iron Range area is given any more special consideration there should be a thorough study of the problem to determine the actual need and to what extent this need is already being met with the funds made available for such purposes by the special agency that was created by the state to administer such a program.

The Rules Committee

Much has been said lately about the wicked House rules committee that has, by its arbitrary powers, kept Congress from passing good laws. The committee probably does not have a perfect record, and the criticism we hear is understandable. But no doubt the committee has been right more often than it has been wrong and most of the House members would agree, we are sure, that it serves a useful purpose.

The Wall Street Journal points out that, "In a legislative body as large as the House, there must be a traffic policeman to determine what bills will be brought up, in what order, and how much time will be spent on them. In older days this power rested solely in the Speaker and the Majority leader. The Rules Committee was created, ironically, to break down the former power of these gentlemen."

The Journal comments further:

> "For longer than we can remember the House Rules Committee has been pictured as having a 'tyrannical grip' on the House, supposedly playing the curmudgeon, to keep the House from doing all the wonderful things it wants to do. Whoever is its current chairman is sure to be pilloried as a dictator, and whenever any group in the House feels frustrated it goes after the chairman, if it can, or after the other members, if the chairman is unassailable.
> "There is more than a bit of exaggeration in this picture of the power of the Rules Committee. When the House really is of a mind to do something, it will do it, Rules Committee or no. But such power as does exist in the Rules Committee, exists because the House wants it that way. And must have it that way in order to operate—if the Rules Committee didn't exist, it would have to be created."

Interesting and Useful

Folks who will not be going south this year and who would like to find a pleasant way of shortening the winter here at home, might give consideration to the schedule of evening classes that will start next week at the Area Vocational School, Arnt Aune, director, tells us that while some of the courses are already filled, most of them can still handle additional members.

A wide variety of subjects are available, most of them practical, and some of them mainly entertaining. But all are useful and worth while.

The cost is nominal, a small individual fee being sufficient to pay the expenses. The classes are self-supporting and involve no cost to the taxpayers. Ten trade and industrial courses are offered; five in business and distributive; five in homemaking; twelve of general interest, and one in agriculture.

Class members must be at least 16 years old but there is no age limit at the other end of the age scale, and there are no educational requirements. Sounds like an interesting and useful way to spend one evening a week during the remaining weeks of winter.

Negro in Cabinet?

President-elect Kennedy has announced the appointment of Robert C. Weaver as chief of the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency. Mr. Weaver has a Harvard Ph.D. degree, but being a Harvard man does not in itself distinguish him on the Kennedy team. The unusual thing about Mr. Weaver is that he is a Negro. The agency that he will lead may be expanded into a department, in which event Mr. Weaver would become a Cabinet member.

According to the Christian Science Monitor:

> "Mr. Weaver was trained as an economist at Harvard. He was a New Deal brain truster in the Roosevelt administration in 1935, serving first as an aide to Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes. Later he was a special assistant in such agencies as the housing division of the Works Progress Administration, the National Defense Advisory Commission, the War Production Board, and the War Manpower Commission.
> "He also served as New York rent control chief in the Harriman administration. His writings and research have combined to bring him recognition as one of the country's outstanding housing experts."

The New York Times thinks well of the appointment, stating:

> "President-elect Kennedy's designation of Dr. Robert C. Weaver to be his Housing and Home Finance Administrator is primarily important because Dr. Weaver is a gifted and experienced man in this field. His book, "The Negro Ghetto," published twelve years ago, showed that he was already thinking wisely and calmly about one of the outstanding problems of housing. In this city Dr. Weaver is well and favorably known as vice chairman of the Housing and Redevelopment Board. If Mr. Kennedy's plan for a Department of Urban Affairs is carried out, Dr. Weaver will have and deserve the prestige that goes with Cabinet rank.
> "The other important aspect of Dr. Weaver's selection is, of course, that he is of Negro blood. His choice, especially if he does enter the Cabinet, will relieve some of the disappointment that was felt when Mr. Kennedy offered the Postmaster Generalship to Representative William L. Dawson of Illinois, and Mr. Dawson refused it. Mr. Dawson had no special training for carrying the mail. Dr. Weaver, on the other hand, is superbly fitted to carry out a public housing program. His many friends of all races in this city and elsewhere, will wish him well."

Langen Offers Bill to End Milk Barriers

Congressman Odin Langen Friday joined several other Midwest congressmen in introducing a bill designed to clear the way for the sale of Midwestern milk and milk products in domestic markets presently closed because of local barriers.

Langen called these barriers, which take the form of local "health standards" and are prevalent in the Eastern area of the country, "meaningless hindrances to the free, competitive flow of Minnesota milk and dairy products."

Langen said the bill which he has proposed would "allow expansion of Minnesota milk markets — something we have been trying to do for a long time."

Under Langen's proposal, the Secretary of Agriculture would be empowered to set up a uniform sanitation standard for dairy products, and all products so certified could be sold in any marketing order area.

Langen's bill also provides for the permanent extension of the special school, Armed Forces and veterans milk programs. The special school milk program will expire June 30 unless extension is made, while the other two are due to expire at the end of this year.

The Ninth District Congressman's measure would change the policy of the Armed Forces and veterans programs from surplus disposal to continuing improvement of military diets. It also provides for direct appropriations for the special school milk program, rather than the present method of charging the program's cost to the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Chauffeuring dignitaries is not new to Robert H. Eichstadt, Governor Elmer L. Andersen's official driver, recently chosen from the state highway patrol. During the Centennial celebration in 1958, he drove for the Shah of Iran who was here as a guest of the state.

The 37-year-old patrolman has been with the Minnesota highway partol since June 2, 1952. When the word went out that Governor Andersen would be needing a chauffeur, Bob Eichstadt was one of a number of volunteers who applied for the job to succeed Walter Olson, former Governor Freeman's driver for the past five years.

Eichstadt will drive a state vehicle completely equipped with short wave, two-way radio and traffic flashing lights, and will be in constant contact with the Chief Executive as he is subject to call at any time during the day or night.

Reminds Public of Offer of Seedlings

Forestry Division Has 8,000,000 Trees Left

The Department of Conservation's forestry division announced today that it wishes to sell its remaining balance of eight million tree seedlings as rapidly as possible so that final shipping orders for the coming spring can be sent on to the nurseries.

Some 42 million trees were originally offered for sale Sept. 1. Species of trees still on hand, all in limited quantities, include white, Norway and jack pine, white spruce, white cedar and balsam fir.

These coniferous trees are available at $10 per thousand, F.O.B. the nursery. Shipping charges are paid on delivery by the purchaser.

There are also limited supplies of deciduous (broadleaf) trees available in the following species: soft maple, box elder, black walnut (stratified seed), hackberry, American elm and the caragana shrub — an important wildlife food.

Deciduous varieties are priced at $8 per thousand F.O.B. the nursery. Although there is a 500 tree minimum order requirement in effect, there is no maximum order limitation. All orders will be filled on a first come first serve basis.

Chief of forest nurseries, Ray Clement, said today he expects that the existing supply of eight million trees will be exhausted in two or three weeks. Tree application blanks can be obtained from local forestry personnel, county agents, Soil Conservation Service offices or by writing the Department of Conservation, division of forestry, Centennial Bldg., St. Paul.

Ten Commandments for Highway Safety

Harry A. Sieben, Minnesota highway safety coordinator, announced today that a special national emphasis program for traffic safety would be extended to include the Easter season.

The program is known as the "Moral Responsibility in Traffic Accident Prevention." It is sponsored by the Association of State and Provincial Safety Coordinators of which Sieben is president of the Midwestern region.

Stressing the fact that each motorist has a "moral responsibility" for his own safety and the safety of others around him, Sieben pointed out there is a set of "Ten Commandments of Good Driving." They are:

1. The good driver keeps his car in safe condition.
2. He drives only when sober and never when extremely tired.
3. He keeps his mind on his driving.
4. He recognizes the hazards of night driving and lowers his speed.
5. He knows and obeys the traffic laws.
6. He is considerate of other drivers for he knows that he is his brother's keeper.
7. He keeps his temper knowing that self-control is vital to car-control.
8. His care protects children and pedestrians, for over them he has the power of life and death.
9. He constantly remembers that courtesy is the first law of self-preservation.
10. He obeys the Golden Rule, driving with the care, caution, and courtesy he would have others use.

Sieben pointed out that the moral responsibility program is not designed for church people alone, but is being emphasized by many civic and service organizations. By following the Ten Commandments included above, the safety director said everyone could make a personal contribution to traffic safety.

"Accidents are caused by people, not by the inanimate machine," he said. "The first place to stop the thousands of traffic accidents which result in injuries and deaths is with the driver who has the immediate control of the vehicle."

Also speaking Tuesday will be Robert Buck, Waukee, Iowa, farmer and agricultural authority, whose topic will be "A Farmer Views Agricultural Adjustment."

Dr. Robert Good of the Variety Club Heart Hospital, University of Minnesota, will talk Wednesday on "This Heart of Yours."

On Thursday, Paul H. Cashman, associate professor of rhetoric on the St. Paul campus, will discuss "The Serious Purpose of Humor." William C. Knaak, assistant director of vocational education, State of Minnesota, will present the "Farm Manager of the Year" award at the same convocation.

Another feature of the Friday convocation will be a performance by the Macalester College bagpipe band under the direction of Richard Blair. Members of the group wear authentic Macalester clan uniforms from Scotland.

Ex-Minnesota Governor Orville L. Freeman, the newly appointed U. S. Secretary of Agriculture, has been invited and has indicated his willingness to speak at a Farm and Home Week convocation if at all possible.

...the only car in its field beautifully built to go...
miles between lubrications
30,000 is the most famous number of the year. It's every '61 Ford owner's license to save. How can Ford do it? Conventional chassis lubrication fittings have been replaced with metal plugs that help protect each lubrication point against abrasive mud, dirt and dust. And then, for only about $4 and about 20 minutes your Ford is ready for another 30,000! This is just one of the many ways the '61 Ford is built to take care of itself. Your Ford Dealer can show you more.
HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF
Lubricates itself—You'll normally go 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications (which cost only about $4.00 and take about 20 minutes) because Ford has replaced conventional grease fittings with a sealed-in lubrication system.
Cleans its own oil—You'll go 4,000 miles between oil changes because Ford's Full-Flow oil filter gives you filtration through fibers . . . trapping more dirt than any other type of filter made.
Adjusts its own brakes—New Truck Size brakes adjust themselves—automatically.
Guards its own muffler—Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminized to last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.
Protects its own body—All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing the body panels beneath the doors.
Takes care of its own finish—Just wash and clean Ford's new Diamond Lustre Finish and it continues to glisten like new. It never needs waxing.
Only FORD is beautifully built to take care of itself

When Christopher Columbus began his probe of an unknown ocean there were many who predicted he would soon reach the edge of the world . . . and fall off into nothingness.

Today we are probing that nothingness. The edge of the world is everywhere; and man eagerly reaches for whirling worlds that pioneers yet unborn may colonize.

As we explore the vastness of God's creation we realize with greater awe His might and majesty. But greater, we know, is our need for understanding His Will, and His Love for man.

For man can take to his new worlds tomorrow only the Truth and Faith and Life he discovers in this world today.

Therefore, while a few gifted scientists are building highways from the edge of the earth, the Church is offering everyone opportunity to probe the spiritual depths which shall determine our destiny.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL · ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'U' M. Regents Defer Action [illegible] College at Northv[illegible]t School

The University of Minnesota Board of Regents took no action Friday on the establishment of college-level work at the Northwest School and Experiment Station at Crookston.

The regents decided that the experience with the branch at Morris where freshman classes are in progress, will be of crucial importance, in determining the action to be pursued with respect to Crookston.

The regents voted to include a sophomore year in the 1962-63 school year at Morris and a junior year in 1963-64 but this will require legislative actions and appropriations.

"The initial experience at Morris is highly satisfactory," Dr. O. Meredith Wilson, university president reported. "Therefore, it is recommended that the experiment be continued with the acceptance of another freshman class in the fall of 1961, a sophomore class in 1961, and a junior class in the fall of 1962."

The report dealing with the Morris and Crookston schools, presented by Dr. Wilson, was approved. With reference to Crookston, the report specifically recommended:

1. The Crookston Experiment Station will remain a part of the teaching, research and services needed by the agricultural industry of northwestern Minnesota.
2. The Crookston station will be strengthened as funds and facilities permit, and the research program will be changed as appropriate to the needs of agricultural research in the Red River Valley.
3. The agricultural school program at Crookston will be continued as long as there is need for it.
4. Through the facilities of existing university departments, in struction and services for adults and rural youth will continue to be provided and the regents will undertake to strengthen and improve these services as funds are made available.

SPEAKER at the annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce Thursday evening in the Lincoln cafeteria will be Ellsworth L. Johnson of Minneapolis, assistant to the president of the Western Land Co., large commercial real estate development firm.

The 82-year-old former chief executive, who also served in other state offices including the legislature and as lieutenant governor and attorney general, was stricken Friday night at his Minneapolis home.

Burnquist then retired to private law practice in the Twin Cities. After unsuccessful bid for seats in the U.S. Senate in 1928 and the U. S. House in 1936, Burnquist was elected Minnesota attorney general in 1938.

Burnquist was born in Dayton, Iowa on July 21, 1878. He was graduated from Carleton college, Northfield, Minn., and entered Columbia University law school. He came to St. Paul following graduation.

$12,353 Paid in by Municipal Court to City

Mrs. Thompson, Clerk, Makes Report on 1960 Operations

The annual report of the Thief River Falls municipal court, released today by Mrs. Patricia Thompson, clerk of court, shows an increase in the amount of money turned over to the city treasurer for fines and fees.

Most of the increase in the $12,353.85, as compared with $11,795.59 in 1959, was derived from fines for violations of city ordinances collected and paid to the treasurer. Fees collected and paid to the city for state and city criminal cases decreased to $1,491.85 in 1960 from $1,936.39 in 1959. There was also a decrease in fines collected on tickets from $1,339.50 to $1,451.

A jump in the fees paid to others was noted in 1960, $5,957.40 compared to $5,108.70 in 1959. The largest increase came from fines paid to the county treasurer in highway patrol cases.

Noteworthy in the above category is that fines paid to the sheriff in state cases decreased to $28.97, compared to $209.20 in 1959.

The total number of cases handled for violations of city ordinances, exclusive of ticket cases, was 470, as compared with 428 the previous year. There were 1,403 parking tickets issued, a decrease of 146 from the previous year.

The number of cases handled for violations of state statutes was up, 264 to 269. The total number of cases, including parking violations, was down, however, 2,157 to 2,246.

House Members Argue about Provisions of Tax Withholding Bill

Rep. Lloyd Duxbury, House conservative minority leader, and a state labor executive clashed Wednesday night at a public hearing on a proposed income tax withholding measure.

The proposal, authored by Rep. D. D. Wozniak, House tax committee chairman, provides for 100 per cent forgiveness for wage earners.

During an exchange with Robert E. Hess, executive vice president of the Minnesota AFL-CIO Federation of Labor, Duxbury pointed out the bill would not extend forgiveness to persons whose income from rental property. He asked Hess if he were aware of this feature.

"Right," replied Hess.

"Your're in favor of discriminating against people who have income from rent?" Duxbury snapped back.

"You know better than to put words in my mouth," the labor official replied.

The Wozniak bill excludes rental income, royalties, capital gains and some other types of income from the forgiveness provision.

Hess and Duxbury were among numerous individuals who spoke at the meeting, the first public session held on withholding.

The House appropriations committee approved a bill to increase the borrowing power of the state from $50 million to $75 million to enable the education department to pay delayed state aids.

The state already has borrowed up to the $50 million limit and many school districts have received only a pro rata share of the available funds which come from income tax receipts.

Rep. William Shovell of St. Paul, appropriations committee chairman, said he expects the house to pass the bill by early next week. He said the Senate will be asked to take swift action.

Possibility of an early special statewide election to pass on a constitutional amendment to raise the debt limit was suggested Thursday as a solution to the problem of financing the state building program.

The suggestion was made at the first meeting of the Senate finance committee by Sens. Donald Sinclair of Stephen and Gordon Rosenmeier of Little Falls.

The state building commission has proposed a $33 million program for the next two years, but members of the commission suggested no method of financing.

They expressed the opinion that the Supreme Court had closed the door to the present method — borrowing — in a decision earlier last year.

On motion of Sen. Sinclair, the committee chairman, Sen. Val Imm of Mankato was directed to appoint a subcommittee to explore the matter—including an effort to determine whether a special statewide election can be called to pass on a constitutional amendment.

Sen. Rosenmeier explained that while the constitution now says amendments may be acted upon only at general elections, it may be that the term "general elections" is broad enough to cover any statewide elections.

Deadline for Grain Support Loans Jan. 31

Winton Knutson, Chairman of ASC, Reminds Farmers

Farmers have until January 31, 1961, to cover their grains and a number of other 1960 crops under the price-support program, Winton Knutson, chairman of the Pennington county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, said today. For wheat, compliance with the individual farm allotment is required in order to be eligible for price support on the crop.

The 1960 crops for which January 31 is the deadline for obtaining loans or purchase agreements include wheat, barley, oats, grain sorghums, rye, flaxseed and soybeans.

The chairman reminded growers that good storage, which must first be approved by the county ASC committee, is a requisite for obtaining a price support loan on any farm-stored crop. While the farmer himself is responsible for storing a crop covered by a purchase agreement, the condition and quality of the crop will be a determining factor in the amount of the support he receives should he decide to deliver his crop under the support program at the end of the season.

After considering bids on a station wagon for the use of the school district, the board accepted the low bid of Gustafson & Son to supply a Rambler at a price of $2,242.

Reports were submitted to the board by Arnold Larson, principal, and Hamerlinck on Lincoln high school; by Ray Henderson on the elementary schools; and Arnt Aune on the vocational school.

4-H Leader's Council Names Delegates to Crookston Institute

The Pennington 4-H leaders council at their January meeting selected county delegates to attend the 4-H leaders' institute at Crookston Tuesday January 17. The delegates are Mrs. Ed Anderson and Mrs. Alfred Solem of the Steiner 4-H club, Mrs. Seymore Nelson of Silverton, Mrs. Bruce Legg of Rocksbury, and Cornelius Appelman of Highlanding.

The institute this year will emphasize "Planning for Learning". Leaders will participate in sections of the institute and will then report on their section to the council on February 6.

Ernest Breznay, past county 4-H member, and now doing teacher training at the Thief River Falls school in industrial arts, gave an interesting and informative discussion regarding the Farm and Home Shop project. He illustrated his talk with exhibits he made while in 4-H club work, and also items made while doing industrial art work at Bemidji State college. He emphasized that the project is a good one for both boys and girls as he reviewed basic construction principles using wood, metals and crafts materials.

Boys and girls interested in practicing judging dairy or general livestock are asked to contact the extension office. The dairy team will have the first practice on Friday, January 20, and the general team on Tuesday, February 1.

The county radio speaking contest will be held Saturday, January 28, at 1:30 p.m. in the court house.

Other topics discussed by the council were dairy demonstrations at the winter shows and the futurity show as well as the Feed and Seed Show at Thief River Falls Friday, February 1.

The establishing of this memorial is not intended to preclude groups or individuals designating other causes or projects for memorial gifts if they so desire.

Memorials may be left at the Green Funeral Home or mailed to either Mrs. P. J. Prichard, 1220 Third st. E., or Rev. Henry Friedman, 801 Main av. N.

The Library Corner

By Eleanor Olson

How I hate to see the Christmas season end. Taking down the tree is an anti-climax that leaves the living room colorless and ordinary after the gay days of Christmas laughter and relaxation. As a child it was New Years' Day which forced dismantling the tree and it was a very uninspiring way to start the new year.

Now in our own house the tree goes up on Christmas Eve as absolute proof that Christmas is here and stays up the twelve days of Christmas. Keeping the tree until Epiphany makes January much shorter and far less dreary. And now when the day comes to take the tree out of the house we have found a way to keep it to enjoy until spring arrives and there are other exciting projects to take its place. Our tree goes outside the living room window to become a lovely green bushy refuge and feeder for the winter birds.

After the decorations are off, we take the tree to the kitchen and tie pieces of suet to its branches. We also filled the cavities of the big pine cones we had used for decoration with bacon grease and melted left-over cooking fat and tied them on. We have found the chickadees, nuthatches and woodpeckers will eat almost any kind of fat, but they relish the suet most. (And they love peanut butter.) Next year I would like to have sunflower seed heads and small bunches of grain to tie on the tree as well.

We had filled our bird feeder with a mixture of small grains, cracked corn and soy bean meal which we bought in small quantities at the elevator and mixed ourselves. We added flax seed to the mixture this year hoping that because of its oil content it might be as popular as sunflower seeds which cannot be bought in this area. (They are grown commercially around Bagley and I hope to get some there.)

The birds in our yard empty our feeder which holds ten quarts of seed every week and a half. In severe weather it has been emptied in two days, so we find the prepared commercial seed mixtures too expensive to feed all winter. Birds' appetites become insatiable when the mercury drops and they must eat, eat, eat to maintain their high body temperatures.

The many bird books in the Library have made bird watching and feeding more interesting to us as adults and the children around us. One of the books I have long admired and used at the Library has been reprinted this fall. It is Dr. Thomas S. Roberts' monumental work on birds of Minnesota which was published first by the University of Minnesota in 1934. Revised as to range and new scientific information the University Press has issued it in one volume under the title, "Bird Portraits in Color." Nearly three hundred species in their various seasonal plumages are illustrated in seven-color lithography. Most of the birds are common to our own area, the central United States and Canada.

Dr. Roberts put aside his medical practice to make his hobby become a full time job. He joined the teaching staff of the University and served as director of the Museum of Natural History. This book brought him the coveted Brewster medal.

The books plates were drawn by five different artists, including Francis Lee Jacques, one of Minnesota's own outstanding nature illustrators. I think you will find this book of considerable interest whether you are an experienced "bird watcher" or a beginner or simply a resident of the North Star state who wants to know more about the world around him.

President Makes Address Thursday

Delivers His Final Message to Congress

President Eisenhower described America Thursday as standing at unprecedented heights, and asked prayers that future leaders will be able to keep this nation strong and at peace.

In a farewell State of the Union message, the 70-year-old President reviewed for Congress the years of his administration and saw them as a period in which this country forged ahead in foreign and economic policies.

But he solemnly noted that grave problems will confront the incoming administration of President-elect John F. Kennedy—The continuing Communist menace in many parts of the world and economic pains which leave "little room for complacency."

"I do no close this message implying that all is well—that all problems are solved," Eisenhower said. "For progress implies both new and continuing problems and, unlike presidential administrations, problems rarely have terminal dates."

Eisenhower's message was one of a series of leave-taking statements before he turns the reins of government over to Kennedy on Friday of this week.

The White House announced that Eisenhower will make a farewell address to the nation over radio-TV networks Tuesday night. He will speak at 8:30 p.m. (EST) from his office.

Bemidji College People Plan Tour to Hawaii in 1961

George Knox who directed the five previous tours, will be in charge of this trip which students may take for graduate or undergraduate credit or for no college credit.

The tour will last 27 days and the itinerary includes stops at the Black Hills, Denver, the Grand Canyon, Tijuana, San Diego, Los Angeles, a jet flight to Hawaii for a seven day stop, return to Portland, Oregon, the Columbia River Drive, Mt. Roseau Sextet Whips Prowler Team 4 to 1

Scoring two quick goals, within the space of five seconds, early in the third period to break a 1-all tie, and then adding an insurance goal in the final seconds of the game, coach Oscar Almquist's Roseau Rams defeated the Prowlers, 4 to 1, in a Region Eight conference hockey game played here Saturday night.

This week's schedule will find the Williams Wolves meeting the Prowlers in a conference game on the Arena ice here Tuesday night, Jan. 17. And on Saturday night, Jan. 21, the Baudette Bears will meet the Prowlers here in a conference game.

After a scoreless first period in Saturday night's Roseau vs. Prowlers game, the Rams gained a 1 to 0 lead at the 0:37 mark of the second period when, from ten feet out and at a slight angle, Rick Ulvin banged in a rebound shot. Jerry Swenson, coming in on Tom Teal guarding the north goal, fired a hard shot from the left, and Teal made a fine stop on the play, but the rebound was left uncovered and Ulvin capitalized on the scoring opportunity.

The Prowlers tallied the equalizer late in the period with Tim Teal, following a face-off in the Roseau zone, rapped a hard shot past goalie Gary Johnson from just off the goal-crease.

Entering the final period of play in a 1-all deadlock, the Prowlers, in the first minute of the period, had an opportunity to break the tie when Larry Poole came in on goalie Johnson for a point-blank shot. The Roseau netminder made the save, but the puck was open just off to the side of the cage, and Jack Houfek, who gained possession, just missed hooking the disc into the net, as the Rams' defense became a bit disorganized.

In a preliminary game, a big and rangy Roseau 'B' team, after being held to 1 to 1 score at the end of the first period of play, erupted for six goals to defeat the Prowler 'B' team, 7 to 1.

Thieves Six Defeats Crookston Again 8-6

The senior hockey Thieves made it two wins in a row over the Crookston Pirates as they scored an 8 to 6 win over coach Bud Salem's club in a game played here Sunday afternoon. Last Thursday evening, in a game played at Crookston, the Thieves, on a goal in the overtime period by DelRay Offerdahl, edged out the Pirates, 9 to 8. In that game, Daytone Secour, playing with the Thieves, tallied four goals, and Cal Offerdahl turned in a "hat trick" performance with three tallies.

On Sunday afternoon, on the Arena ice, the two teams treated the fans to an excellent brand of hockey. The Thieves, with Cal Offerdahl and Jimmy Hall hitting for two goals apiece, and Chip Strand and Ed Holmes adding single goals, held a 6 to 4 lead entering the final period of play.

Stan Paschke scored for Crookston at the 2:04 mark, and when Tony Schmitz hit the net at the 11:10 mark, the game was knotted at 6-all. The ever-hustling Strand banged in a rebound off Jim Hall's on-goal shot to beat goalie Lyle Brekken at the 18:18 mark to give the Thieves a one-goal lead. And with four seconds to play, DelRay Offerdahl tipped in a shot on goal by Les Merrifield to insure the game and give the locals a well-earned 8 to 6 win.

In a preliminary game, the Crookston V.F.W. Midgets, with Tim Charron accounting for the three goals defeated the Thief River Falls V.F.W. Midgets, 3 to 2. Scoring for the locals were Allen Forsberg and John Olson. Olson assisted on Forsberg's first period tally, while Bruce Olson set up John Olson's scoring play in the second period.

On Saturday afternoon, Jan. 21, the V.F.W. Midgets will travel to East Grand Forks for a league encounter against coach Jim Williams' squad, with game time at 2:30 P.M.

Prowler Quintet Tips D. L. Lakers 52 to 46

After playing two periods of erratic and tense basketball to trail the Detroit Lakers, 22 to 9, at the halftime intermission at Williams Arena in Minneapolis on Saturday afternoon, coach Jack Junker's Prowlers shook off their "big city" jitters to roll up a 43-point second half to defeat the veteran Lakers, 52 to 46. It marked the first defeat of the Lakers by a Minnesota team this season.

The Prowlers, after four games against out-of-district teams, will return to district conference play on Friday when they entertain the East Grand Forks Green Wave here.

In Saturday afternoon's game, which was played as a preliminary to the Minnesota vs. Purdue Big Ten tilt, coach Coach George Hanson's Lakers, with a fine display of basketball, and with center Hans Borstad racking up twelve points, rolled up a commanding 22 to 9 lead over the Prowlers.

Moving into the second half of play, Gary Anderson connected for field goals to open play in the fourth period, and with 6:50 to play, the Prowlers had tied the game at 32-all. The Lakers' Borstad, who was the game's high point player with twenty points, hit on a field goal to give Detroit Lakes a two-point lead. Hanson, who had been limited to two points, a field goal, in the first half, dropped in a pair of free throws, and then followed with a three-point play, a field goal and a free throw, and the Prowlers had a 38 to 36 lead. Harvey Ebbighausen notched the first of his three fourth period field goals, shoving the locals into a four-point lead. A free throw by the Laker's Tom Lynch was followed by a field goal by Ebbighausen. Lynch added a pair of Laker free throw points, but again Ebbighausen, with 1:58 to play, racked up a Prowler field goal.

In the final minutes of play the Lakers, employing a zone press, and endeavoring to gain possession of the ball, committed numerous fouls, and the Prowlers capitalized on these infractions, with Hanson and Don Ulferts each converting for two points on bonus fouls. Hanson's lay-up field goal in the final seconds closed out the game's scoring to give the Prowlers a remarkable come-from-behind win, 52 to 46.

Phil Beadle

This community was shocked and saddened by the news late Saturday night that Phil Beadle, the popular principal of Northrop grade school, had succumbed to a heart attack in Bemidji. Phil, who was a member of the Alan Thompson curling rink, had just entered the Bemidji club's arena in preparation for participation in a bonspiel when he was stricken, and he died a short while later in the Bemidji hospital.

Not only is Phil's passing a grievous loss for his immediate family, but it is also for the community in general and the Northrop school area in particular.

We have known Phil, who was only thirty-two years old, for a number of years, and have followed his career since his days as a Prowler athlete. We can recall that he was a member of the Prowler football team's famed "ten second" backfield of 1946. That's the backfield of Ninsk Carlson, Wes Hovie, Les Vigness, and Phil. Their performance that October night of 1945 when, on the Memorial stadium field in Grand Forks, they defeated the North Dakota state champion Grand Forks Central Redskins, 23 to 0, will be long remembered.

But is it as a coach of grade school athletics that Phil made his imprint on the local athletic scene. Moving into the teaching ranks, Phil joined the faculty of the Northrop grade school, and immediately Phil's genius with the youngsters became evident for the Indians developed into a "power" in grade school athletic competition in football, basketball, and track.

Over the years, the city championships continued to pile up for the Northrop teams, and the boys who received the benefit of Phil's able teaching and guidance moved on to stardom with the Prowlers.

Time and again we have had the parents of Northrop school boys tell us of the remarkable influence for good that Phil was having on their sons. Fortuante, indeed, are the boys who learned the ethics of sportsmanship as a member of one of Phil Beadle's Northrop Indians athletic teams.

We had our last conversation with Phil following the Bemidji vs. Prowlers basketball game last Wednesday. In that game, which was won by the local club, 48 to 46, Eddie Lietzow and Harvey Ebbighausen played stellar roles for the Prowlers. Phil was always proud of the accomplishments of his boys, and he said, "You know, Eddie and Harvey are a couple of my boys."

And what is more important is that Eddie and Harvey, and the others, are proud to be called, and known, as "Phil's boys." We have all lost a friend.

Use of Loose Housing May Save Time, Labor

If a long working day or a growing herd has you thinking of a change to loose housing for your dairy cows, you may profit from a University of Minnesota study of labor and capital needed to switch herd operation.

Based on data collected from Minnesota dairy farms over a four-year period, the study shows it usually takes at least a 20-cow herd to profit from a loose housing investment. For many, the change isn't profitable unless the herd size increases by at least one-half. But as herd size increases so does the amount of time you can save with a loose housing set-up.

Earl Fuller and Harold Jensen, agricultural economists at the University, found it takes about 80 hours per cow per year to handle a 40-cow herd in a stanchion barn. By switching to loose housing, using silos with mechanical unloading and feeding equipment and a herringbone parlor, the hours per cow are trimmed down to 58.

That's a saving of nearly 900 hours per year on a 40-cow herd —more than 17 hours per week.

Cost of completely switching to loose housing, including a parlor, usually ranges from about $9,000 to $17,000, depending on the type of milk handling equipment and feeding facilities included. With that much of an investment, it pays to plan carefully before you spend.

Design and locate the milking plant so you can use part of the concrete yard and feeding area as a holding area, advise Fuller and Jensen. Provide easy access for moving fresh cows to the parlor for milking, and have an exit pen for cows to be sorted out. Connect the plant to the calf pen area to reduce chore travel. Use walls, floors and fixtures that are easy to keep clean. And include good light, heat and ventilation.

Perhaps most important in planning, say the researchers, is to design and locate the plant so you'll have an easy view of most operations; of the bedded area to insure its proper condition, the feeding area to insure adequate feeding, the calf area to care for the calves more easily and more comfortably, the young cattle to guard health and insure breeding, and the yard to note heat periods, health and sanitation.

Design and location are important to maintaining production per cow as heard size increases in loose housing, especially when time is at a premium.

Duluth Woman to Head Library Week

Margaret Culkin Banning to Direct April Event

Margaret Culkin Banning, Duluth author of numerous books, short stories, and essays, has been named Minnesota state chairman of National Library Week for 1961.

The announcement is made by Robert Simonds, president of the Minnesota Library association, and Richard Swanson, Anoka, executive director of National Library Week, which will be observed April 16-22.

National Library Week is designed to broaden public awareness that Minnesota's libraries exist for the people and stand ready to assist anyone in obtaining desired books and other reading materials, and in search out literary and statistical references. Also being heavily stressed is the extensive availability of regional library services to rural people.

As Minnesota state chairman for National Library Week, Mrs. Banning will head a committee of well known businessmen, educators, and representatives of various interest groups whose purpose it is to bring this significant movement to the attention of all Minnesota people.

2 State Students on Program with Mpls. Symphony

For years the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra's young people's concerts committee has held auditions for young musicians throut the state. Each season a lucky winner has been selected to perform as soloist with the orchestra during one of its young people's concerts.

This year, for the first time, two young men from outside the Twin Cities area emerged victorious. Arne Running, 17-year-old clarinetist from Moorhead high school, and John Bury, 17-year-old pianist from Guardian Angel's school in Chaska, appeared with the orchestra Monday afternoon, January 9, in Northrop Auditorium at the University of Minnesota campus in Minneapolis.

Another series of school music auditions will be held next fall with the winner again receiving an opportunity to appear with the Minneapolis Symphony. Persons interested in appearing should write to the School Music Auditions, c/o Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, 110 Northrop Auditorium, Minneapolis 14.

Over 40,650 tons of food, delivered in 1,225,000 packages, will reach hungry people in 20 countries as gifts from Americans who give $1 per package thru CARE's Midwest Office, 125 E. Wells St., Milwaukee 2, Wisconsin.

CELEBRITIES EXCHANGE autographs at the 1961 Northwest Auto Show in Minneapolis. Making the swap are Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Marilyn Christianson of Freeborn County, and Patti Page, the "singing rage." ASC Conservation Reserve Rules in Marshall Co. Cited

Land on Which Contract Expired Dec. 31 Still Classed as Cropland

Land on which a conservation reserve contract expired on December 31 does not need to be plowed up this year to keep its rating as cropland, according to Edward A. Johnson, chairman of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. Under existing law, any cropland in the conservation reserve is classed as cropland for an additional period after the contract expires. The additional period is equal to the number of years that the land was under contract prior to expiration.

Johnson explained the cropland classification with the following illustration: A farmer had a piece of cropland under a five-year conservation reserve contract that expired Dec. 31, 1960, and the contracted land had been established to grass. He could leave the land in grass for another five years and for agricultural program purposes it would be classed as cropland during that period.

Farmers who have conservation reserve contracts that have expired should also check with the county ASC office, particularly if they have other land that is still in the reserve. This check should be made to be sure about the acreage of crops permitted for harvest under contracts still in effect. Another important item to be checked is the status of any farm acreage allotments that may have been unused when the cropland was in the reserve.

"Let us pray that leaders of both the near and distant future will be able to keep the nation strong and at peace, that they will advance the well-being of all our people, that they will lead us on to still higher moral standards, and that, in achieving these goals, they will maintain a reasonable balance between private and governmental responsibility." —President Dwight D. Eisenhower

We Still Like Ike

President Eisenhower will retire from the office of President this week, bringing to an end a career of distinguished public service equalled by few men. As a soldier he achieved distinction as the commander of the allied forces in World War II. Following the war he served for a short time as the president of a great university. Drafted as the candidate of the Republican party for the office of President, he was elected in 1952 and again in 1956. He will retire as the oldest president to have served in that high office.

The eight years of President Eisenhower's administration have been years of peace, in the sense that our country has not been engaged in a fighting war. But they have not been peaceful years. Thruout that period international relationships have been strained and war has been almost a constant threat.

Only during the first two years of that eight-year period did President Eisenhower have a Republican-controlled Congress to work with, but during his six years of service with a Democrat-controlled Congress he maintained his personal popularity not only with the people of the country as a whole, but also generally with the members of the opposition party in Congress.

As General of the Armies in World War II, and as President of the United States during a period of almost constant national or international crises, Eisenhower was held in high regard by those with home he was associated. If he had any distinguishing characteristic as a great man, it probably was his ability to get along with people.

During his eight years in office, the ship of state has not always maintained a steady course. Mistakes no doubt will be charged up against him by those who keep the records, and some of the mistakes have been serious. But considering the conditions thru which the ship of state has sailed during this period, and the storms it has survived, most of us will join in a round of sincere cheers for the old helmsman who has brought us safely to our present position. We still like Ike.

That Letter From Brazil

Elsewhere in this issue is a letter from Brazil, written by Gilson de Souza, who was an American Field Service student here several years ago. The letter was written to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Barzen of this city, at whose home he was a guest during his stay here. He now is a law student in Rio de Janeiro, and in another year will be admitted to the bar. He is a bright young man, full to the brim with the enthusiasm of youth and, as a normal young man, he is impatient with what to him is slow progress.

Gilson's letter is interesting. And it is provocative, which is good. We do not agree with all of his opinions, but we can understand his point of view. We are looking at the same picture, but we are looking at it from different angles. We are sure he tells us truthfully what he sees, and no doubt the conclusions he draws from what he sees are honest. It is well that we be informed on how he and other young intelligent people of Brazil, feel about the world problems in which we all have a very important, perhaps vital, common interest.

Gilson suggests that European civilization is decadent and that the hope for the future lies in South America, Africa and Asia. He doesn't mention North America, but he does suggest that our country could do more for the underdeveloped areas of the world than we are now doing.

European colonialism is already a thing of the past, an ugly record in some respects, but which nevertheless did make an important contribution to the process of bringing what we refer to generally as civilization, to the backward regions of the world. We think Gilson will agree that as a result of the colonization of South America by Europeans, the people of South America, including the natives, have made notable progress and are closer to the better conditions they hope for than they otherwise would have been.

In the last century, portions of Asia have proven to us, by example, the progress we might expect eventually from all of Asia. In other areas of that great continent the struggle for advancement from a primitive condition is still in its early stages. For reports on Asia, and their opinions on present needs and future possibilities, we would welcome letters from two other Barzen "sons", Kyoshi Tanable of Japan, who will graduate in March as an engineer, and Jahja Sutisma of Indonesia, now attending school in his native land.

In the black Africa that lies south of the Sahara there are islands of native culture that give promise for the future. A few enlightened native leaders are aware, however, of the obstacles to progress that must be overcome before a most primitive people can be made deserving of respectful consideration as equals in the association of nations.

We agree with Gilson that the crying need thruout the world is better living conditions and greater opportunities for education. We would not encourage him to believe, however, that our country is capable of providing these good things for all of the world. We are in difficulty here at home trying to satisfy the demands of our own people, who, in increasing numbers are coming to look upon our government as a Santa Claus of limitless resources. We have become a nation of promising politicians and gullible people.

Too many of our politicians have promised the impossible, not only here at home, but thruout the world. Unfortunately, many of the promises will not be kept, mainly because they cannot be kept. If we were to continue the course the promisers have laid out for us, the end of the road would be an insolvent government.

Gilson knows, we are sure, that what Brazil needs, more than anything else, is thrifty people, willing to work and produce, and a government that will live within its means, and maintain a stable currency. These things will attract capital to provide the factories that are needed to convert Brazil's raw materials into finished products. That is the way to wealth and higher living standards.

We share Gilson's fear of Communism and his recognition of the need for a united front in defense of freedom. When we think of freedom we think in terms of individual freedom. We do not accept the idea that the answer to Communism is in some milder form of Socialism, under which the doors to progress, for the nation as well as the individual, are opened or closed by a group of politicians, selected or self-imposed. That is the way to restricted opportunity and limited growth.

Communism is not likely to expand by force until the conquest of the free world has already been practically assured through the spread of Communism by national revolution, as in Cuba. What has happened in Cuba could happen in too many countries in Central and South America, where there already is a strong undercurrent of unrest. The ultimate solution for this condition, of course, is better living conditions and education, but this cannot be accomplished merely by pressing a buton or pulling a cord. Higher living standards, in the main, can come only as they are earned.

Our country has recognized the necessity of foreign aid to friendly countries as a most effective barrier to the spread of Communism. The Marshall plan did much to save Europe. There have been other good results. But by trial and error we have learned that too many of our assistance dollars have been wasted, and in some instances have resulted in more harm than good.

The emphasis in our assistance grants is being placed more and more on what can be done to help needy nations to help themselves, and that kind of help can be extended effectively only in countries that have stable and responsible government. It appears that this will continue to be our national policy under the new administration.

We would like to have more letters from Gilson and also from Kyoshi and Jahja. We became fairly well acquainted with these three students and they are fine young men. We know that they like our people and our country. Their views on world affairs at this time would be particularly interesting.

Byrd and Clark

(Baltimore Evening Sun)

It is a strange irony that in a country which sets as much store by social conformity as does the United States, political nonconformity should be the rule. Yet this is the case. Men and women wear the same styles and have the same kind of cocktail parties whether in New York or Missouri or California. But a Democrat is one thing in the south and another in Michigan. A Republican is one thing in New York and another in Arizona. As a result there is great diversity of views among senators and representatives of each major party.

All of this is preliminary to a discussion of the row that has been going on between Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia and Senator Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania, both Democrats. Mr. Clark has been urging that the Democratic party require Mr. Byrd to conform to the party platform, saying that since Mr. Byrd owes his chairmanship of the Finance Committee to the Democratic party he ought to support Democratic doctrine. Mr. Clark does not urge coercion against his Virginia colleague, but he does urge the case for party conformity. Mr. Byrd says he owes his primary allegiance to the people of Virginia and himself and that he ought not to be asked to vote for any bill which he regards as "dangerous to the Republic" he pledged to serve faithfully.

Our guess is that this effort to bring Mr. Byrd into line will fizzle out. . . . There is a sort of unwritten law against trying to force legislators belonging to one party into a single mold. This country is too big and too diversified to make such a thing practical. As for denying a man a committee chairmanship because he dissents from his party platform or fails to support his party's candidate, that is inconsistent with the seniority system. The seniority system is objectionable in many ways but if it is used in choosing chairmen, nonconformity must go along with it.

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

"Where are you going?" asked one.

"To Crachow," was the answer.

"What a liar you are," broke out the other. "If you say you're going to Cracow, you want me to believe you're going to Lemburg. But I know that in fact you're going to Cracow. So why are you lying to me?"

Letter From Brazil

By Gilson de Souza of Rio de Janeiro

Editor's Note: Gilson de Souza attended Lincoln High School during the school year of 1956-57 as an American Field Service student living here as a guest at the R. M. Barzen home.

Following is a portion of a letter received by the Barzens recently, of special interest as it refers to international relationships.

"Now, about your elections: we, here in South America, have always been kept on a second level, as far as Europe and perhaps Asia are concerned. The U.S. never lost so much prestige and so quickly, as during the Eisenhower administration. Willie Wilkie, on his book One World, some 20 years ago, could foresee what men like Nixon, Rubotton, Ike, etc. can't see today. And—I'm sure you agree with me—U.S. security depends a lot on South America. Have you ever thought about the enormous number of communists that right here, on your neighborhood, could raise together and support Russia in case of war? You can spot the danger everywhere: Cuba, Quatemala, Venezuela, Bolivia, etc.

"Kennedy comes as a hope of change. Because, when you need me and I need you, that's a sign that good business can be done. And Kennedy seems to feel it. Anyway, he ought to feel it. We, down here, voted for a change, an internal change. You seem to have voted for a change on international politics. I'm sure you can see it clearly: there is an old world, and a new world is being born. The old world, England, France, Italy, Portugal, etc. is almost dead. These countries based everything they have, their economy, their military and political sytem, on their imperialistic government. Well, their colonies want independence and will get it, one way or the other. Their system is finished, and so are they. Do you remember the power Spain and Portugal had? And what are they, today? What are France and England?

"Africa and South America are young. China and India aren't so young, but only now could open their eyes, break the chains and be born again. They're full of stamina, as we are. I'm sure some day we'll be rivals, Brasil, India and Africa. But now we have each other's sympathy. How can one ignore the intrinsic power we have? Look, for example, at our territory: larger than the U.S.; look at our population: 65 millions; look at our production: trucks, heavy machines, steel, oil, cotton, wood, copper, iron, automobiles, guns, ships, etc. Above all, the raw material without which your industries would stop. Russia is surrounded by U.S. bases. How would you feel on the same situation? Perhaps, father, it would be a very good thing if you read part of this letter to your friends at the Rotary. Or, at least, think it over and talk about it, discuss it.

"Something about Janio Quadros—we never had such a clear election. His opponent had half his votes. Because he is a change. And also a hope that corruption will end, as if it didn't belong to human nature. I believe he'll do a government right on the center, between left and right. That's why commies don't like him. Let me explain it a little better: you know how and where communists work. It is among poor people, discontent people, people who want to go ahead, to progress, and don't have how, because the salaries are low, there isn't enough education and the standard of living is too low. Now, suppose you please these people: give them schooling, good chances in life, comfort, enough food, etc. Whom would the communists speak to? But, to do so, you have to adopt some of the socialist principles, what you in the U.S. have already done, I believe. What I mean is, let's say, give the workers a share on the profits, give the people enough public schools, socialize some of the means of transportation, so that the people pay fares and not prices, give popular loans at low rates of interest, eliminate commerce between the consumer as far as essential goods are concerned, etc. First of all, these are Christian principles too. What do you think?

"What counted in favor of Janio was his good government in Sao Paulo, our richst state. He built many roads, schools, hospitals, and had a very moralizing administration. And we can say it was Sao Paulo that elected him, for it gave him an advantage of one million votes over the marshal. The commies say that important international trusts supported him, against the promise of favors, but that isn't proved by no one. Janio is, at the present, nothing but a question mark."

You and Your Eyes

Think Twice . . . about "Bargains" in Eye Care

Think twice about the so-called "bargains" in eye care. A "deal" that looks easy on the pocketbook might well wind up being hard on your eyes and your pocketbook.

Your eyes deserve the best. They are the only pair you have. They deserve protection from "bargains." They deserve professional care.

Professional care means the utmost in skill and quality of materials. It means a complete, competent examination to determine all of your visual needs. A "lick and a promise," "once over lightly" examination is not professional eye care.

Professional eye care means a careful prescription for the finest of precision lenses. A corner-cutting, cost-cutting prescription for second-rate lenses is not professional eye care.

Professional eye care means the discovery of the truth about your eyes. Getting a prescription for eyeglasses "whether you need them or not" is not professional eye care.

You may be sure that those highly skilled men who examine your eyes are more than aware of the many demands made on your pocketbook. They make every effort to provide the world's finest eye care at lowest possible cost. But they will not cut quality to save you money. They will not take chances with your eyes to save you a few dollars . . . and you wouldn't want them to.

So next time you hear about a so-called "bargain" in eye glasses . . . think twice . . . and go to the man who provides professional eye care.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing Mr. Leo M. Haley, VA Contact Representative, located in Rooms 210-11 in the Grand Forks Post Office Building.

Q—I get two benefits: my monthly training allowance, and compensation for a service-connected disability. Am I expected to report either of these when I file my federal income tax report for 1960?

A—No. Veterans' benefits are tax free. Interest on GI insurance dividends left with VA on deposit, however, should be reported.

Q—Is a disabled veteran taking rehabilitation training allowed time off for days when he can't be in school or on the job?

A—Yes, the law allows such time off. However, trainees must report their classroom or other absences, using the special Certificate of Training form for that purpose, and wherever possible, permission to be absent must be requested and approved.

Q—I am a World War One veteran, eligible for pension under the new law, and I want to know if I have to figure payments from a fire insurance company as part of my income. We had a fire in our house last year and collected on the policy.

A—Fire insurance policy proceeds are not considered as income for pension purposes and you need not count them in applying for VA pension.

Q—I am the son of a peacetime veteran who died of the extra-hazardous service he was exposed to and am eligible to take training under the War Orphans Education Act. But I'm not especially interested in going to college. What other kinds of courses can I take?

A—In addition to classroom work leading to a college degree, the War Orphans Education Act provides opportunity for training in a wide variety of schools below the college level—technical institutes, business schools, some vocational or trade schools, normal schools, institutions offering training in medical and related fields, and junior colleges.

Our LAND

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

"Terracing is the real thing for my farms," says Edgar Jensen, a Rochester realtor and farm owner. "Not only does this conservation practice do an excellent job of controlling erosion, but it helps conserve both moisture and plant food and has increased the output of my farms." Jensen told Grant Karlstad, SCS work unit conservationist assisting the Upper Zumbro SCD, that "Setting up and following farm conservation plans according to soil capabilities is sound business."

Too much erosion was the problem Herb Bollum faced in operating his rented 400-acre Redwood county farm. Water often stood in low areas because the tile system was inadequate and improperly installed. To reduce the load on the tile system, Bollum contoured his fields and installed terraces. Sod waterways now carry surplus water without gullying fields, and the tile system was revamped to give better drainage of low-lying areas. Bollum's corn yields are definitely up on his terraced land, according to County Agent Ernest Johnson. "I would never go back to straight up and down hill farming again," Bollum says.

The Minnesota chapter of the Soil Conservation Society of America will hold its annual meeting on Wednesday, January 11, at the Lowry Hotel, St. Paul. A symposium on land zoning will be conducted by six experienced individuals, among them W. A. Rowlands of the University of Wisconsin, and Ralph T. Keyes, executive secretary of the Minnesota Association of County Commissioners. Both men have wide knowledge of land zoning activities and the laws governing them. Roger Harris, extension soil conservationist at the University of Minnesota, says everyone interested in rural zoning is invited to attend.

"We learned the hard way last spring that it doesn't pay to work fields when they're too wet," report several cooperators with the Martin County Soil Conservation district. "When planting time came our soil was too wet for proper tillage but we worked it anyway. Disking compacted the soil and our crops didn't grow as they should have — at harvest time yields were down compared with other fields. Next year we'll wait until the ground is drier."

Hog Prices Expected to Hold up in Spring

If you're wondering about the hog price outlook for the next few months, here's the way the coming market looks to County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk and Hal Routhe and Ken Egertson, extension economists at the University of Minnesota.

The supply picture for early winter looks brighter than it did last year. The six per cent cut in summer farrowings and reduced number of three to six-month-old hogs in inventory on December 1 indicate the barrow and gilt kill this January will be about 10 per cent lighter than a year ago.

Beef prices will continue about equal to levels of last January. That means competition from beef will be about the same. It seems doubtful that packers will be as bullish for inventory supplies of pork as they were last year—a strengthening effect on the hog market during early winter months of 1960.

Average prices for barrows and gilts will probably remain at the $16.50 to $17 level for most of January. Indications also point to a strong and steady market for much of February.

Look for severe discounts on heavy hogs thru February. For the past six years the Chicago market in January has discounted 240 to 270 pound hogs an average of 87 cents per cwt. compared with 200 to 220 pound hogs.

The March to June marketing period is still uncertain. But, based on a six per cent increase over last year in late fall farrowings and the present inventory picture, it looks as though marketing will move slightly above last year's levels during this period.

Despite the increased supply of hogs and competition from beef, it seems doubtful that hog prices from March to June this year will dip below the $16 level established during that period in 1960.

The December Pig Crop Report indicates farrowings during the winter and spring months of 1961 are expected to be from 6 to 9 per cent larger than a year ago.

Tax Delinquency Down in Marshall

Only $56,210 Unpaid of $1,820,280 Levy Last Year

A tax delinquency of only 3.02 per cent was noted in Marshall county during 1960 when out of a total levy of $1,820,280.29 only $56,210.42 remained unpaid on December 31, J. W. Sands, county treasurer, reported last week.

There were four townships, Bloomer, Boxville, McCrea and Parkers with 100 per cent of the taxes levied that were paid in full during the year. However, several other townships have only small delinquencies and these are expected to be paid up shortly.

Marshall county had a total of 4,111 personal property taxpayers during 1960. The total levy on personal property alone was $123,376.68 of which amount only $167.12 involving nine taxpayers remained delinquent as of December 31. Of the nine personal property delinquents, judgments have been entered on three for a total payment of $84.22 which will leave less than $100 yet to be paid, said Sands.

State Job Agency Finds Employment for Fewer in 1960

Employment Service Finds Work for 159,036, Frank Starkey Reports

The Minnesota state employment service placed people in a total of 159,036 jobs during 1960, Frank T. Starkey, commissioner, department of employment security, reported today. Starkey said that the total was 15,312, or 8.8 per cent below the number of placements made by the department's 33 employment offices in 1959.

"The drop," Starkey indicated, "is a reflection of the business downturn experienced during 1960 and the fact that employers did not do the hiring that had been anticipated in beginning-of-the-year forecasts."

Of the total placements made, 104,681 were in nonfarm jobs. This was 7,641, or 6.8 per cent fewer than made in government and private industry in 1959. "Substantiating this loss," Starkey pointed out, "is the fact that during 1960 we received 9,347 fewer job openings—7 per cent less—than we were asked to fill in 1959; another indication of the reluctance of employers to add workers during 1960."

The department's report showed 16,856 business establishments who called up on the employment service for assistance in obtaining personnel. These firms turned 124,653 job openings over to CSES offices for recruitment of qualified personnel.

Starkey reported "encouraging gains" during 1960, in certain classifications of positions filled by the employment service. Professional and managerial placements were up 9.3 per cent; clerical and sales, 5.7 per cent; and skilled, 2.5 per cent. Losses were registered in semi-skilled, down 16 per cent; unskilled, 9.7 per cent lower; and service jobs, 4 per cent lower than in 1959.

Dr. Youngquist to Address BPW Club Tuesday Evening

N.W. School Head Will Discuss Winter Shows Building Fund Campaign

Dr. B. E. Youngquist, superintendent of the Northwest School and Experiment station at Crookston, will speak at the Thief River Falls Business and Professional Women's club dinner meeting at the Rex Cafe Tuesday night, January 17.

Dr. Youngquist will show a short film strip covering the current project to build a new home for the Red River Valley Winter Shows and will explain to the group some of the many ways the new building will serve all phases of agriculture and farm-related business in the Valley region of Minnesota.

The Winter Shows board of managers has recently signaled the beginning of Phase II of this $150,000 campaign for the shows building. Andrew Skaar, Route 1, Thief River Falls, is heading the drive in Pennington county. The program for the BPW club was arranged by Mrs. Ruth Wilson, president.

Automobile Assn. Asks Legislation

To Ask Safety Laws of Minnesota Legislators

The Minnesota State Automobile Assn. (AAA) will work for five major goals during this session of the legislature, a spokesman for the motoring organization said today.

C. L. Bowar, director of public relations and traffic safety, declared the organization will actively support the following legislation as the nucleus of its current legislative program:

* An adequate and effective billboard control law which would regulate outdoor advertising along the Interstate Highway System in Minnesota.

* A state-wide driver education program with a "reward incentive" for properly trained drivers.

* An increase in the Minnesota Highway Patrol.

* A law providing for stiffer fines and punishment for drinking drivers and habitual traffic offenders.

* Passage of a uniform traffic ticket law and a law providing for uniform, prima facie speed limits in the state.

Veterinarians to Hold Conference

Annual Convention in Minneapolis Jan. 23-25

The steady drive against epidemic animal diseases which pose a continual threat to Minnesota's $550,000,000 livestock and poultry industry, will be further intensified when 600 members of the Minnesota Medical association meet in Minneapolis January 23-24-25 for their annual convention and seminar.

This meeting will attract experts from all parts of the country who will report on new developments in diagnostic procedures and the latest and best methods of controlling and eliminating animal diseases.

That Minnesota has not been the victim of disastrous plagues in recent years is due in part to the continual vigilance of both the livestock raiser and professional veterinarian in detecting symptoms early and moving fast before an outbreak can gain headway.

On a statewide basis, great encouragement has come from the progress made in controlling brucellosis, or Bang's disease, which in the past has cost the dairy and beef industry of Minnesota an estimated $5,000,000 yearly.

MINNESOTA'S MARCH of Dimes campaign got off the ground in more ways than one when Gov. Elmer Andersen, honorary state March of Dimes chairman, and three navy helicopters took to the air in a state tour to focus attention on the current drive for funds to combat birth defects, arthritis and polio. Shown with Gov. Andersen, right, are Capt. Robert Kieling, center, commander of the naval air station at Wold-Chamberlain airport, and Elmer F. Hillner, Minneapolis, state March of Dimes chairman. The helicopters landed on the lawn of the state capitol and flew Gov. Andersen to Rochester, St. Paul Mayor George Vavoulis to Brainerd and Minneapolis Fire Chief Ray Malmquist and Mr. Hillner to St. Cloud.

CHAMBER L.I.F.E.

Living-Industry-Farming-Education

By Rolly Larson
Manager Chamber of Commerce

Once again we find ourselves in the midst of clearance sales before inventories, income tax worries, January thaw, annual meetings, membership drives, ticket sales, and, of course, we can't forget that Bemidji basketball game either.

Speaking of annual meetings, I sincerely hope that all Chamber members and wives are planning to attend the January 19th scheduled session. All faculty members and their spouse have been invited as well. Glenn Peterson has twenty salesmen selling tickets throughout the business area and John Ziegler is in charge of faculty tickets. Don M. Olson, chairman of the annual meeting, has his entire committee actively planning for a large turnout.

Speaker of the evening will be an interesting man, Mr. Ellsworth Johnson, who is a leading young executive well known to Minnesota business circles. His topic will be "What the Future Holds for You."

Bob Baker, Jim Winjum Sr., and Sig Quam are actively planning a personal contact "multiplier effect" membership drive to begin on January 23. This type of drive is not new and has a record of success.

Jobs, Inc. will hold its annual meeting soon too. Jobs and Chamber officials met on Friday evening to plan the organizational meeting. More publicity will be given this in coming issues.

Cliff Wiklund, C. L. Charlson and the education committee of the Chamber are planning a Small Business Management Clinic to begin this spring. It involves six weekly sessions presented by outstanding men in various phases of management. This course will be for businessmen.

We owe special thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Don M. Olson for representing our Chamber at the Crookston annual meeting held there last week.

Congratulations too, to Dr. George Martin who really "grabbed the bull by the horns" at his first board meeting since he was elected 1961 president.

Until next week you be sure now to Shop and Trade Where Bargains Are Made . . . In the Heart of Northwest Minnesota, Thief River Falls.

K. E. Lindberg Slayer Seeks to Win Release

Jas. Taylor Claims Incompetence When He Admitted Guilt

James P. Taylor, admitted slayer of Thief River Falls, bank cashier, Kenneth E. Lindberg, in 1955, will be given a competency hearing in his fight to escape a life sentence for murder.

Federal Judge Edward J. Devitt issued an order Monday instructing federal prison officials at Leavenworth, Kan., and Springfield, Mo., to make all records in Taylor's care available to his attorney.

A hearing date will be set later.

In a series of court cases during the past year, Taylor has contended he was mentally incompetent in 1956 when he pleaded guilty to the kidnap-slaying of Lindberg, and that he did not understand the nature of the case against him.

After he was sentenced to life by Judge Gunnar H. Nordbye in Minneapolis federal court, Taylor served a few days at Leavenworth before he was transferred to the government's mental hospital at Springfield.

At the time Taylor pleaded guilty, the government had more than 300 prosecution witnesses under subpena to testify against him.

Lindberg was kidnaped by Taylor, Nov. 12, 1955. A few minutes before the kidnaping, Taylor had robbed the Northern State bank of Thief River Falls of $1,750 in cash and about $14,000 worth of traveler's checks.

He killed Lindberg with a hatchet and dumped his body on the shore of Lake Crescent, three miles south of Clear Lake, Minn. He abandoned Lindberg's car in Minneapolis.

Taylor was arrested two months later at Joplin, Mo., after cashing most of the checks in cities throughout the country.

Extension Livestock Specialist to Talk at Seed, Feed Show Feb. 3

RAY ARTHAUD

The Seed and Feed Show speakers have been selected for Friday, February 3, at Thief River Falls. Ray Arthaud, extension livestock specialist, Institute of Agriculture, St. Paul, will speak on "Rolled Barley Feeding and Beef Programs."

Feeding of 100 per cent rolled barley rations is a recent development. Some farmers in the area has tried it and some are planning on using it. Recent experiments bring to light new answers to questions such as: Does it pay to feed rolled barley? Can it be fed without any hay? Can rolled barley be fed without supplements? What are the advantages and disadvantages for beef, hogs, sheep, etc.?

Another phase of Arthaud's discussion will center around the classes of beef feeder cattle; the programs suited to these feeder cattle; and the economic outlook for various classes of beef feeders.

At last year's Seed and Feed show hog and sheep production was discussed as an added feature in which livestock usage of locally grown feeds and forages was emphasized. At this year's show beef is being given emphasis. Plans are to discuss various livestock production in succeeding years.

Efficient production of seed and feed is vital but local usage thru good livestock programs is equally important for farm and business success in this area, said County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk.

Library Resumes Story Hour Jan. 21

Children to Hear Reading of Story by Wanda Gag

The Carnegie Public Library will begin a winter story hour series for children in grades 1-3 on Saturday, January 21, at one o'clock. "Millions of Cats," by Wanda Gag, will be the first story read. It is a whimsical tale of how a little old woman and man were able to chose a cat of their own from millions of cats.

The book, originally published in 1928, has gone through many printings. Its unflagging popularity is due not only to the cleverness of the story but to the delightful illustrations which accompany it.

Wanda Gag was a Minnesota artist who grew up in the New Ulm area in the early 1900s. She drew pictures from the time she was able to hold a pencil and when her parents died when she was fourteen she managed to keep the family of children together and still fulfill her ambitions to become an artist. She died in 1945.

Sunnyrest San Cost $116,140 for Past Year

Dr. Flancher States Net Cost for Six Counties Is $79,953

At the January meeting of the Sunnyrest Sanatorium Commission in Crookston, the superintendent and medical director, Dr. L. H. Flancher, reported that the total cost of operating the institution during 1960 was $116,140.59. This compares favorably with 1959 when the cost was $121,551.55. The cost might have been slightly lower this year except for the fact that it happened that there were quite a few surgical cases this past year—part of them done in the Crookston hospital, and part at Glen Lake Sanatorium. The cost was $4,383.80.

There was also a slight increase in the cost of drugs due to the policy of keeping discharged patients under treatment for one year after discharge. Total cost to six counties in the sanatorium district, which includes Pennington, was $79,953.20, the balance of $36,187.29 being cash receipts from x-rays, state aid, out-of-county patients.

The daily average of patients was 25.1 for the year. The outpatient department with a full time field nurse, Mrs. Mary Vattendahl, under the direction of the superintendent, has been very active the past year. The program now consists of x-raying all contacts and suspects who have been exposed to a case of tuberculosis, and of former cases of tuberculosis, in the district.

Discharged patients are x-rayed two months after discharge, then every three months the first year, six months the next year, and every year thereafter. Letters are sent out informing them when x-rays are due.

"The response is very gratifying," said Dr. Flancher. "We receive many letters informing us of inability to come at a certain time, or saying they have been x-rayed elsewhere." Patients in the hospital, also, are x-rayed regularly.

The Mantoux testing program has been changed the past year Dr. Flancher explained, so that half of the schools in the district are Mantoux tested in the entire school and the other half will be tested next year. In this way, one half of the district will have the entire school tested every other year. When positive reactors come for x-rays, an effort is made to get the parents in also, and if the parents have not been tested, they receive the Mantoux test before leaving.

Dr. Flancher said, "In all x-rays that are taken we try to show the film to the patients before they leave. This, however, is not done in the case of the school children. All family physicians receive a copy of the reading as does the patient.

"We tested approximately 11,000 school children this past year, traveling about 7,700 miles. While it may seem that our patient load is decreasing when we admit 30 patients during the year, and discharge 42, it would seem that there are still plenty of cases in the territory.

"We wish to thank everyone for their fine cooperation, especially the doctors throughout the sanatorium district."

Council Orders Street, Water Main Surveys

Makes Preliminary Plans to Replace Mains in West Area

At the regular city council meeting Tuesday evening, January 17, an engineer's feasibility report on street improvements and water main replacement on the west side was ordered.

Replacement of the mains in the area included for street improvement has been acknowledged as necessary. Numerous breaks in the mains have resulted in street excavations for repair.

D. H. Stewart, consulting engineer for the city, showed maps of water main breaks to the council and told the group that the sizing of some mains should be increased as a part of the city's master plan for the water system. There had been some discussion previously about the future location of a water tank on the west side of the city and such a decision would necessitate changing the size of some water mains, Stewart told the council.

A special meeting will be called to determine the future location of a tank and the sizing of mains. There was some feeling that any new tank should be located where the old one is at the present time.

Dr. George Martin, incoming president of the Chamber of Commerce, led a delegation of the Chamber which requested a meeting with the council's building committee. Martin said that the Chamber is now in a position to pay for the quarters it occupies in the city Auditorium and would like to have the entire space which it now shares with the city assessor. He asked that a figure for renting the space be determined at the meeting.

Donald L. Olson, a member of the Pennington county board, asked that the council adopt a resolution asking the state legislature to pass special legislation which would require approval of the county board before any

2 Crookston Men Tell Rotary of Merits of 4-year College There

Thomas Hagen, administrator of Bethesda hospital, and Marvin Campbell, president of the First National bank, both of Crookston, presented the case for the establishment of a four-year college branch at the Northwest school of agriculture at the noon meeting of the Rotary club in Thief River Falls Monday, January 16.

Using charts and figures prepared by the Northwest Education Improvement association, Campbell made the presentation with the assistance of Hagen.

Campbell said that the project has been going on for six or seven years and that the 1957 state legislature recommended expanding the school's curriculum to that of a four-year college branch of the university. He added that the 1959 legislature passed a resolution that such a school be set up by the board of regents.

He exhibited charts showing that the Northwest school has total assets which would cost $6½ million to replace, recent additions which had been made, and charts on past and projected enrollments. Enrollment charts showed that the number of students had decreased from a high of 430 in 1950 to 344 in 1960 and that the number of female students had dropped from 142 in 1940 to 61 during this school year. During the past seven years, total enrollment dropped from 436 during the 1954-55 school year to an expected low of 290 during the current year.

If the present trend continues, Campbell said, enrollment should be slightly more than 100 in 1969-70.

He pointed out the declining role of agriculture schools and gave as reasons the smaller number of farms, vocational agriculture instruction in high schools and other factors.

Using projections, Campbell told the Rotarians that the school, if it became a four-year college branch of the university could look forward to a total of 1,200 to 1,500 full time students by 1970. He backed up these figures with total 1960 population figures of the 12 counties considered by the association which he represents as in the school's area. Total figures include 181,320 persons in the 12 counties. From this area, Campbell said that there are 2,808 potential students today and there would be 3,608 by 1970.

Following the meeting, Campbell and Hagen met with persons from the city interested in securing a college in this area. Included were Dr. A. E. Jacobson, Dr. M. D. Starekow and W. E. Dahlquist.

Fourteen Rotarians indicated at the meeting that they would be making the trip to Winnipeg February 18 to attend the annual International Goodwill meeting of four districts. The trip from Thief River Falls will again be made in the railroad car of the Soo Line's Winnipeg division superintendent, E. A. Hamerski.

Mortenson Presides over Court on Monday

In his final session of municipal court January 13 before retirement, Judge H. O. Chommie heard the case of Gary "Doc" Carlson of Greenbush who was charged by city police with issuing a fraudulent check. Judge Chommie sentenced Carlson to serve 10 days in jail on the charge.

Stanley N. Mortenson, special municipal judge, who was appointed municipal judge January 17 to fill the unexpired term of Judge Chommie, heard eight cases during the Monday, January 16, session of court.

Joseph L. Brown of Kent, Alberta, was charged by the highway patrol with operating a truck - trailer over the legal length. He was found guilty and forfeited a $15 bond. Gordon A. Seibert, star rt., Goodridge, was brought to court by the highway patrol on an open bottle charge and was fined $25.

James A. Stolp, Greenbush, was tried on the charge of driving while under the influence, was found guilty and fined $100 and had his driver's license revoked. The charge was brought by the highway patrol.

One case was brought into court by the sheriff's office. Vincent B. Hesse, rt. 2, was charged with drinking by a minor and was fined $15.

Four cases were brought to court by city police. Duane D. Scholin, rt. 5, paid a $25 fine on a careless driving charge and was fined $10, of which $5 was suspended, on the charge of having an illegal muffler.

Rodney D. Klein, rt. 3, was fined $25 for having no driver's license. Olaf H. Olson, Oklee, was fined $15 on a drunk and disorderly charge and Joseph Kalishko, city, who had been charged with petty larceny, received a 10-day suspended sentence.

Council Studies Replacement of Some Water Mains

area within the county could be incorporated as a village. The council adopted the resolution after hearing the legislation read by Robert Wurst, city attorney.

Wurst reported that he and Rep. Ben Wichterman had gone to St. Paul December 28 where the conservation committee was examining the special legislation which would pave the way for work on the Red Lake River channel. Wurst reported that progress is being made on the legislation to be introduced.

The council approved the renewal of 23 cigarette licenses, called for bids for depositories for public funds and for the official newspaper and called for bids for gasoline and road oil.

A resolution was adopted to give the fair board $1,000 in services this year as was done in 1960.

Approval was given to the city clerk's proposal to invest $39,000 of debt service funds in six-month savings certificates which would draw 3 per cent interest.

Five appointments by Mayor Orin Green were approved. Renamed to the library board for three-year terms were Mrs. A. E. Jacobson, Mrs. L. B. Hartz and Elmer A. Anderson. Frank Bond was reappointed to the park board for a five-year term and Del Seefeldt was renamed to the police civil service commission for three years. The council appointed Otis Wold to the firemen's civil service commission for a three-year term.

Paul Bedard's appointment as a hockey coach by the recreation board at a salary of $250 for the season was approved as were appointments of Morris Efteland and Arthur Cloutier for $125 each.

Adopted was a resolution to pay Stewart & Walker, Inc., $1,012.58 for engineering on the 1960 waterworks improvement project.

Preceding the second reading of an ordinance clarifying the matter of vacations for shift workers and setting the retirement age of city employes at 65, the grace period for present city employes before retirement was set at three years with the exception of policemen who were given a five-year grace period.

First reading of an ordinance annexing to the city the property of Duane Ostrand, 909 Tindolph av. S., was heard.

Larry Thorstenson, city clerk, was appointed to the position for 1961 at a salary of $500 a month.

Council approval was given for the appropriation of $300 for the mayor's contingent fund.

Considerable time was taken for a discussion of a blanket bond for city employes instead of the many individual bonds now being carried. It was pointed out that the blanket bond might result in reduced expenditures for that purpose and the matter will be examined further.

This discussion led to a discussion on insuring the city's buildings which led to talk of appraising the buildings and their contents. No agreement was reached on who should do the appraising.

The previous discussions resulted in another on the possibility of a plan for future city expenditures. One plan suggested was to have council representatives to committees meet with those committees to make plans for five years in the future. No decision was made on the matter nor was any decision made on the possible inclusion of interested and qualified citizens in such planning.

As a final item of business, the council formally approved the 1961 budget of $1,482,460.91.

R. McCULLA, CROOKSTON, HEADS IMPLEMENT MEN

R. T. McCulla of the Crookston Implement Co., Crookston, was elected state president of the Minnesota Implement Dealers' association at its convention last week in Minneapolis. McCulla, moving up from vice president, was elected for a term of one year.

Ira F. Nicholson died suddenly, January 16, at his home at the age of 71 years. He was born June 2, 1889 at Marshalltown, Iowa, where he attended school and grew to manhood. On March 6, 1912, he was united in marriage to Ruth Loft at Marshalltown.

Funeral services will be held at St. Anne's Catholic church in Crookston at 9 a.m. Friday, January 20. Father Stanley Bourassa will say Mass with the rosary being recited Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the Houske Funeral Chapel. Visitation hours are this afternoon, Thursday, from 3 to 9 p.m.

Beware Inferior Seeds, Is Advice of County Agent

Stelmaschuk Warns Area Farmers Peddlers Are Offering Poor Grain

Farmers in Pennington county are warned against "sales pitches" on inferior and poor varieties of seed from seed peddlers, County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk stated today.

A good example of a poor variety being sold is Kodiak wheat. The name Kodiak would supposedly signify hardiness. This, however, is a brand name and not a variety. Because it's a brand any variety or mixture can be sold under this brand and it may be good or bad depending on what is actually put into the sack. If the seed is represented as a variety to farmers then they are asked to contact their weed inspector or county agent and bring in a sample of this variety.

Other wheats being sold are Contatch and Can 1. Cantatch is a partillay rust susceptible variety developed in Canada and is recommended only for western Canada, and west of the Western part of North Dakota. Because of drier climates there is less danger of rust in the western regions where Cantatch is recommended.

Can 1 is represented as an improved selection of Cantatch. County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk has contacted university specialist Harley Otto on this wheat and although Otto stated that the University has no data on this wheat that Can 1 is not likely to be as resistant to rust as Selkirk because of the characteristics of Cantatch.

Farmers are warned against paying big prices on untested varieties or one of inferior qualities presently grown. Information on these varieties may be secured from the county agent's office.

Farm Manager of Year Is Honored in St. Paul Today

Earl Prigge, Zumbrota, received the Farm Manager of the Year award Thursday during a Farm and Home Week convocation on the St. Paul campus of the University of Minnesota.

The award is sponsored by the University, the Minnesota Vocational Agriculture Instructors' association and the state department of education.

Prigge was selected on the basis of his over-all farm management achievement and participation in the Vo-Ag farm management program.

Farm management regional winners, in addition to Prigge, were: David Robertson, Lake City; Dale Yahnke, Lake Crystal; Wayne Whiting, Alexandria; Clyde Christensen, Thief River Falls; and George Oraskovich, Carlton.

List Social Security Rules as to Farmers

Some self-employed farmers may be entitled to use an optional method for figuring their net earnings from the farm for social security credit, Walter D. Kistler, manager of the Grand Forks social security office, and George O. Lethert, district director of Internal Revenue, reminded farm operators today.

Mr. Lethert pointed out that:

(1) If your gross income from agricultural self-employment is not more than $1,800, you may count as your net farm earnings either your actual net or two-thirds of your farm gross income;

(2) If your gross farm income is more than $1,800, and your net farm earnings are less than $1,200, you may use either your actual net or $1,200;

(3) If your gross farm income is more than $1,800, and your net farm earnings are $1,200 or more, you must use the actual amount of your net earnings.

Mr. Lethert added that use of the option will enable farmers with gross income as low as $600 to obtain social security protection for themselves in their old age, or, if they become disabled, and for their survivors in case of death.

He emphasized, however, that regardless of the way in which you figure your net earnings, you must have net earnings of at least $400 (from farming alone, or in combination with other self-employment earnings) to get social security credit for the year.

Some farm owners who receive cash, rent, or crop shares from tenant famers can get social security from such income. If the farm landlord, under his agreement with his tenant, materially participates in the production or management of production of the farm crops raised on his land, this income may be creditable for social security purposes and subject to the social security tax.

Information regarding taxes due and tax return froms can be obtained at the Internal Revenue office in Crookston.

If there are any questions about old-age, survivors, or disability insurance, the social security office at Grand Forks will be glad to answer them.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor Times:

As politics takes its course, new members are being appointed to the various cabinet posts in our federal and state governments. This is an ordinary functional routine; however there is one department in our state government which requires close scrutiny by we citizens in northwestern Minnesota—namely the Department of Conservation.

This department is presently headed by Commissioner George A. Selke, but there is a rumor that he is to be replaced by a member of the Izaak Walton League. This league is composed of "big shot sportsmen" who are contemplating that this Northwest area should be adapted exclusively for ducks. Unfortunately ducks are not capable of paying taxes which support our schools, build our roads, dig our ditches, pay our public employees and provide for our nation's defense. Let's prevent these "feather-brained" radicals from taking over our peaceful rural communities for the ducks by petitioning to keep such an individual out of such an important office.

The Department of Conservation is subdivided into five divisions: Forestry, State Parks, Waters, Land and Minerals and Game and Fish. The majority of these departments are doing a fine job; however here again we have the excessively sports-minded Game and Fish people who are hindering the development of our communities by holding up the sale of state land.

At a recent land sale, hundreds of forties were withheld by this department. They do not have the money to buy this land but operate on what they call an "acquire now and develop later" philosophy. An individual that has the cash cannot purchase it if it is wanted by them. This land would serve our communities with tax revenue if owned by a private party. Being our communities depend mainly on the agricultural industry, let's keep farming the number one objective in this area!

101 Men, 163 Girls at Elks Banquet

1st Fathers-Daughters Dinner Is Held Monday

The first annual Elks Fathers and Daughters banquet in the club rooms Monday evening was acclaimed as a highly successful affair, attracting the attendance of 101 fathers and 163 daughters.

Don L. Olson, manager of KTRF radio, served as master of ceremonies over a brief after-dinner program, which included a welcome by E. A. Hamerski, exalted ruler of the local lodge; a short talk by Miss Kathi Sinding in behalf of the daughters, and a response by Dr. George Martin, speaking for the fathers.

Entertainment for the children included games and the showing of movies, followed by refreshments.

Brownie Troop 87 Makes School Kits for Refugee Use

Brownie Troop No. 87 made, packed and mailed 15 school kits for Church World Service, which, in turn, will distribute the kits to needy refugees.

The girls provided the money for materials mainly through the sale of Girl Scout calendars. The father of one of the girls donated pencils and erasers for all of the troop to use in filling their kits.

Prowler Hockey Six Defeats Williams 12-0

With Jack Houfek and Larry Poole racking up three-goal "hat trick" performances, and Jerome (Tony) Poole adding a pair of goals, coach Gene Sack's Prowler hockey squad moved back into the win column by scoring a one-sided, 12 to 0, win over a young Williams high school club here Tuesday night.

The Prowlers will meet the Baudette Bears in a Region Eight conference game here on Saturday night, with face-off time slated for 8:00 P.M.

In Tuesday night's game here, the Prowlers possessed too much all-round ability for coach Ray Chiaverini's young and inexperienced Williams club. And it was only through some agile goal-tending by Jim Robberstad that the Prowler score did not soar into the twenties. Robberstad, in the first period, kicked out twenty-one on-goal shots. For the game the Williams goalie had forty-five saves.

Houfek and Larry Poole distributed their "hat trick" goals very evenly, getting a goal in each period.

Grade Hockey League

Knox Tigers	3	1	6
St. Bernard's Broncos	2	2	4
Northrop Indians	0	4	0

Results of Saturday's games:

Knox, 2, vs. Northrop, 1.
St. Bernard's, 2, vs. Washington, 1.

Schedule, Saturday, Jan. 21

Washington vs. Northrop, 9:00 A.M.
St. Bernard's vs. Knox, 10:00 A.M.

The highlight of the week's play in the city grade school hockey league play was the 2 to 1 win that coach Paul Bedard's St. Bernard's Broncos scored over the previously undefeated Washington Wildcats. Scoring for the Broncos was Charley Bedard and Bobby Sullivan, while Danny Brouse tallied the lone goal for coach Rolland Smith's Wildcats.

In the other game on Saturday morning's bill, the Knox Tigers moved into a tie for first place by marking up a 2 to 1 win over the Northrop Indians, with Dicken and Mathieu scoring for the Tigers. Billy Olson registered the goal for coach Dick Brooks' Northrop team.

This week's schedule will be featured by the 10:00 A.M., game on Saturday between the Knox Tigers, coached by Neil Carlson, and the St. Bernard's Broncos. The Broncos trail the league leaders by just one game, two points, in the win column.

Goodridge Man to Head Heart Fund

Laurel L. Stephenson to Direct February Drive

Laurel LaVerne Stephenson, Goodridge farmer, has been named Pennington county chairman for the 1961 Heart Fund drive, to be held in February. He replaces David Drotts, who has resigned. The appointment was made by Hilding Westberg of Warren, regional chairman.

Goal for the annual independent Heart Fund drive has been set at $530,000. Pennington county's share of the state's goal has been set at $1,749. Last year, the state goal was exceeded by over $10,000.

The annual drive supports the Minnesota Heart association's programs of research, education and community service. Over a half million dollars are now financially assisting the research projects of 72 scientists in eight outstanding Minnesota research centers. As research is the key to the ultimate conquest of heart disease, it is given the greatest priority.

Evang. Free Church Reports Growth

Annual Meeting Hears of Progress During 1960

The Evangelical Free church of Thief River Falls held its annual meeting Tuesday, January 10. Reports from the various departments indicated growth both in attendance and giving for 1960. The Sunday school, morning worship service and Sunday evening services all showed increased averages of attendance.

Total receipts for all departments was $18,446.21, of which $5,339.39 went to home and foreign missions. The Sunday school, Women's Missionary Society, Youth Fellowships and White Cross workers all take an active interest in, and give to missions. The Mothers club also gives to the support of a Korean orphan.

Clyde Christensen, chairman of the church, conducted the meeting. Wallace Reierson is superintendent of the Sunday school, Mrs. Lester Gustafson is president of the Women's Missionary Society, and Rev. Joseph Swan is pastor.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

The Twins "Road Show"

Plans are being completed for the appearance here on Tuesday, Jan. 24, of the Minnesota Twins "road show." Reparesentatives of the Minnesota Twins of the American league are tourning cities of the Upper Midwest, and Thief River Falls has been placed on the good will intinerary.

The meeting here will be in the nature of a "bean feed" at the American Legion club, and will be sponsored by the local baseball organization. According to the reports we have received, Chuck Stobbs, a pitcher, and Billy Gardner, an infielder, will be on hand for the gathering.

Everyone is invited to be in attendance at the meeting, and a special invitation has been extended to the city's youngsters. The place: the American Legion club. The time: Jan. 24 at 6:00 P.M.

Curling Notes

It appears that a challenge match is in the making that would pit the Lidens wives against the Liden husbands. And this match should provide plenty of excitement. The Liden wives would ice the same rink that reached the finals in the women's bonspiel that was concluded her on Sunday evening, and this rink would have Mrs. Duane (Gladys) Liden at lead, Mrs. Lyle (Gloria) Liden at second, Mrs. Ardell (Betty) Liden at third, and Mrs. Donovan (Alice) Liden as skip.

We don't know the strategy that the Liden men would employ, but it's probable that Lyle would lead, Don second, Dewey at third, and Ardell as skip. And to make sure that the match would be fairly curled, we would insist that Ken and Fern Liden be engaged as referees.

We received a note informing us that the Harold Halvorson rink won second place in the third event of the 32-rink bonspiel that was held at Drayton, N. D. last weekend. The members of the rink were Harold Halvorson, Lester Halvorson, Ken Ose, and Willie Mathieu.

And who is going to beat Charlie Emanuel? Since Charlie took off his overshoes, and bought himself a hand-knit sweater, his curling game has improved one hundred and fifty percent. He wins as a skip, and he wins when he curls as a substitute.

The Fishing Derby

Boy Scout Troop 57 will hold its annual fishing derby on the river here, just off Tindolph park, on Sunday, Jan. 22, from 1:00 P.M. to 4:00 P.M. The event has become an attraction for local sportsmen. The first prize offering this season is a 5½-horsepower Evinrude outboard motor.

We are willing to make a slow wager that professional guide Dennis (Cotton) Langevin will not win a prize. At least not in the big fish category. It will be worth the entry fee just to see Cotton make his appearance on the ice, wearing his famed German socks and moose-skin moccasins.

Miscellany

The Harvard University hockey team dfented the defending Ivy League champion Dartmouth team, 7 to 1, in an important eastern college league game played last week . . . Dave Hanson, high-scoring Prowler center of a couple of seasons ago, will enroll at Augsburg college this semester. Dave, who has tremendous potential as a college athlete, will be eligible for the Auggies football team next fall. Dave, at six-foot five-inches, and weighing 215 pounds, should be a help for Auggie athletic fortunes . . . Several of the Prowler basketball players, getting in to Minneapolis quite early on Friday, made the trip out to Osseo to visit with former coach Hartley Storey, and were guests at the game which found Osseo scoring a win over Fridley. Sorey attended the Prowlers vs Lakers at the Williams arena on Saturday afternoon.

To Name King Agassiz at RRV Winter Shows

The glacial lake which ten thousand years ago poured inches and inches of deep, rich soil over the Red River Valley will be honored once a year beginning February 22, 1961, when the Winter Shows will name a "King Agassiz" from among young men nominated by counties up and down the northflowing river. The rural royalty will be chosen on the basis of being a symbol of the big business of farming in the Valley.

Differing from any other known project of this type, the King Agassiz sponsors do not limit their nominees to farmers on the land. It is pointed out by B. E. Youngquist, board of managers president for the Winter Shows, that many men make major contributions to farming when their work is in a profession, business, or industry related to agriculture.

A banker in a farming area, a vocational agriculture teacher, a seed or grain man, a farm machinery salesman—these are just a few of the suggested categories in addition to farmers actually tilling the soil.

The first King Agassiz nominees are now being selected by committees consisting of county agents and vo-ag teachers in each county; they will be named at the county level by February 3, and the final King Agassiz chosen and crowned at the Winter Shows on the third day, Feb. 22.

Drivers License Examiners Go to School This Week

Attending Refresher Courses Conducted at Little Falls, Minn.

Minnesota's 83 driver license examiners and supervisors will be attending two refresher courses this week and next to keep up the efficiency of the driver license division of the Minnesota highway department.

Driver license director G. A. Hatfield announced that the course would include 35 hours of instruction in examining procedures, license operations, and safety education. The in-service training school is being conducted at Little Falls, with one half of the examiners in attendance each week.

Hatfield pointed out that in-service training is given each examiner each year and is one of the activities which made Minnesota's examining program second highest in the nation for several years. He said that January is chosen for the training period because it is the month when examiners can most easily be spared from local stations.

During each of the two weeks, the Minnesota Association of Drivers Examiners will hold a regular meeting and buffet dinner on Wednesday, January 18 and 25, at the Pine Edge Motor Inn at Little Falls, which will headquarter the school. William Donaldson, Winona, is president of the association.

Included in the instructors are Harry A. Sieben, state traffic safety director, and Leo M. Smith, chief highway patrol officer, Ray Baseman, chief license examiner, Leonard Hotaling, operations officer, and Gordon McDermid, field representative for the American Association of Motor Vehicle administrators.

Water Shortage Seen in Midwest

In less than 40 years, the river basins in the western Great Lakes area from eastern Minnesota to southern Michigan will be in the category of extreme water shortage.

This is the warning contained in a report given to the Senate Select Committee on national water resources by a privately endowed research foundation. Their studies also disclosed that other areas of the country are in this category now and many others soon will be.

The report declares that the keys to the future adequacy of water supplies are the construction of water conservation dams and reservoirs to regulate stream flow and the construction of municipal and industrial sewage treatment facilities.

Gun Mishaps Kill 29 in State in '60

115 Others Injured, Says State Conservation Dept.

Firearm accidents in Minnesota killed 29 persons and injured 115 more during 1960, the department of conservation reported today.

A new method of classification was used which listed the shootings either intentional or unintentional firing of the weapon. Intentional firing were those cases where the firearm discharged without the intent of the holder to fire or where no one did in fact touch the trigger.

The latter includes those cases where a twig, belt buckle or other object depressed the trigger and cases where apparently nothing touched the trigger and the shell was fired as a result of malfunction of the firearm.

The method of classifying accidents in this manner was suggested by Alfred L. Nelson, editor of the Conservation Volunteer, official magazine of the department, some years ago.

Nelson's theory was that if a substantial number of cases were reported where the weapon discharged without anyone wishing it to, the safe handling qualities of today's firearms would be open to question.

"Classified in this manner, the figures reveal the somewhat startling fact that victims of unintentional firings accounted for 54.9 per cent of the casualties," Nelson said.

In view of these findings, Nelson said, he has now sent out requests for a listing of firearms accidents on the "intentional-unintentional" basis to 47 other states in order to compare their figures with those of Minnesota.

Marshall Co. 4-H Leaders to Meet

Institute Scheduled at Newfolden on Saturday

"Learning Experiences in 4-H Club Work" will be the theme of the 1961 Marshall county institute to be held at Newfolden Saturday, January 21, reports Harlem D. Sandberg, 4-H club agent. The institute will begin at 10 a.m. and close at 3 p.m.

Planning for learning, learning through 4-H judging activities and learning through wise project selection are among the topics to be discussed.

Attending the county institute will be Marshall county's junior and adult 4-H leaders. There are approximately 200 leaders in the county.

Presenting the institute materials will be four adult leaders and Mr. Sandberg. The adult leaders are Sanford Tverstol and Mrs. LeRoy Johnson, West Prairie club, Mrs. Henry Knoll, Tamarac Tacklers, and Mrs. Orville Wittman, McCrea club.

These leaders received the institute material at the district institute held at the Northwest School of Agriculture on Tuesday, January 17, at Crookston.

Mrs. Eleanor Gifford, state home economics agent, Wayne Bath and Betty Elliott, district 4-H club leaders from the University of Minnesota conducted the district institute.

5,069 Fish Houses on Mille Lacs Lake

The Minnesota department of conservation's game and fish division has again noted an increase in the numbers of fishing shelters on the Lake Mille Lacs ice. Warden pilot Bill Morris and observer Ben Lukes of the section of research and planning counted 5,069 houses during a flight on Sunday, January 8. This is an increase of 18 per cent over a similar count made one year ago.

Times Classifieds bring fast results.

Says Hunting Has Little Effect on Pheasant Output

Hunting has little effect on pheasant production and short hunting seasons of one to three weeks are a waste of "surplus" cocks.

These are the conclusions of Maynard M. Nelson, research scientist of the conservation department's game and fish division as the result of studies in the field and at the Madelia research center.

Well-meaning state sportsmen who mistakenly believe that hunting is an important factor affecting breeding populations are wrong in opposing efforts of the game and fish division to lengthen seasons, he says.

Nelson's facts and figures to back up his arguments are contained in the article "Short-changing the Pheasant Hunter" appearing in the January-February issue of the Conservation Volunteer, official magazine of the department of conservation, to be off the presses soon.

Editorials . . .

"Today, the eyes of all people are truly upon us—and our governments, in every branch, at every level, national, state, and local, must be as a city upon a hill—constructed and inhabited by men aware of their grave trust and their great responsibilities."

—John F. Kennedy

Our Next President

President-elect John Kennedy will take office tomorrow in impressive ceremonies in Washington, and another peaceful revolution will have been accomplished. During the next four years, and probably for the next eight years, he will serve as the nation's chief executive.

Kennedy becomes President at a time when conditions thruout the world are strained, and in some areas they are tense. American foreign policy is an important consideration in most of these situations. The inauguration of a new President, who will direct American policy in the years that are ahead, is therefore a matter of international interest. From now on all formal statements made by him, and even his casual remarks, will be noted carefully.

It isn't likely that President Kennedy will announce any major changes in foreign policy at this time. For many years, fortunately, our international problems have not been made partisan issues. Leaders of both parties have been consulted before decisions have been made and both parties have shared in the responsibility for results. President Kennedy is not likely to depart from this approach and any changes in foreign policy probably will come gradually.

On domestic matters his position would be more difficult to predict. He has paid lip service to the extreme platform of the Democratic party, but he has also indicated a personal preference for a more middle-of-the-road course. His Cabinet selections have indicated that he favors a sound dollar, and if that is an important objective in his planning then there isn't going to be much room for foolishness. We can expect some leftish recommendations but our guess is that he secretly will hope for effective conservative opposition in Congress.

At any rate the election is now over and our government will settle down to the serious business of solving a lot of very difficult problems. To most Americans John Kennedy will be "our" president, rather than just "the" president. He is going to be calling the signals during the next four years and we all have a direct interest in the results. We will join with all good Americans in extending to John Kennedy our best wishes for success as our President of the United States.

Let's Try It

We do not share in the concern of those who worry about what will happen if the state will be unable to go further in debt during the next two years. The problem is the result of a Supreme Court ruling to the effect that certificates of indebtedness must be recognized as legal indebtedness under the provisions of the present constitutional limitation on state indebtedness of $250,000.

Some members of the legislature would like to call a special election for the purpose of amending the Constitution with a more realistic debt limit. But the Constitution provides that the Constitution can be amended only at a general election. The Constitutional states quite clearly that:

> "Whenever a majority of both houses of the legislature shall deem it necessary to alter or amend this constitution, they may propose such alterations or amendments, which proposed amendments shall be published with the laws which have been passed at the same session, and said amendments shall be submitted to the people for their approval or rejection at any general election, and if it shall appear, in a manner to be provided by law, that a majority of all the electors voting at said election shall have voted for and ratified such alternations or amendments, the same shall be valid . . ."

Well, let's let it go at that. This would mean that the present legislature would have to limit its expenditures for the coming biennium to such totals as could be collected by taxation during the biennium. There could be no more borrowing during this period. We would have to pay-as-we-go. We would have to live within our means.

And what is so terrible about that? This is something we have had to do many times in the management of our personal affairs. Because we didn't have the cash and couldn't get the credit, we have had to postpone the buying of some things that at the time were very essential to our need — well, at any rate we wanted them.

Later on, in several instances, we discovered we were getting along nicely without the things we had not been able to buy, and so our inability to get credit actually saved us a tidy sum of money.

So we say in all earnestness, let there be a two-year moratorium on going further into debt. Our prediction is that we somehow will survive such a terrible ordeal. And maybe we will be richer as a result. Let's try it.

Danger Signal

Mr. Selwyn Lloyd, Chancellor of the Exchequer, told the people of Britain recently that they probably would have to tighten their belts a notch or two as a means of curbing inflation and guarding against unemployment. Considering the fact that the British are enjoying unprecedented prosperity, his "tough" speech has been considered remarkable.

Mr. Lloyd told his countrymen that because government spending is likely to increase over the next few years, tax cuts are out of the question. He even suggested that restrictive practices be discouraged and that efforts be made to increase the output per man. In other words, let's cut out the foolishness and work a little harder.

Can you imagine a politician in our country talking like that? If they did they wouldn't be politicians very long.

But the people of Britain have been through the Valley of the Shadow. They have been close enough to the brink of economic extermination to recognize a danger signal. They are among the nations that have survived because they have recognized the grimness of reality, and adjusted themselves to the facts.

Explaining why such a warning was accepted understandingly by the people of Britain, the Christian Science Monitor observes:

> "It is not always easy for government spokesmen to explain to the British themselves why, when they are already doing quite well, thank you, they must try to do better, or at any rate must not relax by so much as one belt-notch. But the fact that the British must live by competing in world markets makes it clear to other people that Britain cannot afford inflation which pushes up the cost of production of its exports.
> "Peoples who do not rely so extensively on exports are sometimes at a loss to understand the warnings of their own economic experts against inflation and are inclined to think of it as perhaps a good thing. But the same devaluation of money — money earned and money saved — occurs in any nation where prices are rising because money being spent exceeds the value of goods being produced.
> "The day of reckoning may be further postponed in some countries than for a nation like Britain. But that fact offers a temptation, not a form of insurance. An abyss is no less deep when one is standing ten feet away from it than when one is ten inches from it. It only appears to be."

Adventure on Mars

How important is it that our country be the first to land a space ship on the moon and have the explorers of the moon's surface return safely to our planet? Well, if the cost were not prohibitive, we would favor the idea. We could justify some of the expenditure as an investment in national prestige, but that probably would be a bookkeeping item of doubtful value a few centuries from now. The prestige value of such an accomplishment would depend largely on who would be writing the history books at that time.

We are not objecting to the experiments that are being conducted in the launching of missiles that can be justified as essential for defense, including incidental research. In this field we are dealing with a problem that is very real and near to us. The exploration of outer space cannot so easily be justified by necessity.

Maybe the government's approach to the exploration and conquest of outer space should be adapted to the plan followed by the British when they authorized the Hudson's Bay Company and other companies of adventurers interested in extending old horizons. We might consider incorporation of a Mars Development Association, Ltd., and sell memberships to people who regularly and hopefully buy tickets for the Irish Sweepstakes.

These vagrant thoughts came to us after reading the following unorthodox ideas expressed by the Hartford Courant. Suggests the Courant:

"It would be small potatoes to feel smug over the flame-out of Russia's latest space vehicle. We have had our troubles with noncalculated trajectories — to use the Soviet euphemism—ourselves. It is odd, perhaps, that Soviet officials came out and admitted that the dog-toting rocket craft has burned up in the earth's atmosphere after failing to respond to control signals.

"The Russians must have had failures before, but they never admitted them. This time, of course, they were over a barrel. Premier Khrushchev had hailed this latest space venture personally and a number of leading Soviet publications had gone obediently into page 1 ecstasies over the launching, lampooning the United States space tries and even writing poems in praise of Russian science. Unless they were going to lie about it, there was nothing to do but admit it when the vehicle went haywire.

"However, this is neither here nor there. What it does prove is that, for anybody, space travel is going to be hit-or-miss and perilous for a long time to come. And already, scientists are beginning to raise the question whether, in view of the stupendous costs, all this experimenting isn't a little meaningless.

"True, there is an amount of military necessity involved. Sure, success boosts national prestige in the international propaganda duel. But whether for purely civilian purposes there is any sense in going to the moon right now, it would indeed be difficult to say.

"Down here on earth there are a lot of other improvements that might be undertaken to make men and the world better. When we have done something more about poverty, disease, ignorance, injustice, ill-will and general inhumanity, it will be time enough to go shuttling about the cosmos. If we can't take clean hands and pure hearts with us, we'd better quarantine ourselves right where we are now."

"It's hard to say," said the other. "Probably the police."

10 State Seedsmen Are Given Awards

Ray Ulrich, Elevator Man at Angus, Is Honored

Ten awards for outstanding contributions to quality field crop seed production and distribution in Minnesota in 1960 were made Wednesday evening at the Midland Hills Country Club, St. Paul.

The occasion was the annual recognition dinner of the Minnesota Crop Improvement association, with headquarters on the St. Paul campus of the University of Minnesota, and the Crop Quality Council, Minneapolis.

Four Premier seed grower awards, from the Crop Quality Council were presented to outstanding seed producers who are members of the Minnesota Crop Improvement association.

Plaques, awarded for the 33rd year, went to A. G. Batke, Fairmont; Philip and Gottfred Dahlberg, Cambridge; Milton Nelson, Sacred Heart; and Joe Sendelbach, Wells. These awards were made on the basis of excellence in certified seed production, general contributions to crop improvement and participation in local civic activities.

Honorary awards, from the Crop Quality Council, went to D. U. Harvey, St. Paul, who will retire this year as a senior experimental plot supervisor on the University's St. Paul campus; and Stanley Folsom, who recently retired as president of the Twin City Seed company, Minneapolis.

Three elevator managers were presented with certificates of recognition from the Minnesota Crop Improvement association. They were Forrest Mariner, Farmers Co-op association, Jackson; Richard M. Smith, Kent-Doran Grain company, Campbell; and Ray Ulrich, Angus Co-op Elevator Association, Angus. Basis for these awards was leadership in the community by promoting the use of certified seed of recommended varieties, encouraging better cultural practices in seed growing and improving the market quality of grain.

Also presented with a certificate of recognition from the Minnesota Crop Improvement association as an "outstanding seedsman" was Northrup King & Company, Minneapolis. This award is based on distribution of high quality seed and contributions to crop improvement. The awards banquet was held in connection with Farm and Home Week on the St. Paul campus January 17-20.

May Use Red Lake in Speed Boat Tests

Tribal Council Sees Sport as Tourist Attraction

According to the Bemidji Daily Pioneer the Lower Red Lake on the Red Lake Indian reservation may become the official international speed boat course.

Donald Campbell of England, famous speedster, has promised to make a personal inspection of the proposed course at an early date, and if the facilities and lake conditions are as they have been reported to him he will bring his Bluebird speedboat to Red Lake for an attempt to break his own world record.

Dan Needham of Goodridge, member of the council of the Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians, states that the reservation authorities will cooperate in every way to meet the requirements. The lower Red Lake is owned and completely controlled by the Indians and that every effort will be made to maintain the desired controls when races are in progress.

Needham is hopeful that such a development would be of great value in establishing the lake and the area as a tourist attraction.

Indians OK Fishing on Certain Lakes

Small Lakes South of Red Lake to Be Opened

At a recent meeting of the tribal council of the Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians action was taken to permit winter fishing on several of the inland lakes south of the Lower Red Lake on the Red Lake Indian reservation, Dan Needham, council treasurer, reports.

Permits will be issued on application, the cost being $20. A licensed guide must accompany a fishing party, one guide being required for four fishermen. Guides will be paid $5 a day.

Some of these lakes have never been fished, according to Mr. Needham, and the action taken by the council is an experiment to determine to what extent these smaller lakes would appeal to sportsmen.

Geo. Kaisersatt, Veteran Patrol Officer, Retires

The person generally credited as being "father" of Minnesota's school safety patrol program has retired from the Minnesota highway patrol to devote full time to that activity.

Sgt. George J. Kaisersatt, who completed a quarter century of service on the partol, has left the uniformed branch after reaching the organization's retirement age of 60. He has been given a special assignment in the highway department safety division to coordinate school safety patrol activities and to develop a uniform procedure for the school patrol.

A 40-year member of the American Legion, Kaisersatt held the office of state commander of the Department of Minnesota, 1917 and 1948. He presently serves as vice chairman of the Legion's national accident prevention committee and state chairman of its safety committee.

BEFORE YOU JUMP
...learn how to land

It's easy to jump. Just leave the solid trail behind you and soar into space.

But before you jump—learn how to land! One man can alight gracefully and continue his course. Another will wrap his skis around his head and end up in the hospital.

There are important life-decisions we often describe as "taking the leap." Going to college, choosing a career, getting married—these are just a few. And these "leaps" lead to happiness for some—and tragedy for others.

The Church with its program of worship and religious education makes essential contributions to our life. For what happens after our major "leaps" depends on the character which has been instilled in us, and on the principles by which we live.

The Church prepares us for the leaps we are going to take by teaching us how to land happily, and to continue a right course throughout life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Requests to Be Filed Soon for ASC Practices

Farmers May Apply for Soil and Water Conservation Feb. 6

Patrick W. Culkins, Pennington county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office manager, announced today that the opening date for producers to request federal cost-shares for carrying out soil and water conservation practices under the government farm program has been set by the county ASC office at February 6.

Farm owners and operators who wish to cooperate in conserving the soil and water resources of the county under the 1961 Agricultural Conservation program are invited to call at the county ASC office and complete the first step of their intended projects as soon as possible on or after February 6.

Culkins said that due to the limited administrative budget funds allocated to the county for the 1961 program, it would be impossible to hold informational or sign-up meetings in the rural areas this year. He said that all requests would therefore be handled by the county ASC office staff.

The closing date for accepting applications for payment on all spring seeding practices ends on June 15, 1961, while requests for applications on fall practices ends on June 15, 1961, while requests for applications on fall practices such as stubble-mulching, ditching, and constructing stock-water pits can be accepted by the county office up to and including November 15, 1961.

Culkins stated further that due to the limited number of referrals that technical agencies agreed to handle for ditches and pits under the 1961 program it would be necessary to screen the requests very closely and approve requests entirely on the basis of where the greatest conservation need exists.

He pointed out that livestock watering pits cannot be approved under the plan unless the producer has a sufficient number of cattle, sheep, or horses to justify the need, or that the producer intends to purchase livestock within a period of the next 12 months.

It was also noted by Culkins that due to the limited number of referrals that can be serviced in 1961 it would be appreciated by the county committee if those producers who have had ditching

Savings and Loan Assn. Assets Rise to $7,036,000 in '60

$5,664,684 in Mortgage Loans Are Outstanding; All Officers Reelected

Despite a general leveling off in business in 1960, First Federal Savings and Loan association had an excellent year, with assets increasing to $7,036,000, or 6.7 per cent above 1959, Stanton R. Dahlen, president, reported following the annual meeting last Wednesday.

The high savings level, coupled with ever-increasing repayments on outstanding mortgages, assures an ample supply of home mortgage money for home buyers in 1961, he said.

He listed highlights of the association's 1960 operation as follows:

Net savings increased by $446,562, boosting total savings capital to $6,547,479 at year's end. Dividend payments to savers totaled $210,000, 14 per cent above the 1959 figure, and an all-time high. The dollar value of the home mortgage loan portfolio increased four per cent to $5,664,684 at year's end.

Stanton R. Dahlen was reelected to the board of directors. Hold-over directors are Frank E. Tunberg, W. W. Prichard, Judge Paul A. Lundgren and Helmer A. Baumann. Dahlen was reelected president; Frank E. Tunberg vice president; Milton J. Reierson, secretary-treasurer; Helen Ellingson, assistant secretary; and Mrs. Dorothy Morehouse, Eileen Rhodegaard, Mrs. Madeline Stadum, assistant treasurers.

C. of C. Opens 'Shoot the M[illegible]n' Membership Driv[illegible]his Morning

Minn Historical Society
Historical Building
Zone 1

Robert Baker, Chamber of Commerce membership drive chairman, and his co-chairmen, Sig Quam and Jim Winjum, Sr. called 7:30 a.m. breakfast "blastoff" meeting this morning. The purpose was to explain Operation "Shoot the Moon" to the initial solicitation committees. The membership drive this year, according to Baker, will be a personal contact multiplier effect type drive. Its goal is to personally contact 100 per cent of the potential membership.

The drive will be conducted in four phases. Phase 1: A chairman is appointed and signed. Phase 2: Co-chairmen are appointed and signed. Phase 3: Each co-chairman selects five solicitors and signs each of them. Phase 4: Each of the 15 selected solicitors then select five subsolicitors and signs them and also assigns them three members each to contact and sign for 1961 membership. In this manner every member should be contacted personally and a great number of the Chamber members will actually be involved in the drive itself.

Chairman Baker pointed out that one advantage to this type of drive is that no person has more than five members to contact, thus minimizing the effort involved. Baker also stressed that the membership must cooperate in this venture if it is to be successful.

Plans fo[illegible]y Day to B[illegible]de at Meeting Thursday

5 Directors to Be Named; Dozen County Agents to Be Guests at Luncheon

The annual meeting of the Northwest Dairy Improvement association, sponsor of Dairy Day in Thief River Falls, will be conducted Thursday afternoon, January 26, at 2 o'clock in the assembly room in the basement of the Auditorium, J. M. Roche, secretary, announced today.

Stuart McLeod, president of the association, will have charge of the meeting, at which plans for the 1961 event will be discussed and five members of the board of directors will be elected.

Present to address the group will be Lou Conlon of Minneapolis, manager of the Minnesota dairy industry committee. Motion pictures of the 1960 Dairy Day also will be shown.

The meeting will be preceded by a noon luncheon in the Rex Cafe, at which special guests will be county agents from a dozen Northwest counties, who have strongly supported Dairy Day each year.

Area Farmers Urged to Join in Dairy Tour and Program Friday

Dairy farmers will have a special opportunity to take part in a complete dairy program on Friday, January 27. A tour of two dairy farms, Bridgeman's processing plant at Thief River Falls, and a speaking program on marketing and dairy research have all been included. The program will include production, processing, and marketing, says Martin Carrico, vice president of the Top-of-the-Nation Dairy association, sponsoring the tour.

The tour will begin on the Warren Gast farm, nine miles west of Fertile at 10 a.m. A group will leave the court house at Thief River Falls at 9 a.m. and all farmers in the area are invited to join the group at this time so rides may be combined. A fine herd of cattle managed under the conventional stanchion system will be observed on the Gast farm as well as feeding and other dairy practices.

The next stop on the tour will be on the Gregory Welland farm, eight miles south, 12½ miles west, one south and one west of Thief River Falls. A larger operation equipped to handle 100 cows will be seen on this farm where loose housing is used.

The group will then come to Thief River Falls where the Bridgeman processing plant will be toured. This will be followed by a Dutch treat luncheon at the Rex Cafe where a speaking program will be conducted.

Low Conlon, manager of the Minnesota dairy industry committee, will speak on dairy products marketing. Conlon is well known in the area for his role in conducting Dairy Days and general dairy promotion. Dr. Ed Fredericks, from the Northwest school at Crookston will also address the group.

The program will be concluded with the annual meeting of the directors of the Top-of-the-Nation Dairy assn.

Dairy farmers, and especially DHIA members, are urged to take part in the tour and the meeting. This is the first attempt to combine all the aspects of dairying such as production, processing and marketing, all of which need to be well understood to have a healthy industry.

Kennedy Takes Oath of Office as President

Inaugural Rites Held ast Friday in Chilly Weather

John F. Kennedy last Friday took the oath of office as president of the United States in an impressive ceremony on a special stand before the new east front of the capitol in Washington, D. C. Administering the oath was Chief Justice Earl Warren. Many local citizens viewed the ceremony on television.

The occasion was marred by 20-degree temperatures and a chilly wind, following a seven-inch snowfall Thursday, making discomfort for the thousands of spectators who sat bareheaded in the stands during the ceremony lasting more than an hour.

Mr. Kennedy was applauded many times during an inaugural address in which he did not mention the "new frontier" of his election but called upon the United States and the world to respond to a new "trumpet summons" to a "struggle against the common enemies of man: tyranny, poverty, disease and war itself."

The address was in the inspirational tradition of presidential inaugurals, a call to the ntaion to "ask not what your country will do for you — ask what you can do for your country."

Also sworn in was Vice President Lyndon Johnson of Texas. Others on the stage were retiring President and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, his vice president, Richard Nixon and Mrs. Nixon; former President Harry Truman and former Vice President Henry A. Wallace. Bad flying conditions in New York prevented former President Herbert Hoover from attending.

The streets were cleared of the heavy snowfall in time to permit the inaugural parade to take place, the line of march including 32,000 persons in addition to bands and floats.

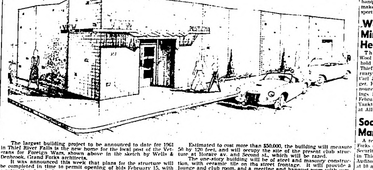
VFW to Get Building Bids



The largest building project to be announced to date for 1961 in Thief River Falls is the new home for the local post of the Veterans for Foreign Wars, shown above in the sketch by Wells & Denbrook, Grand Forks architects.

It was announced this week that plans for the structure will be completed in time to permit opening of bids February 15, with construction to start as soon as weather permits. The building, it is hoped, will be ready for occupancy late this summer.

Estimated to cost more than $50,000, the building will measure 50 by 120 feet, and will occupy the site of the present club structure at Horace av. and Second st., which will be razed.

The one-story building will be of steel and masonry construction, with ceramic tile on the street frontage. It will provide a lounge and club room, and a meeting and banquet room with complete kitchen facilities which can be used independent of the lounge.

State Industries Lag, Speaker Tells C. of C.

Ellsworth Johnson Says This City Has Many Advantages

"Efforts since 1940 to provide industrial employment opportunities in Minnesota are beginning to pay off but are still not keeping pace with the population," according to the guest speaker at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet Thursday evening, January 19.

Ellsworth L. Johnson of Minneapolis, assistant to the president of the Western Land company, a large commercial real estate development firm, told the audience of 200 that the assets of Minnesota insure a sound foundation for the future but that many establisheded industries have not kept pace with the demand for pobs.

"Until 1940, the industries of the state kept pace with the population," he said, "but since then, Minnesota has suffered a loss of its young people to other states. The best of our human output has left the state."

"The state needs ideas and ways to put them into action," he said. "Ideas are not just the property of geniuses and nothing is impossible. A person who says things can't be done will be interrupted by someone doing it."

Johnson pointed out that if Thief River Falls can attract an industry which employs 100 persons, it would create a need for

Governor Sees More Jobs in T.H. 1 Work

Action to accelerate one phase of the highway program and at the same time alleviate some of the unemployment in northern Minnesota was announced Thursday by Governor Elmer L. Andersen. It will regard a trunk highway improvement project on Trunk Highway 1 east of Northome in Koochiching county.

"In order to take advantage of ideal working conditions," Andersen said, "some clearing operations are being moved up so that this preliminary work can be completed well ahead of grading operations which will follow later." The highway department has been attempting to perform this clearing on some 70 acres of heavily wooded right-of-way with its maintenance forces. But because of the limited number of men available, it would not be possible to complete this work this winter. Therefore, it has been deemed advisable to hire additional men from the Northome area through the state employment agency in Bemidji to complete this work before spring.

The highway department proposes to shoulder grade, improve side drainage and place additional base on this section of highway between a point 4.2 miles east of Northome to 14.3 miles east. Considerable difficulty has been experienced on this section due to poor drainage and inadequate base thickness, according to the department, necessitating practically continuous summer maintenance patching.

"This is an excellent indication," said Governor Andersen, "of how governmental agencies can assist in providing needed employment for workers in our distressed areas without the necessity for expending additional funds over authorized budgets. I am hopeful that not only the highway department, but other state departments as well, will continue to develop additional projects which will be beneficial not only to the state but also to its unemployed workers."

THIEF RIVER FALLS

By Eleanor Olson

When I brought "Historic Midwest Houses" by John Drury home from the Library, I presumed it would be houses of outstanding architectural merit. It proved instead to be a collection of 87 houses that had been the homes of men and women who had played important parts in the history of their states and the nation. Many of the houses were unimpressive and ordinary and they would have passed by unnoticed except for their association with historical figures.

Seen in their reflected images as backgrounds to the events of a pioneer era, they and their owners become alive and fascinating. Some of the houses seem strangely incongruous. The last home of Daniel Boone, built of stone by his son, had walnut woodwork and seven fireplaces and seems far removed from the crude cabins of the woodsman who need lots of "elbow room". The clapboard Chateau of the Marquise de Mores seems far removed from the castles of France.

Our own state is represented by the houses of Henry Sibley, Minnesota's first governor, by John Stevens, Israel Garrard, William J. Mayo, William Le Duc, Alexander Ramsey, John S. Pillsbury, James J. Hill, Oliver Kelley and Ignatius Donnelly.

All except the last two became men of means, but it was these two who interested me most. When I read their names I wondered who in the world they were. Oliver Kelley's name rang a faint bell and I found he was the founder of the Grange, but Donnelly was a puzzle.

Ignatius Donnelly was I found, as his name indicates, a colorful character in the pages of our state's history. Gifted and impulsive he put all his dreams into one basket in the little town of Nininger south of Hastings. He hoped it would become the metropolis of the Northwest. But though its promise and industry were considerable, the panic of 1857 collapsed the boom and both its residents and its buildings gradually disappeared.

Donnelly stayed in Nininger to build a house and enter politics. He was elected to the House of Representatives, but he broke with the Republican party and ran for reelection as an independent. On his defeat, he became a lobbyist for Jay Cooke, a Philadelphia banker who, with his partners, had invested heavily in the Duluth area and in a railroad which stretched across the state to Moorhead.

The bill for which Donnelly was lobbying would have given Cooke complete control of all of Minnesota's iron rich land. Thank heavens that was one boondoggling scheme that was voted down. Donnelly returned to Nininger and began to write articles and books for a living. One novel, "Atlantis," went thru 21 editions; another, "Caesar's Column," sold 700,000 copies here and abroad.

As I read about this colorful Minnesotan I suggested to my husband that we try to visit this house on our next trip south. But to my disappointment on reading further I found that it had been razed in 1949. It is a sad thing I think that these irreplaceable landmarks are not being preserved to make history come alive to us and our children. But it is something for which we can blame no one but ourselves. We become so involved in our own daily activities that we allow "progress" to wipe out our links with history. Only after the erasure is made do we realize our loss.

Change of Climate Won't Insure Good Health, Medics Say

Advise Making Prolonged Visits Before Deciding to Locate in New Area

Consider the cost before moving to another climate, the Minnesota State Medical association advises persons who suffer from a respiratory disease or pulmonary disorder.

No pulmonary disease is worth the price of a change in climate if the result means a financial sacrifice or a reduction in living standards.

Persons who are anticipating a change of climate for reasons of health are advised to make a number of prolonged visits to the area before making a permanent move. Preferably, these visits should be scheduled to include all of the seasons of the year in order that the patient can decide just how much would be gained or lost by a change of climate.

Among those who frequently consider a change in climate are persons with pulmonary emphysema. Persons with this pulmonary disorder, described as unnatural expansion and rupture of the air cavities of the lungs, are encouraged to get as much outdoor physical exercise as their breathing will permit.

Persons with a respiratory insufficiency may experience discomfort in elevations which are more than two or three thousand feet above sea level. A hilly site may also cause problems for these persons.

Allergic asthma patients are advised to avoid regions with heavy vegetation, particularly where ragweed is known to flourish.

Look before you leap. Count the cost in terms of income, contentment and possible separation from friends in addition to any possible health advantage.

State GOP Committee Chairmen Are Named

Robert A. Forsythe, Minneapolis, and Mrs. H. G. Dillingham, St. Paul, were unanimously elected to head the state Republican party today at the GOP's convention at Pick-Nicollet hotel.

They will take over chairman and chairwoman posts of the State Central committee to succeed Ed Viehman, Owatonna, and Mrs. Evelyn Heberling, Winona.

Other officers are John Mooty, Edina, first vice chairman; Mrs. Mark G. Brataas, Jr., Rochester, first vice chairwoman; Walter Fricke, St. Paul, second vice chairman; Mrs. Burton Meyers, Minneapolis, second vice chairwoman; W. Earl Williams, Fergus Falls, third vice chairman; Mrs. Frank O. Jones, Fairmont, third vice chairwoman; Mrs. Roy C. Nelson, Duluth, secretary, and Art Ogle, Mankato, treasurer.

Gov. Andersen's address set the tone for the party's drive for strength in Minnesota politics in the coming years.

Viehman bowed out Friday night as party chairman.

The outgoing leader, who over the past two years remodeled the GOP, told party workers that the election last fall of Gov. Andersen, State Treasurer Val Bjornson and six Republican congressmen was proof that an eight-year decline in GOP voting strength has been reversed.

Forsythe was undersecretary of health, education and welfare in the Eisenhower administration and has Andersen's blessing as the new state party head. He formerly served as an administrative assistant to former Sen. Thye and was a strong force in the expansion of the Minnesota Young Republican league.

CHAMBER L.I.F.E.

Living-Industry-Farming-Education

By Rolly Larson
Manager Chamber of Commerce

Yes, those people involved in the planning of the annual meeting were elated at its success. Let's look forward to a very successful year under the leadership of Dr. George Martin, president, and his capable Board of Directors.

This morning membership drive co-chairmen Bob Baker, Sig Quam and Jim Winjum Sr. conducted their blastoff meeting for "Operation Shoot the Moon." This personal contact "multiplier effect" type of membership drive is designed for 100 per cent member participation, thus the name "Operation Shoot the Moon." I hope that each member recognizes his part in this unique drive.

Tuesday morning Gene Gaer, chairman of the retail trade committee, will meet with his group to draw a format of 1961 retail activities. Plans for a Washington's birthday promotion will be discussed. The meeting will be at the Rex at 9:30 a.m.

Director Morris Howick, who is literally tied up in the hospital, expressed his regrets for being absent from the annual meeting and stated that his committee on agriculture will be activated as soon has he can break loose. Good luck to you, Morrie!

Annual meeting of Jobs, Incorporated will be held on the evening of February 22 so all members be planning to attend, please. This will be one of the most interesting meetings you could attend.

State meeting of the Minnesota Chamber of Commerce will be on February 9-10 in St. Paul. One item on the agenda for this year will be a legislative session with Gov. Elmer L. Andersen at the state capitol. Several other specific sessions in addition to organizational management discussion will round out the two-day confab.

We want to say "hats off" to the Crookston, Red Lake Falls, and East Grand Forks representatives who visited our annual meeting. Their presence was greatly appreciated. The visiting nurses from Minneapolis were also welcome guests.

One Minor Weekend Traffic Accident

Richard Underdahl, Rt. 4, In Mishap on E. Third st.

One minor property-damage traffic mishap was reported over the past weekend by city police, spoiling an otherwise quiet period in the city, traffic-wise.

Richard A. Underdahl, rt. 4, told investigating officers he was driving west on E. Third st. near Maple av. about 1 a.m. Sunday when another car drove onto Third from the north in front of his car.

To avoid hitting the other car, Underdahl said, he hit the brakes and the car skidded, going over the curb on the north side of the street, hitting one tree and narrowly missing another before coming to rest.

Police estimated damage to Underdahl's car at $70, while no estimate was given of damage to other property.

No. Central Lines Set Records in '60

North Central Airlines again topped the nation's local airline industry by setting a new passenger traffic record in 1960—becoming the first local airline to carry more than a million passengers in a single year.

"Our 1,035,076 passengers," said Hal N. Carr, North Central president, "represent one-fifth of the total carried by all 13 locals during 1960."

Carr said the figure was an eight per cent increase over the airline's 1959 passenger figure and a new record for North Central and its industry group.

"We expect to better that record this year," Carr predicted. "With the inauguration of new service to Michigan and Ohio, as well as an international route into Port Arthur-Fort William, Ontario, and the addition of more 44-passenger Convair aircraft, we should reach our 1961 goal of 1¼-million passengers."

The Minneapolis-St. Paul-based airline carried 1,051,481 ton miles of cargo during 1960, including air express and air freight, for a 35 per cent increase over 1959. Mail totaled 493,328 tons miles, including air mail and surface mail for an 11 per cent increase.

Since inaugurating scheduled service in 1948, North Central has flown 843,000,000 passenger miles without a single fatality or injury to a passenger or crew member.

Firemen carried or led at least six residents to safety. The others escaped without help.

No one was killed, but four firemen and four hotel guests were taken to Ancker hospital suffering from smoke inhalation. None was reported in serious condition.

The building, which also housed a furniture store and photography studio, was a total loss. Fire Chief Frank Oberg estimated damage at $350,000.

Campaign Sheduled to Be Completed Saturday

Various members of the local Junior Chamber of Commerce will be unwilling custodians of a live duck as the result of a ten-day membership campaign started by the chapter at its meeting last Wednesday evening.

As soon as the member caring for the duck signs up a member, he passes it along to another Jaycee who has not yet signed one. If the bird dies while in the custody of a Jaycee, he will be fined $10. The drive will end Saturday, January 28, President John Eisbrener stated.

The program at last week's meeting was supplied by Ted Kusmak, who showed a film relating to civil defense.

40 Science Teachers Shared in Institute in TRF January 20-21

More than 40 science teachers from as far away as Grand Rapids attended the two-day regional institute at Lincoln high school Friday and Saturday, January 20 and 21, sponsored by the Minnesota Academy of Science under a grant from the National Science Foundation.

According to Lawrence J. Brown, Lincoln high school science teacher and a member of the committee on arrangements, Tom Zenk of Minneapolis Honeywell was the principal speaker at the Friday morning session. Superintendent Marshall Hankerson gave welcoming remarks and Dr. Harold Peters of Bemidji State college presented information on the Minnesota academy.

In the Friday afternoon session, talks were given by three speakers. Dr. William Britton of Bemidji State college spoke on the chemical bond approach in teaching chemistry; Dr. Harold Peterson addressed the meeting on the DNA effect on genetics of man and the probable effects on the individual characteristics of individuals.

Dr. J. William Buchta of the University of Minnesota physics department presented a version of Einstein's theory as related to the scientific approach on solving other problems. He also spoke on the effects of radiation on human beings.

At the dinner meeting Friday evening, Dr. Richard Barnhart, superintendent of schools at Grand Forks, was the principal speaker. Dr. Barnhart spoke on the importance of science today and asked that science not be deemphasized but that the social sciences and humanities be emphasized more.

He said that man can control his material problems but does not control his relationship with his fellow man. "When man is able to control his environment, he will be able to destroy the world either intentionally or accidentally," Dr. Barnhart said.

Prof. J. Donald Henderson of the University of North Dakota spoke on the work of the National Science Foundation and the different programs which have been set up.

Saturday morning and afternoon were devoted to sectional meetings including discussions, laboratory work with demonstrations and closed with an evaluation session.

State Industries Lag, Minneapolis Man Tells C of C

112 more homes, retail sales of $100,000 and other increases in the community wealth.

Attracting industry is not just a matter of luck but is the result of work and planning, according to the speaker. He pointed out that the decision of IBM to locate its $8-million plant in Rochester was the result of a program involving securing an option on property, gathering details about the city and area, creating a proper attitude in people of the area and many other factors over a period of several years.

"Not all communities can attract an industry such as IBM," Johnson said, "but there are 150 *in the state which have aggress*ive programs and which are competing against each other for industries of every size."

He pointed out that Thief River Falls has good transportation facilities, schools, churches, recreational facilities and living conditions with which to attract industry.

"Industry is on the move today," he concluded, "and Minnesota should be attractive."

Preceding Johnson's talk, Donald M. Olson, outgoing president of the Chamber of Commerce, reviewed the Chamber's work in 1960. An entirely new program has been planned for 1961, he said, but the organization, to be successful, must have both the cooperation in work and finances from every member.

Olson said that a survey of progressive merchants showed an increase in business during 1960. Criticism of Jobs, Inc., has been unjustified, he said. He urged everyone to turn out for that organization's meeting in the basement meeting room of the city Auditorium February 22 to make it possible to develop a successful program for the coming year.

Dr. George Martin, Chamber president for 1961, presented the Past President's plaque to Olson for his work during the past year followed with an introduction of the board of directors.

Dr. Martin called the ideas of the women of the community "vastly important" and asked them to pass these ideas on to the city council, county board, school board and the Chamber of Commerce. "You have a lot of good ideas for the betterment of your community," he said. "Why not let these groups know about them?"

The new president said that the Chamber in 1961 will be a "working organization" in which everyone will take part. "If any member does not find his name on at least one committee, pick one now," he added.

Rev. Henry Friedman, pastor of the Community Methodist church, gave the invocation and benediction. Music was provided by Jerry Joringdal at the electric organ. The banquet was prepared and served by the Zion Ladies Aid. Toastmaster for the program was Jarvis Prichard.

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

"We've been fighting small gullies for years," says Charlie Simpson, Waterville, Simpson, a cooperator with the LeSueur County SCD, says he is through with that kind of business now because he has completed 3½ miles of terraces on his farm. He figures his bulldozer-constructed terraces cost him about five cents a foot. Simpson uses a disk plow in order to keep crop residues in the upper plow layer. That helps to conserve moisture and prevent soil erosion.

Weed control and fertility have a lot to do with crop yield, says Donald Hasbargen, Mower county agent. That effect was vividly shown last season in experimental plots on the Neil Shurson farm. Corn fertilized by guess, given no chemical weed control but cultivated three times yielded 45 bushels per acre. Check plots with no fertilizer but an atrazine application for weed control went 64 bushels per acre. And with complete fertilizer and chemical weed control the yield was stepped up to 92 bushels per acre.

"Once a conservationist, always a conservationist," expresses the attitude of Bob Simonson, a farmer in the Redwood Soil and Water Conservation District. Simonson, who started his first soil conservation farm plan in cooperation with the Redwood district in 1955, now rents a farm adjacent to his own. He asked the owner of the farm he rents to bring in help from the Redwood district to establish soil and water conservation practices for the rented land. With the help of soil conservationist Robert J. Feldt, Simonson and the owner are using such conservation practices as a good crop rotation, contour farming, tile drainage, pasture renovation and a livestock watering pit.

TRF Curlers Share in Restricted Bonspiel

Four rinks — Wally Tunberg, Ardell Liden, Leo Nelson, and Bob Kinsman—began play on Sunday afternoon in a "double knockout" restricted bonspiel. In first round play on Sunday, in the 3:00 P.M. draw, Tunberg edged out Nelson, 6 to 5, and Kinsman defeated Liden, 7 to 5.

The Tunberg rink had Cliff Jorde at lead, Curt Swanson at second, Leonard Furuseth at third, and Tunberg at skip. While the Nelson rink had Don Jorde at lead, Reuben Jorde at second, Lloyd Halvorson at third, and Nelson at skip. The match was won on the tenth end when Tunberg's skip rock came in for a counter.

Nelson .... 000 120 011 0—5

The Bob Kinsman rink, with Ken Wiseth at lead, Ed DeLap at second, Kinsman throwing third rock, and Hans Newman throwing the skip rocks, eked out a 7 to 5 win over the Ardell Liden rink in the second match on the 3:00 P.M. draw. The Liden rink had Jerry Amundgaard at lead, Don Liden at second, Ardell Liden at third, and Harold Halvorson throwing the skip rocks.

The line scores:

Liden .... 100 110 020 0—5

In the 8:00 P.M. draw Sunday, the Liden rink, by a 10 to 7 score, defeated the Nelson rink. The loss for the Nelson rink was their second, and eliminated the squad from further competition. The Kinsman rink, shooting very well and casting their rocks with excellent weight, defeated the Tunberg rink, 10 to 4.

The line scores:

Liden .... 102 000 002 2—10
Nelson .... 020 011 210 0—7
Kinsman .... 010 311 120 1—10
Tunberg .... 101 000 002 0—4

Play is slated to continue on Tuesday evening, with the Tunberg rink meeting the Kinsman rink. Kinsman, being undefeated, has also reached the semi-finals in the late draw, and will meet the Liden rink. To remain in contention for the bonspiel title, Tunberg and Liden must win their next matches.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing Mr. Leo L. Haley, VA contact representative, located in Rooms 210-11 in the Grand Forks Postoffice Building.

Q—The VA has been deducting my monthly insurance premium payments from my disability compensation payments. Recently, my compensation has been reduced and will not cover the insurance payments. Will the VA continue to take my compensation and let me mail them the balance due on the insurance premiums?

A—No. Since your compensation will no longer cover your insurance premiums, you will have to pay the total insurance premium direct. The VA will now send you your compensation payments.

Q—As a widow of a World War II veteran, I am receiving a death pension for myself and two children. I realize that, if I marry, I am no longer eligible, but would the children remain eligible?

A—The children will be eligible in their own right until age 18, or, if in school, until age 21, unless they marry earlier.

Q—I did not file a claim for disability compensation when discharged from World War I because I felt my service-incurred disability was insignificant and it was not bothering me. Now, it does bother me, but I have been told there is a one year from discharge deadline for filing a claim. Is this true?

A—There is no deadline for filing a claim for disability compensation. If you file within a year following discharge, your payments will be made retroactive to the date of your discharge. If you file after a year, your payments are effective from the date you file.

Q—My son, a disabled Korean conflict veterans, has recently reached the stage where he needs constant aid and attention and we have decided he should return home to live with us. I understand he is eligible for additional disability payments because of his present condition. If I take care of him, will he be eligible for these payments, or must we employ someone to care for him?

A—It is not necessary that he employ an outsider to care for him. Any capable member of his family may provide these services.

Prowler Quintet Nips EGF; Ninth Win in Row

Gaining an 11-point lead at the end of the first period of play, and getting the bulk of that lead in the final minutes of the period when they racked up four field goals and a free throw to hold a 21 to 10 advantage, coach Jack Junker's rangy Prowlers took command of their district conference basketball game played here Friday night to defeat East Grand Forks, 70 to 48. It was the ninth straight win for the locals this season.

On Tuesday, Jan. 24, on the high school court here, the Prowlers will meet the Halstad Pirates of district 30; and on Friday night, Jan. 27, the Prowlers will travel to Bemidji for a return game against coach Bun Fortier's highly-ranked Lumberjacks.

In Friday night's game here, coach Larry Selk's East Siders played the Prowlers on near-even terms during the opening minutes of the game. With the Prowlers holding a 12 to 10 lead with three minutes of the first period to play, Ron Hanson scored on a jump shot, Harvey Ebbighausen took a pass to score on a lay-up, Hanson looped in a field goal from the lane, and Gary Anderson, breaking up a play in mid-court, dribbled in for a lay-up, and, when fouled on the play, added a free throw to give the Prowlers their 21 to 10 first period lead.

Leading the Prowlers to their 39 to 25 first half margin over the Green Wave was center Ron Hanson, who looped eight field goals and a free throw into the west basket for a 17-point first half production. Hanson added 14 points in the second half for an aggregate of 31 points.

East Grand Forks, having difficulty in sifting through the Prowlers' zone defense, resorted to outside shooting, with fair success. Roger Stennes, who had 12 points on six field goals, scored all of his field goals on outside shots from the corners. The East Side guards, Don Blue and Bob Raymond, proved to be accurate marksmen from just off the free-throw circle, getting 14 of the East Siders' 48 points.

For the Prowlers, in addition to Hanson, getting totals in the double figures were Gary Anderson, with 12 points, and Don Ulferts, with 10 points. Dennis Adair, a hard working forward, led the visitors with 13 points.

Many Took Part in Fishing Derby in Subzero Weather

One lb. 8 oz. Northern Was Largest Fish Caught; R. Hanson Wins Motor

Although the —4 temperature discouraged many ice fishing enthusiasts Sunday afternoon, January 22, many others turned out for the fourth annual fishing derby in Thief River Falls which was sponsored by the St. Bernard's Men's club.

Various prizes were awarded during the afternoon to the oldest and youngest fisherman, to the heaviest fisherman, the one coming the greatest distance to take part and for other reasons.

At 4 p.m., Game Warden Carl Sundstrom announced through chattering teeth that Jim Anderson, 229 Crocker av. N., had caught the largest fish, a northern weighing 1 pound, 8 ounces. A flip of the coin was needed to break the tie for the smallest fish with Morris Roadfelt winning over Jennifer Travnicek. Both had 6 ounce northerns.

Rudolph Hanson, 416 Merriam av. S., was the grand prize winner. Hanson received a 5½-horsepower outboard motor.

It Will Be on Wednesday

The Bums Athletic Association, who are sponsoring the appearance here of several members of the Minnesota Twins of the American baseball league, were fortunate to be able to set back the date of the bean feed one day, to Wednesday evening, 6 p.m., at the American Legion club.

The original date for the "get acquainted" with the Twins gathering was for Tuesday, Jan. 24, but that's the date of the Prowlers vs. Halstad Pirates basketball game here. The association hopes to have a large attendance of young baseball players at the bean feed here on Wednesday, and for that reason they are happy that they were able to get the Wednesday evening "open date".

Tickets for the bean feed are 75 cents apiece, and Wally Grovum states that these tickets are a splendid 75-cent investment.

The Basketball Ratings

Art "Basketball" Johlfs continues to think highly of the potential of the Austin Packers and the Bemidji Lumberjacks according to the latest ratings that we have received.

The "top" twenty of the state's basketball teams are rated in this manner: Austin, Bemidji, Minneapolis Roosevelt, Duluth Central, Minneapolis Southwest, Edgerton, Willmar, Anoka, Thief River Falls, St. Paul Central, Brainerd, Red Wing, Robbinsdale, Redwood Falls, Mankato, International Falls, Montevideo, Alexandria, Richfield, and Gilbert. The Detroit Lakes Lakers, who lost to the Prowlers last week, 52 to 46, but who had previously scored wins over Alexandria and Moorhead, is rated in the 23rd spot. That's too low for coach George Hanson's veteran club.

Incidentally, Johlfs has issued a "40 Points in One Game" certificate to the Prowler's Ron Hanson for his scoring effort against the Crookston Pirates here several weeks ago. And speaking of Ron Hanson, he was named to WCCO radio's first weekly all-state basketball "Team of the Week" as of January 19. He and ten other players who earned spots on the honor lineup were announced on "Prep Parade"; WCCO's weekly sports show which puts the spotlight on high school athletics in Minnesota. These selections are based on nominations from statewide advisory boards of sports editors.

Following is WCCO's complete "Team of the Week": forward, Mike Paterson, Mahtomedi; forward, Andy Hageman, LuVerne; forward, Dick Kasperek, Le Sueur; forward, Dale Brown, Brainerd; center, Ron Hanson; center Gary Nelson, Fergus Falls; center, Merle McClung, Montevideo; guard, Tom Wolfe, New Ulm Trinity; guard, Dave Will, Winona; guard, Ray Tomberlin, Grand Rapids; and guard, Mel Northway, Minneapolis Henry.

The Jack Nielson Sweepstakes

A number of colleges and universities have expressed a desire to have Baudette's all-round athlete, Jack Nielson, as a member of their student body come next fall. And as of Saturday night, Jack had not reached a decision or made any commitments as to the school of his choice.

Nielson was here as a member of the Baudette Bears hockey team, and he was a factor in every Baudette goal as the Bears defeated the Prowlers, 3 to 2. Jack scored one goal, and assisted on the other two tallies.

Nielson is probably the most talented athlete to come out of Baudette high school. Jack is the Region Eight 100 and 200-yard dash champion, and is a point-winner in the broad-jump event. Nielson was named to Ted Peterson's all-state football team this fall, rating the honor as a result of his spectacular running as a backfielder. In baseball, Nielson is a top-notch catcher. And he is a varsity basketball player after the varsity hockey season has ended.

Jack did say, in conversation the other evening, that he intended to specialize in track and football in college. And we judged, from the trend of the conversation, that Jack favors the University of Minnesota. Well, he should be a good one for coaches Warmath and Kelly.

SAILOR ROBERT ANDERSON IN MEDITERRANEAN AREA

Robert C. Anderson, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Anderson of 507 S. Tindolph, Thief River Falls, is serving aboard the attack cargo ship USS Capricornus operating with the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

Baudette Edges Prowler Six 3-2

Coach John Tingstad's Baudette Bears produced a minor upset here on Saturday night when, on Larry Lavasseur's goal at the 6:06 mark of the third period, they scored a 3 to 2 win over the Prowlers in a Region Eight hockey conference game.

The Prowlers will journey to Williams on Tuesday night for a return game against the youthful Wolves. And on Saturday, Jan. 28, the highly-regarded St. Paul Johnson sextet will meet the Prowlers on the Arena rink.

In Saturday night's evenly-matched contest, the Prowlers, on the first of Dennis Erickson's goals, gained a 1 to 0 lead at the 3:47 mark of the second period. The Prowlers held that one-goal advantage until the 11:30 mark of the period when Jack Nielson, after taking a pass from Van Stanley, whipped a hard shot into the long corner of the north goal. Nielson was off to the left of the cage when he drilled his twenty-footer to knot the score.

At 1:31 mark of the third period the Bears moved into a 2 to 1 lead when Ken Grund scored after recovering the rebound of Nielson's hard drive at goalie Tom Teal. The lead was short-lived at the Prowlers, at the 1:56 mark, scored the equalizer when Erickson, on a quick shot from ten feet out in front of the net, slammed in goal after taking a centering-out pass from Keith Poppenhagen.

Then came the game-winning tally for the Bears, with LaVasseur scoring from close in after Nielson had set up the play.

Teachers Sought for Army Posts Overseas

Interviews for teachers interested in positions with the Department of the Army in France, Germany, Japan or Okinawa for the 1961-62 school year are scheduled for February 2-5 at the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' district office in St. Paul is supervising the recruiting, processing and interviewing of applicants from North and South Dakota, Minnesota and Iowa. The St. Paul office last year rated fourth out of 28 similar contact points thruout the country in the number of applicants hired.

Interview hours are 3 p.m. to 9 p.m., Thursday and Friday, Feb. 2 and 3, and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 4 and 5. Interviews will be held in Room 102, Burton Hall, University of Minnesota, FEderal 2-8158, Extension 6841.

For an appointment for an interview, send a postal card immediately to: Teacher Recruitment, Overseas Interviews, 102 Burton Hall, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Persons interested are encouraged to make an advance appointment to facilitate the handling of applications.

The greatest number of vacancies will be for elementary teachers experienced in the primary grades. High school teachers who qualify in two major fields will be needed also.

Preference in selection is given to candidates who appear for the interview and to candidates without dependents, insofar as they are available, since family housing overseas is limited. Married women, women with dependents, and married couples applying as a teaching team will not be considered.

Salary for the instructional staff is $4,435 for the school year with additional increments for a master's degree and for 30 semester hours above the master's degree. Rent-free living quarters and transportation overseas and return are provided by the Government. The tour of duty is one year.

U.S. Fire Losses Hit Peak in 1960

Rise 5.8 Per Cent over 1959 to Total $1.1 Billion

Estimated fire losses in the United States last year rose to $1,107,824,000, the highest dollar amount of loss in the nation's history, the National Board of Fire Underwriters reported.

The 1960 total was 5.8 per cent above the $1,047,073,000 for 1959, and 4.9 per cent higher than the $1,056,266,000 for 1958.

It was the fourth year in a row that fire losses exceeded the billion dollar mark.

The record fire loss total for the last few years in part was due to the greater volume of construction in place, and in part to the rise in the value of both new and existing buildings as a result of the inflationary trend.

The National Board pointed out that, over the years, the loss of property which burns each year in relation to total quantity of goods subject to burning has continued progressively to edge lower.

"Even though 1960 fire losses, as measured by dollars, reached an all-time high, we feel we are winning our battle against fire," said Lewis A. Vincent, general manager of the National Board.

"It is not, however, a fight in which we can afford to become complacent."

Auto Group Boasts 200,000 Members

Agency's Membership Has Tripled in Past 10 Years

AAA membership in Minnesota reached a milestone this month when the 200,000 member mark was passed on the first day of 1961.

On January 1, 1951, membership in the motoring organization was 68,330 in the state. Ten years later to the day, membership had increased by 132,000 to 200,861.

"The biggest growth in AAA membership has occurred among the state's farm population and in small cities and towns," said E. Ray Cory, president of the Minnesota State Automobile association. "About 65,000 AAA members live in rural areas."

Cory attributed the big increase in membership to the importance of the automobile as an economic factor in America.

"The automobile has become a necessity, not a luxury," he observed. "It ranks with the home in relative importance to the average American."

Small Business Agency at Fargo Loans $2,737,000

During 1960, the Fargo branch office of the Small Business Administration approved loans totaling $2,737,600 according to Paul Olander, manager. Dollar amount of approvals for 1960 was nearly the same as for 1959 when the figure totaled $2,958,000. In 1959 loans were made to 57 businesses, and in 1960 loans were made to 71 firms.

Loans were made to help businesses expand, to purchase additional equipment, and to provide for the employment of more persons. Several new businesses received financial assistance from SBA including an auto agency, a feed mill, a cheese plant, a drive-in restaurant, a lumber yard, a meat processor, a nursing home, a bowling alley, and a potato flake processor.

In these cases SBA provided financial assistance which was not available through regular sources of credit. In most of these cases the SBA participated with the local bank in making the loan.

St. Paul Carnival Opens January 27

Annual Winter Spectacle to Continue Thru Feb. 6

A star-studded salute to the 75th anniversary of St. Paul's Winter Carnival will give America the most complete picture it has ever had of how Minnesota's capital city enjoys itself during the winter.

Nearly a hundred television personalities and technicians will portray the Carnival which will be held January 27 thru February 6.

Arrangements completed with TV networks by Walter Dorle, president of the Carnival Association, and Henri Foussard, Carnival general chairman, will enable more than 50 million persons to see the largest winter festival in America's northland.

Among the guests at the reviewing stand will be 400 Minnesota editors who will be honored earlier at a luncheon sponsored by Northern Natural Gas in Hotel St. Paul.

Other events scheduled for the 11-day carnival, which will be climaxed by the opening of "Ice Capades" in a salute to Vulcan, the conqueror of Boreas and the north wind, include:

January 28 — World's largest square dance festival, and preliminaries in the national majorette championships.

January 29—National outdoor speed skating championships, carnival mutt races, world's original ice fishing contest, finals in the majorette contest, and the carnival's annual jazz festival.

January 30—Arrival of Vulcan to challenge King Boreas, and the coronation of junior royalty.

January 31—One of the nation's most elaborate pageants, the selection and coronation of the Queen of Snows.

Change in School Aid Payments Proposed

Rep. Ben Wichterman, House education committee chairman, last Wednesday introduced a bill which would make possible more even payments of school aids to the local districts.

Co-authors with Wichterman are Representatives Peter Popovich, Fred Cina, Ed Chilgren and Victor Johnson.

Wichterman said, "With the good possibility of withholding becoming a reality this session, it will be possible for the state to pay state aids in more equal installments."

At the present time school districts may receive up to 85 per cent of their monies in September, an additional 5 per cent in March and the balance in August.

Wichterman pointed out, "The present plan sometimes leaves school districts with too little money for current expenses. This past year we have seen some examples of this with some schools receiving as little as 20 per cent of the allotment in September. The bill which passed the House on Monday night permitting borrowing up to $90 million will be an additional means whereby school districts will be assured of full payment on time."

Under the Wichterman bill, more equal payments would be made in November, February and May with the balance being paid in August.

"Life is a tender thing and is easily molested. There is always something that goes amiss. Vain vexations—vain sometimes but always vexatious. The smallest and slightest impediments are the most piercing; and as little letters most tire the eyes, so do little affairs most disturb us." —Montaigne

Comendable Restraint

Reports from St. Paul indicate that there is little support among members of the legislature for a pay raise for themselves, and that is encouraging. They already are well paid as a group, considering the few months of the year, every second year, that requires full time service. A few no doubt earn more than they get, but they are a small minority.

The thing that is bad about the legislators voting pay raises for themselves is that it tends to weaken their position in opposing across-the-board pay raises for others. And such pay raises have been coming too often at all levels of public service in recent years.

The Most Deserving

Admiral Hyman G. Rickover has been awarded the distinguished service medal in recognition of the great contribution he has made to the defense of our country, and to its prestige, by his development of the nuclear-powered submarine. This is the highest peace-time decoration the navy can bestow and never was this award made to a more deserving official.

There was much opposition to Rickover's proposals, and his ideas did not receive general approval until the ship he designed proved to be an unqualified sucess. That was just six years ago. Now we have 15 such submarines in the service and 28 more are under construction. In combination with the nuclear-bomb missile, which can be launched from below the surface, these submarines are accepted as among our most effective weapons in a retaliatory attack.

Withholding Coming

It appears likely that a payroll withholding tax will be adopted by the legislature in this session and that will bring to an end an argument that has extended over a period of years. Governor Freeman made it an issue when he proposed the payroll tax without a forgiveness clause. This would have meant the collection of three years of payroll taxes in two years, bringing the state a windfall estimated at $25 million. The opposition centered on the increased taxation that would result rather than on the withholding principle.

There has been opposition to the withholding as such, however. This has been based largely on the nuisance factor in accounting and also the further reduction in take-home pay, adding to the pressure for pay increases.

In support of withholding is the argument that many wage earners do not now file tax returns and that this method of collection will substantially increase the state's tax revenue. The results in the state of New York seem to substantinte this contention.

Withholding will not affect taxpayers who are not on a payroll and it is in this field that tax evasion is the greatest problem.

That College Question

Thomas Hagen and Marvin Campbell of Crookston told Rotarians at their meeting last week why they thought the Northwest School of Agriculture should be made a four-year college branch of the University of Minnesota. This should be done, they said, mainly because the present school is not being used to capacity and enrollment is declining. By charts and projections they presented figures indicating a need for a four-year college in the area. Because the present buildings are no longer serving an essential need they might be better used for college purposes. Meeting with a smaller group at the close of the regular Rotary session, they indicated a willingness to settle for a two-year college.

The gentlemen from Crookston made a good presentation. We do not question their factual material. Some of their projections, however, did not appeal to us as being realistic.

They did not argue that the Crookston community needs a college. On the contrary they accepted a 35-mile zone as a reasonable commuting distance, which means that the Crookston community is already adequately served. The only reason a college should be located at Crookston is because there probably will be some facilities there that would serve for the time being for college needs.

We disagree with the Crookston proposal mainly because we do not believe that northwestern Minnesota needs another college. Some junior colleges probably could be justified. We can understand how a junior college can be integrated economically into a high school operation, making one or two years of basic college work available in the high school curriculum. But a small college, with necessarily small classes and limited curriculums cannot provide an adequate educational service efficiently.

The gentlemen from Crookston thought their proposed college would be well attended because, as a branch of the University, it would be a "prestige" school. The inference was that our two state colleges now serving the area are not "prestige" schools.

We think we have made our position clear on this point. The University is a great school—in Minnesota. Nationally it is recognized as one of the largest schools in the country. We go along with those who believe it is too large and that the administration should concentrate now on making it better rather than larger.

We agree with the gentlemen from Crookston that our state colleges are low-standard schools. We do not believe, however, that the solution for this problem is to build new, high-standard schools. The right solution, surely, is to establish higher standards for the colleges we already are operating. There is no good reason why taxpayers' dollars should be used to operate diploma mills at any level.

The fact that the facilities at the Northwest School may not be needed for their present purpose does not in itself justify the establishment of a new college. Unless there is a need for the college it should not be authorized. The buildings can be put to other uses. For instance, there is a need for more homes for the aged and no doubt other worth-while uses could be found.

But we do need the Northwest experiment station and possibly the present school could be continued on a broader base in the interests of agriculture in northwestern Minnesota. Agriculture is the base of our area economy. Why not explore these possibilities a little more thoroughly?

The American Way

(Memphis Commercial Appeal)

Vice President Nixon presided at the traditional joint session at which results of the election in which he was defeated were announced as required by the Constitution.

He was in fine humor. He was poised. He was friendly.

He conducted himself as the gentleman he is and with such traditional good sportsmanship that House and Senate members spontaneously arose and gave him a standing ovation. It could be that in the years to come he will recall that tribute and find it more pleasing and meaningful than any other pertaining to his public life.

It was something he had earned and none will ever be able to take it from him. It was accurate measure of his stature.

Last Independent

(Winnipeg Tribune)

Cuba's last independent newspaper was forced to cease publication on December 23. The journal Informacion thus joined the long list of newspapers seized by the Castro government—Prensa Libre, Diario de la Marina, Advance, El Mundo, El Pais, Excelsior and others.

There was a bit of grim humor in connection with the seizure. As happened in the government takeover of other Cuban papers, a group of pro-Castro printers denounced the publishers of Informacion as enemies of the revolution. The expectation was that the government would assume control of the newspaper and that they would then become government employes.

Castro crossed them up. He simply halted publication and they found themselves without jobs. Indeed, there seems to be a strong possibility that Castro may do away with all but one of the newspapers the government has seized. It would not make much difference. The Inter-American Press Association points out in its current review-of-the-press-in-the Western hemisphere that the Cuban papers are now all the same and offer their readers only the news and comment the Castro government wants them to read.

Castro is following the classic pattern of authoritarian regimes—the destruction of a free press.

THE ANDERSEN LETTER

from

Elmer L. Andersen

When I was first elected to the state senate in 1949 I instituted "The Andersen Letter" as a means of keeping in touch with constituents. I wanted to let them know what I was doing, and also to interpret the legislative actions as I observed them. People seemed to appreciate the letters as the mailing list grew until it became quite substantial.

During the campaign last fall I started another series, designed to discuss issues and supplement the newspaper accounts. Now begins still another. For some years it has been customary for Governors to send a weekly column to the newspapers. I am happy to continue the custom. I appreciate the generosity of the editors in running it. Not enough appreciation is shown editors for the many public service features they use.

In the first week of our administration the inaugural message was the key item. It is printed. If you would like a copy, please write in. We outlined the need for jobs, payrolls and industrial tax base if we are to have the tax support for the fine institutions and public services that we like to have in our state.

We discussed needs in many fields but the most commented on feature of the inaugural was the conciliatory tone running through it. We made clear our appreciation of the role of the legislative and judicial branches of government as well as the executive, and our intention to respect the prerogatives of each. I believe the legislative session is off to a good start. I'm sorry the budget message cannot be ready before January 24. The legislators are busy already with committee hearings and bill discussion.

This week we'll be in Washington, D. C., to represent officially the state of Minnesota at the inauguration of President Kennedy. During our visit in Washington we will be attending a meeting called by Jeno F. Paulucci of Duluth, chairman of the Governor's Northeastern Minnesota Organization for Economic Development. Mr. Paulucci has invited Senators Humphrey and McCarthy and Congressman Blatnik to discuss with us ways in which we may implement cooperation between state and federal agencies for the purpose of creating jobs on the Iron Range and the northeastern area of our state.

We are optimistic about the program for northeastern Minnesota, a program which will primarily benefit this area but in doing so will contribute to the prosperity of the entire state. The Washington visit also affords us the opportunity of meeting with other Minnesota congressmen to discuss and review how we can better work together to fulfill our obligations to the citizens of this state.

We'll try to keep these letters short. Please be assured that I will be writing them. If there are subjects you want discussed, let me know. I like my new job and thank you for the opportunity of serving as your Governor.

Beer flavored with cinnamon, dates or honey seems to have been ancient Mesopotamia's festive brew! Evidence uncovered by archeologists indicates the beer of 6000 years ago was made of a special bread, flavored with these sweets. After baking, the bread was mashed with barley malt and allowed to ferment. Stored in large vats, it was stirred with long poles.

Green-Hemp Vows Spoken

Carol Annette Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Green of Greenbush, and Ernest Elmer Hemp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Hemp of Middle River, were united in marriage Saturday, December 31, at 2 p.m. in the Faith Lutheran church at Greenbush, with Rev. Richard Snipstead performing the double ring ceremony in the presence of 125 relatives and friends.

Two small evergreens covered with white angel hair and red lights were placed on each side of the altar. Poinsettias and pine boughs made up the centerpiece for the piano. Each pew held a white candle and red ribbon bow.

The nuptial music was played by LaVonne Dalager, friend of the couple, who also accompanied soloist Janice Melby as she sang "Blessed Be the Tie That Binds," "The Lord's Prayer" and "God Gave Me You."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a floor length dress of white Chantilly lace over ice blue satin, with a low round neckline and long pointed sleeves. A rhinestone crown held her fingertip veil in place. Her bouquet was of red roses and pink and white carnations, and bits of holly with white ribbon streamers. The bride chose for her maid of honor her friend, Valerie Stuey. Bridesmaids were Sharon Peterson, and Eleanor Hemp, sister of the bridegroom. They wore identically styled floor length gowns of red corduroy with white chiffon overskirts and bows at the shoulder and rounded necklines and puffed sleeves.

They wore bow type headbands and white gloves. Their bouquets were of red and white carnations and bits of holly with white streamers.

Kenneth Gram was best man and groomsmen were Orrin Green, brother of the bride, and Sylvester Hemp, Jr., brother of the groom. The men in the wedding party wore white dinner jackets and black trousers, bow ties and white carnation boutonnieres.

Both mothers wore blue dresses with black accessories and corsages of red roses and white carnations.

A reception was held in the church parlors after the ceremony. The four-tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom, had been baked and decorated by the bride and her mother. The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Orrin Green and Mrs. Albin Green, sisters-in-law of the bride, while Mrs. Sophia Olson, aunt of the bride of Warroad, and Mrs. Wm. Hemp, aunt of the groom of Bemidji, poured. Waitresses were Alice Brown, Karen Flaten, Mavis Braaten and Elaine Knutson. Dorothy Kalinowski and Gail Hendrickson served the punch. Governor Calls for Excise Tax on More Items

Andersen's Budget Sets 2-year Outlay at $532 Million

A record $542 million spending budget and a recommendation for new excise taxes on new automobiles and telephone and electric bills were submitted to the Minnesota legislature Tuesday by Gov. Elmer L. Andersen.

It was the first half billion dollar budget in state history. The spending proposed for the next two years is 16.3 per cent, or nearly $75 million, higher than amounts voted by the 1959 legislature for the current two years.

The message includes recommendations for higher school aids, increased aid to junior colleges and a plan for property tax relief.

Andersen recommended reenactment of all present taxes and, in addition, imposition of 3 per cent taxes on the gross cost of new automobiles and on telephone, electric and power bills. It would not apply to gas bills.

This would mean a tax of $90 on a $3,000 automobile, a tax of 15 cents on a monthly telephone bill of $5 and a tax of 30 cents on a monthly electric bill of $10.

The governor estimated these new taxes would bring in a total of $49.4 million in the next two years, covering the $39.4 million he estimated would be needed in new revenue plus a $10 million cushion for the revenue fund.

The governor proposed that any sum over this amount in the general revnue fund at the end of each fiscal year be used to provide local property tax relief and said a bill was being prepared to outline a distribution method.

The budget is divided into two parts—general revenue fund and income tax school fund. Planned spending from the general revenue fund—the state's general checking account—totals $260,640,000, up $44.5 million from the current two years. Spending from the income tax school fund would run to $282,086,000, an increase of $30 million.

"Generally this budget pro-

Exchange Teacher at Goodridge Is Speaker at Lions

Miss Margot Wiese from Dortmund, Germany, Gives Her Impressions of U.S.

Miss Margot Wiese of Dortmund, Germany, currently serving as an exchange teacher in the Goodridge high school under the Fulbright scholarship program, was the guest speaker at the Lions club luncheon Wednesday noon.

Miss Wiese, introduced by Harry Simons, program chairman, revealed an excellent command of the English language in discussing her impressions of the United States gained since coming to this country last August.

She said she was glad that her request to be stationed in a small town had been granted, permitting her to become well acquainted with the people, and she was generous in praising the many kindnesses extended to her by Goodridge residents.

Miss Wiese stated that while American and German schools are widely different in some phases, they still have the same general objectives.

Factors that were of particular interest to her, she said, were political campaigns such as were conducted last fall, as well as the extreme mobility of the American people and their friendly ways.

She said the German people were deeply grateful to the American people for their continued resistance to Communism.

Dr. M. D. Starekow, chairman, reported that arrangements were complete for the annual Lions Ladies Night party to be held Saturday evening, January 28, in the Elks club rooms.

Gordon Reierson, in charge of plans for the annual Kiddie Carnival, stated that the only dates not in conflict with high school events are March 3 and March 10, and he indicated that one of these dates will be selected.

Second in Series of Story Hours at Library Saturday

The story hour series at the public library for children of grades 1-3 will continue at 1:00 Saturday with the reading of "The Big Snow," by Berta and Elmer Hader. It goes on to tell what happens to them when heavy snow covers their food supplies.

The Haders are old hands at producing worthwhile children's books. They have been writing and illustrating for children since they were married in 1919. Sometimes one will start a picture and the other will finish it. They work together on story ideas as well.

The Haders live on the banks of the Hudson River near Nyack, New York, in a stone house they are building themselves. The area is heavily wooded and the many small animals who live there serve as models for many of the Hader's drawings.

Miss Kathleen M. Tolan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond T. Tolan of Duluth and Raymond A. Hogenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Hogenson formerly of this city, now of Duluth, were united in marriage Saturday evening, December 17 at the Zion Lutheran church in Duluth. Pastor O. M. Grimsby performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of 125 guests. Baskets of white mums and spiral candelabras formed the setting for the ceremony.

Mrs. Lyle Olson of Duluth presided at the organ for the prelude of nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Louise Erickson who sang "God Gave Me You" before the ceremony and "The Lords Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, approached the altar in a ballerina length gown of tissue satin. It featured a boat neckline in front and a deep V in back with Mary Stuart sleeves that came to a point over the wrists. Accenting the bodice and skirt was a flower applique on the right side. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion net was held in place by a crown of rhinestone and pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white feathered carnations. Her only jewelry was a pair of pearl earrings. The traditional "something old, new, borrowed and blue" along with a penny in her shoe for good luck was carried out.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was the groom's sister, Marion Hogenson, bridesmaid was Elaine Paaverud of Minneapolis, friend of the bride. The attendants were gowned in identical street length dresses of sky blue satin. Their headpieces were a band of blue net and pearls and had a nosetip veil. To complete their attire they wore white satin shoes and pearl earrings. They carried white muffs centered with a red rose, designed and sewn by the attendants.

Colleen Kramer, niece of the bride was flower girl. She was attired in a blue nylon dress with white shoes and gloves and a headband of blue flowers. To complete her attire she carried a bouquet of blue and white feathered carnations.

Raymond Hanson of Duluth was best man and Durwood Amundson of Grand Rapids was groomsman. Ushers were Emil Harbott, Jr. of St. Hilaire, cousin of the groom, Melvin Koski of Minneapolis, a friend, Neil Tolan and Mike DeChambeau of Duluth, brothers of the bride. They were attired in white dinner jackets with dark trousers. All wore white boutonnieres except the groom who wore a red boutonniere.

Mrs. Tolan, mother of the bride, chose a blue taffeta dress with shoes and purse to match for her daughter's wedding while Mrs. Hogenson wore an avocado green lace over beige satin dress with shoes and purse to match. Her hat and gloves were of beige. Their identical corsages were of pink roses and miniature mums.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the Jackson Club with Dorothy Polson and Milly Anderson as hostesses. The bridal table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake which was cut and served by Mrs. Ramon DeChambeau, sister-in-law of the bride. Mrs. William Welsh and Mrs. Clifford Kramer, aunt and sister of the bride, poured. Miss Janice Forsman, registered the guests and the gifts were arranged by Mrs. Emil Harbott of St. Hilaire, aunt of the groom, and Marge Whittaker.

925,659 Non-farm Jobs in Minnesota in 1960

Minnesota nonfarm employment in 1960 averaged 925,659 workers, an increase of 11,501 or 1.3 per cent over 1959, Frank T. Starkey, commissioner, Minnesota department of employment security, announced today. Although nonfarm employment reached a record level this year the 1959-60 employment gain is somewhat tempered by a month-by-month comparison of the two years, Starkey said. In January, 1960, nonfarm employment was approximately 19,000 above the corresponding month of the previous year. By December, however, the 1960 employment level had fallen to 9,000 below the same month of 1959.

"When 1959 employment is adjusted for the effects of the steel dispute," Starkey pointed out, "the 1959-60 employment gain is overstated by approximately 3,000 workers. Between twenty and thirty thousand workers, most of them in mining and manufacturing, were idled by the dispute. As a result, the over-the-year gains in these industries are also substantially overstated."

Employment gains over the year were registered in the following industries: Construction, finance, insurance and real estate, services, and government. The annual increase in government was slightly less than usual but the other industries showed gains in line with their past trends.

The loss recorded in transportation employment was mainly due to the long range downtrend in railroad employment. The lower level of department store activity was reflected in the decrease in retail trade employment.

The year 1960 started out with unemployment considerably below 1959. January 1960 showed 102,300 unemployed compared to 116,000 in January 1959.

As the year continued the level of unemployment in 1960 began to equal and in some months exceed 1959 so that by December unemployment was almost 19,000 above December 1959.

The number of unemployed when averaged out for the entire year showed 76,000 for 1960 and 75,000 for 1959.

Three Pay $100 Each for Drunken Driving

Another fairly routine session of municipal court was held this week, before Judge Stanley Mortenson, with cases brought in late last week helping keep the week's total up to about normal, according to court clerk Patricia Thompson.

Thursday, city police brought in Donald Brekke, city, for fighting. Brekke pleaded guilty and was given a choice of a $10 fine or five days in jail. He served the five days.

Friday, Sheriff Charles Richards had Marvin Freeman, rt. 5, in court on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants. Freeman pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and his license was revoked. On the additional charge of having an open bottle of intoxicants in his car, Freeman again pleaded guilty and was fined an additional $15.

All other cases were heard Monday. Two were brought by the highway patrol. David Borgen, Badger, pleaded guilty to towing a vehicle without brakes which could be applied from the cab of the towing vehicle and was fined $15.

Kenneth E. Eckstein, Red Lake Falls, pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of intoxicants and was fined $100 and his license was revoked. In addition, he was fined $25 for having an open bottle of intoxicants in his car.

The sheriff's office had Gene Boe, Newfolden, in court on a fraudulent check charge, to which Boe pleaded guilty and was fined $15 and ordered to make restitution and pay apprehension costs.

All other cases were brought by city police. Harold J. Harder, rt. 4, pleaded guilty to having an open bottle and was fined $25. Duane L. Nelson, Plummer, forfeited $15 bond on a disorderly conduct charge, while Olaf H. Ryan, city, pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of intoxicants and was fined $100. His license was also revoked.

Mrs. Thompson, court clerk, also stated an error in the Times' municipal court annual report story had some $28 as having been paid out to the sheriff for fines in 1960. The story should have read that the money was paid the sheriff for fees and mileage on late 1959 cases held over to 1960, not for fines.

Governor Seeks OK of $542 Million Budget for '62-63

vides for a continuation of existing levels of state service," said the governor.

"It provides for only those new positions necessary to man and operate new facilities and otherwise where the need for additional personnel could not be denied.

"We have sought to economize. In the months ahead we will personally observe operations in a further efforts to save."

He said he had cut department requests by $30 million.

He listed these as among increases "that could not be denied":

$10,300,000 for operation of the University of Minnesota and $759,000 to finance state college salary adjustments.

$9,600,000 to provide a pay increase of about five per cent for 20,000 employes of the state and the University of Minnesota who are under civil service; also funds for an 8 per cent salary increase for University of Minnesota faculty members the first of the biennium and 4 per cent the second year.

$1,392,000 to cover the cost of removing the ceiling, now $71 a month, on old age assistance and eliminating the top limit on aid to the disabled. This would mean allowances based on need.

He urged that all income tax receipts be reserved for elementary and secondary school aids and proposed that $18 million dollars in state college appropriations and junior college aid, paid heretofore from the income tax fund, be financed from the general revenue fund.

He proposed that basic school aid be increased from $87 to $90 per pupil unit and that districts receiving foundation aid be given a comparable increase. He also suggested that state aid to junior colleges be increased from $250 per student per year to $350 per year per resident student and $400 per year per nonresident student.

The Top-of-the-Nation annual meeting will follow the speaking program.

Lund Tells Rotary of Trip to Europe

Dr. Jacobson Reports on Crookston College Plea

Impressions gathered during a tour of European countries in 1960 were told to members of the Rotary club during the regular Monday noon meeting by Robert J. Lund.

Introduced by Wally Tunberg, January program chairman, Lund gave a brief resume of the trip he and his wife took last year through Finland, Sweden, Denmark, the Netherlands, Germany, France, England and Norway.

The speaker dwelt at some length on the visit in Finland where, he said, the people have a great admiration for Americans and hatred for the Russians after the treatment during World War II.

President Jarvis Prichard asked members who will be taking the International Goodwill tour to Winnipeg February 18 to make their reservations.

Dr. A. E. Jacobson reported to the club on the meeting with representatives of a group which addressed the club January 16 on setting up a four-year college at Crookston.

Dr. Jacobson said that local members were "not sympathetic" to the program proposed by the Crookston men and that the need in this area was for a two-year junior college. This type of institution, he said, would best be located in Thief River Falls.

Adequate facilities are now being provided in this area for those who want a four year college education, he stated, and the necessity is for upgrading those institutions rather than for beginning any others.

Prowler Quint Upsets Halstad Tues. 67-39

Except for a flurry in the opening minutes of the game, when the Halstad Pirates, playing aggressive basketball, managed to tie the score at 10-all, coach Jack Junker's rangy Prowlers maintained control of the game played here Tuesday night to defeat the visitors from district 30, 67 to 39.

On Friday the Prowlers will make the jaunt to Bemidji for a return game against coach Bun Fortier's Bemidji Lumberjacks. In the previous game between the two teams, and which was played here, the Prowlers defeated the Jacks, 48-46.

In Tuesday night's game here, the Prowlers moved into a 10 to 6 lead, but the Halstad Pirates, doing a splendid job in covering rebounds, knotted the game at 10-all when Henry Holte scored on a pair of rebounds.

The Prowlers broke that tie when Ron Hanson looped a field goal into the west basket, and then went on to score 11 points to take a 23 to 10 first period lead.

The Prowlers, having a marked advantage physically over the Pirates, outpointed coach Jerry Mehlisch's squad, 17 to 7, in the second period to hold a 40 to 17 margin at the half-time intermission.

Don Ulferts, who had been limited to a free throw and a field goal in the first half of play, racked up four field goals and a free throw in the third period as the locals moved into a decisive lead. With the Prowlers holding a comfortable point lead, coach Junker inserted the reserves into the game in the late minutes of the third period, and this group continued the fourth period.

Ron Hanson, with 15 points, and Ulferts, with 12 points, led the Prowler scoring, while Nathan (Cactus) Warner, tallying 11 points, was the high point player for Halstad.

200 Persons Attend Sportsmen's Banquet Wednesday Evening

Approximately 200 persons dined on toast moose and beef Wednesday at the annual banquet of the Pennington County Sportsmen's club held at the Eagles club rooms.

A distinguished roster of visitors was on hand to address those at the banquet, including Hjalmer Swenson, head of the fisheries dept.; Dave Vessels of the state conservation dept., who was the main speaker; Jerry Liemandt, firearms safety director, and Billy Gardner, a member of the Minnesota Twins baseball club.

Doug Tegtmeier, sports announcer at KNOX-TV, was master of ceremonies. Also represented at the affair was the Northwest Assn. of Conservation clubs, in the person of its president, Howard Kraemer, East Grand Forks. Jerry Joringdal played musical selections during the program, which got under way at 8 p.m., and also provided music during the dinner.

Club President Loren Borsheim introduced Mayor Orin Green, who gave the welcome address, and Tegtmeier, the M.C.

Liemandt outlined the progress of the gun safety program in the state, saying that in years prior to the program's start in 1955, 42 per cent of gun accidents were caused by youths under 16. Nowadays the percentage is 27 and another problem has arisen, that of parents who are overconfident of their children who have never taken the safety course.

In his address, Swenson cited the progress made to make better fishing for the 1.5 million people who fish in the state of Minnesota.

A total of 45 million pounds of fish are caught annually in the state, with anglers accounting for 25 million pounds, he stated. Anglers spend $1 million for tackle and equipment and the tab comes to approximately $2 per fish per person. About 2½ per cent of the cost is for licenses, Swenson said.

Vessels outlined the water needs in the coming generation, saying that consumption in the state is now 290 million gallons daily, with the figure expected to climb to 5-6 billion gallons daily by 1975.

The growing use of water resources not only poses a problem of where it will come from but how to preserve an ample supply for recreational needs to relax the tensions inherent in such a high-speed society of the future.

Goals of the conservation dept. were also cited by Vessels. A goal of 250,00 acres of wetlands, mostly for game refuges, and 300,000 acres of wildlife lands, mostly for public hunting, has been set. A considerable acreage was transferred from the dept. of lands to the conservation dept. by Dr. George Selke the past year, mostly in northwestern Minnesota.

Billy Gardner, who represented the Minnesota Twins baseball club at the banquet extended an invitation to Sportsmen's club members to attend major league games in metropolitan stadium.

The banquet was served by members of the Eagles auxiliary.

Mercury Dips to —32 Here Tuesday

Average Minimum of —25.4 Past Five Days Recorded

Unofficially, Devils Lake edged out Thief River Falls in Wednesday night's contest for the dubious distinction of being the coldest spot in the nation.

The All-Star Game Controversy

The National Collegiate Athletic Association, at a meeting held last week, adopted a resolution whereby a player, who has graduated from high school and prior to enrolling in college, will lose a year of college eligibility by participating in an all-star game, providing that the state high school league of the state has not approved of or sanctioned the all-star game.

This ruling will vitally affect the annual North vs. South all-star football game sponsored by the American Legion, which has been an annual event in Minnesota for the past several years.

B. H. Hill, the executive secretary of the Minnesota State High school league, has released a statement pertaining to the policy of the league. He said, "I have not received a copy of the NCAA rule as passed, but assume from what I have heard that a boy participating in an all-star game that has not been approved by the State League will be ineligible for one year of varsity competition in schools belonging to the NCAA. It should be clear that the NCAA saw fit to pass this rule; not the Minnesota State High School league.

"The Fifth District American Legion Football game has not been approved, and therefore would require approval to be exempt from the rule. The Board of Control or Executive Secretary would have such authority.

"The Representative Assembly is the legislative group of the League, and would be the only body with authority to approve the game. The Constitution provides that resolutions of such a nature must be introduced by December 1 for action at the March meeting. The long interval of time is established so each member school will have a chance to study legislative proposals, and be able to advise their delegate to the Representative Assembly how they wish to vote. Such a proposal could not be submitted until December 1, 1961.

"The League has traditionally followed the philosophy of major educational organizations in being opposed to all-star competition. It would, however, be presumptious for me to assume the results of such a vote.

"If the News Services wish to inform the public as to the policy of the League on all-star games, the enclosed five-page document should be published in its entirety."

The opponents of the all-star program, and they include such groups as superintendents, principals, accrediting agencies, physical education instructors, Federation of High School Athletic associations, and College Athletic associations, can marshal some strong arguments in support of their opposition to such a program.

Some of the points they stress is that the all-star game program 1) violates educational philosophy for athletics; 2) exploits youth; 3) overemphasis; 4) psychological disadvantage to those selected; 5) psychological disadvantage to those not selected; 6) health and safety; 7) fairness in selection of participants; 8) sports spectacle; 9) commercialized amateur athletics; and 10) recruiting problems.

One of the chief reasons for holding of such all-star games is for the purpose of putting the boys on exhibition before coaches and scouts, both college and professional. Occasionally this leads to boys entering professional athletics that could well profit by a college education prior to making his choice. Boys are often enticed to enter distant colleges primarily because of athletic considerations rather than a rational comparison of the relative merit of college institutions on the basis of academic offerings and standing. The appeal of parents and intimate friends often becomes meaningless compared to the lure of imagined athletic prowess and honor on a distant campus.

We have thought that the State High School League is arrogant and arbitrary in making some of their decisions, but we are in agreement with their viewpoint on the dangers inherent in an all-star game program.

Strandquist Pair Lose Home in Fire

Red Cross Asks Aid for the Gerald Strombergs

While Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Stromberg of Strandquist and four-month-old daughter were visiting relatives at Newfolden, fire swept through their one-story home and destroyed all contents Friday evening.

The fire was first noted by Strandquist residents returning to their homes from a basketball game and was believed caused by an overheated stove.

Marshall County Red Cross has come to the aid of the young couple, securing another house for them to occupy and paying the first month's rent. An appeal has been issued for clothing and household goods to replace those consumed by the flames.

Persons wishing to help may contact Darryl Haugen or Ingvald Rokke of Strandquist or Ralph Larson, Argyle, chairman of the county Red Cross chapter.

St. Paul Johnson Six to Face Locals Jan. 28

Coach Rube Gustafson's St. Paul Johnson high school hockey team will invade the Arena rink on Saturday night for a game against coach Gene Sack's Prowlers. The Prowlers vs. Williams game, scheduled to have been played at Williams on Tuesday night, was canceled because of the cold weather.

Over the years, the Prowlers and St. Paul Johnson teams have engaged in five games, with the results a stand-off. Each team has scored a pair of wins, and one game ended in a 5-all deadlock. In state tournament play in 1951, St. Paul Johnson defeated the Prowlers, 6 to 2, in a semi-finals game. In 1952, the Prowlers defeated the Governors, 5 to 1, in the consolation finals of the state tourney. In 1956, in a game played, Johnson scored a 3 to 1 win over the locals, and that was the only defeat that the Prowlers suffered that season as they went on to win the state title. The 1959 game, played here, was a 5-all tie; and last season the Prowlers marked up an 8 to 4 win, in a game played here.

Drowning Deaths in State Decline in 1960

Minnesota drownings in 1960 were below the average of the past 17 years.

"State waters claimed 132 lives last year, as contrasted to the yearly average of 135.4 drownings," according to Carl W. Moen, chairman of water and hunting safety section, Minnesota Safety Council. Coroners' reports on two victims whose deaths were attributed to heart attacks resulted in a downward adjustment of final figures.

Moen viewed as "most encouraging" the decline in drowning deaths, as illustrated by a statistical summation since the inception of drowning records in 1944:

1954 thru 1960 .. 1,086 drownings
Total drownings past 17 yrs. 2,300
Average per year first 8 yrs. 151.7
Average per year since 1951 120.6

The safety section cited several significant factors which reflect the magnitude of preventing accidental drownings and, in fact, tend to enhance the measure of safety program effectiveness.

In recent years, for example, Minnesota has either led, or was among the top five states nationally, in fishing and duck hunting license sales—two water sport yardsticks giving a measure of the intense concentration of activity on state waters.

The resort business is Minnesota's third largest industry in a state with over 11,000 fresh water lakes of ten acres or more. The tremendous boating boom of the past few years also accentuates the water safety problem.

On the "negative side", Moen deplored the fact that over 30 per cent of 1960 drowning victims were children of 10 years or under. "Many of them were mere tots—five years or less—who had strayed away from their parents for the few fleeting moments it takes to become a water casualty."

Two Marshall Co. 4-H Leaders May Go to Washington

Forum for Volunteers to Be Held in National Capital March 15 to 27

Two Marshall county 4-H adult leaders will have the opportunity to participate in the national 4-H volunteer leaders Forum at the National 4-H Club Center in Washington, D. C., March 15-27.

This is the first volunteer leaders forum to be held and Minnesota is one of the states included in the initial forum, which will provide leaders with a chance to sharpen their leadership skills through lectures, discussion with leaders from other states. It will also focus attention on citizenship in action and renew a dedication to 4-H club work. Leaders will also have a chance to broaden their horizon of 4-H club work.

The Marshall county 4-H Federation will assist one or two leaders attending from the county by contributing $70 to the cost of the forum. The total cost will be $135 which will cover costs of meals, lodging and transportation. This will not include personal expenditures and sightseeing trips, however.

This opportunity is limited to two people per county. They must be adults. It can be two adult leaders but if two adult leaders do not attend then it may be an adult leader and his or her spouse. Marshall county extension office would like to know before February 20 if any adult leader is interested in attending.

Mailing of notices of 1961 unemployment compensation contribution (tax) rates on Minnesota wages will be delayed this year, Frank T. Starkey, commissioner, Minnesota department of employment security, announced today. Ordinarily mailed to employers January 31, Starkey said the notices will be later because of the possibility of legislative action to revise the tax structure. The deadline for filing of voluntary contributions by employers is April 30.

"There is no way of determining at this time just when the notices will be mailed," Starkey said. "However, regardless of what takes place in the legislature, the department will notify employers in time for them to make their decisions on voluntary contributions and meet the April 30 deadline."

Under the Minnesota employment security law contribution rates become final 30 days after the department mails the rate notices.

Wildlife Coming Thru Winter Well

Absence of Heavy Snow Is Beneficial to Deer

Wildlife populations are coming through the winter in good shape, according to Dave Vesall of the Department of Conservation's game and fish division.

Vesall explained, "The absence of heavy snow has enabled deer to move about and browse freely. This has prevented the 'yarding' situation where deer concentrate in areas offering favored cover and food types—sometimes in such great numbers that they may exhaust sources of food. Deep snow prevents the deer from moving out into other areas and starvation may result."

"Unless we have some very unusual weather conditions, we feel that the deer are over the danger period for this winter," he said.

"Reports from field personnel indicate that the pheasant and other upland game birds are also finding the present mild winter to their liking," he added.

Change Made in Social Security Rules January 1

About 25,000 parents working for their sons and daughters in a trade or business will be covered for the first time under social security. The 1960 amendments to the social security law makes no change in the provision which says that work performed by a parent in the home of a son or daughter is not covered by social security and, therefore, cannot count toward the payment of social security benefits. Work that a parent does for a son or daughter in a trade or business is covered beginning January 1, 1961 if a bona fide employer - employee relationship exists.

List Highway Dept. Winners in Safety

Four maintenance districts and four construction districts of the Minnesota highway department have been named as winners of the "Governor's Safety Award" plaques for 1960, L. P. Zimmerman, commissioner of highways, announced today.

The awards are attained by outstanding performances in both industrial and motor vehicle safety. This is the first year that the construction districts have been included under the "Industrial Safety Contest" with maintenance districts.

Three district offices won first place awards in both categories of industrial and motor vehicle safety.

Maintenance district 16, with offices at Windom, placed first with a record of no lost time industrial accidents during 156,252 hours worked. The district's 88 drivers had no traffic accidents charged against them during the entire year. Windom offices have taken top honors in traffic safety in five previous years.

Construction districts 2 (at Bemidji) and 8 (at Willmar) also placed first in both categories. The two districts had a total of 235,210 man hours without time lost thru industrial accidents, and their total of 88 drivers were not involved in a "preventable" accident.

Other first place winners in industrial safety were district 3 at Bemidji; Construction district 7 at Mankato, and Construction district 8 at Bemidji. The personnel of the Bemidji offices posted a combined total of 258,419 hours without a lost-time accident.

There were only 58 chargeable accidents against the 2,389 drivers of the 17 maintenance and nine construction districts. A total of 7,035 days were lost from industrial injuries with a total of 5,906,012 man hours worked. One fatality accounted for the loss of 6,000 of the 7,035 days lost.

The award plaques will be presented to district offices, and personnel at a series of safety meetings during April. Harry A. Sieben, State Safety Director, will present the plaques, and George A. Meskal, maintenance engineer, will present individual awards to employes.

"The longer I live the more my mind dwells upon the beauty and the wonder of the world. I hardly know which feeling leads, wonderment or admiration."

But We Survived

Richard Wanek in his column on state government in the St. Paul Sunday Pioneer Press, reminds us that Governor Theodore Christianson probably used his veto power more often and more effectively than any other Minnesota governor. He served as governor in the 'twenties at a time when economic conditions were not good in the state. He was elected on an economy platform and he made a sincere effort to keep his campaign promises.

At that time a million dollars was a lot of money. The appropriation bill for education that he vetoed, providing for state aids for schools and for University maintenance, totalled only $21 million. A new bill, omitting some of the items to which "Economy Ted" had objected, was passed and approved.

In the six years Christianson served as governor he reduced appropriations only about $4 million by his vetoes, according to Wanek. The threat of a veto probably was responsible for a much larger cut in spending.

At that time many good citizens were sure Governor Christianson was doing irreparable damage to our state. But we survived.

Paying for Highways

Congress is confronted with the choice of extending the time limit for the completion of the interstate highway system or increasing taxes to provide the additional revenue needed to maintain the present schedule. The present target date for completion is 1972.

As far as we know that date has no special significance, and whether the job is finished in 1972 or '75 or '82 is not a matter of life or death. The important thing to consider, as we see it, is how much we can afford to tax ourselves for all of our highway development program, and what portion of the total of our road-user revenue we should set aside for the federal system. Other roads are important too.

The tax-writing committees of Congress will have before them a report on highway-user taxes that should be helpful to them in spreading the costs equitably. This report is the result of a study made by the Bureau of Public Roads, requested by Congress several years ago.

According to a Bureau report, this study shows that heavy trucks and truck-trailer combinations should be paying a bigger share of highway costs. This supports the position of those who have maintained the extra cost of building highways capable of handling extra-heavy tonnage should be charged to the extra-tonnage vehicles.

But let's keep our road building on a pay-as-we-go basis. The road problem will always be with us, and building roads with borrowed money, now that we are out of the mud, would be unfair to the road builders of tomorrow.

Peaceful Transition

There has been much favorable comment on the manner in which the business of government has been transferred from the Eisenhower to the Kennedy administration. According to James Reston of the New York Times, the transfer of power has been achieved, "with more civility and common sense than ever in living memory." Reston makes these interesting observations:

"Despite the closeness of the election, there has been less friction and bitterness than anybody expected, and this says a great deal for the essential unity of the American people and the stability of their political institutions.

"In no truly democratic country in the world is there such a sharp contrast between the lives of the defeated and the lives of the victorious. In victory, Richard Nixon is the leader not only of the nation, but the whole free world; in defeat, he is a lawyer outside Los Angeles.

"It is a cruel system. Maybe not as cruel as in Russia, where a man who loses power may lose his head, or in Latin America, where the defeated candidate often loses his homeland. But it is cruel enough to bruise men's souls and debase their reason.

"If this has happened this time, however, it is certainly not apparent. President Eisenhower has been a model of courtesy and generosity. Vice President Nixon has slipped into the shadows with dignity and even good humor. And Sen. Kennedy has moved with great sensitivity to bind up the wounds of the campaign.

"It is not only that the practical obligations of the transition have been met. The files of the old administration have, of course, been opened to the new, but the spirit of the whole thing has been admirable in every one of the departments, and the new cabinet has been treated on Capitol Hill with elaborate courtesy.

"Kennedy has not only avoided extreme partisanship or ideological alignment in picking his cabinet, but has paid attention to important human details which make disappointment tolerable.

"He called on Nixon. He paid his respects to Presidents Hoover and Eisenhower. He reassured the financial community and the business community by inviting Douglas Dillon and Robert McNamara into his cabinet, and he filled the sub-cabinet posts with distinguished men regardless of their political affiliations.

"As a result, an interesting thing has happened. The mail reaching the capital now is full of letters from Republicans testifying that they feel much better about Kennedy's victory today than they did two months ago, and the president-elect is thus approaching inauguration day with a larger margin of support than when elected."

A Canadian View

In commenting on the retirement of President Eisenhower, the Winnipeg Tribune points out that there will be many attempts, "to evaluate his performance, to decide whether he was a strong or a weak president, to estimate whether the United States and the Western Alliance moved ahead or slipped back during his term of office." But the Tribune points out that, "the man and his era are too close to be judged objectively, and the ultimate results of his attitudes and policies are still unknown." The Tribune concludes:

"Without attempting such risky ultimate judgments, Canadians can appreciate what Mr. Eisenhower has meant to Canada and his concern for good relations between our two countries.

"It is impossible to tell how often, in the internal workings of the United States government, Mr. Eisenhower imposed restraint on those who would have followed policies injurious to Canada. We do know that his voice and influence was often used to reduce the ill effects of tariff, quota and other policies on the Canadian economy.

"His term as president was also an era of co-operation on major projects. The St. Lawrence Seaway had been discussed for decades but it was under Mr. Eisenhower that the political and economic hurdles were cleared, the project begun and finished.

"The signing of the Columbia River treaty in the last week of his presidency was a symbol that the same co-operation continued to the end.

"Relations between two countries as closely joined as Canada and the United States are never completely smooth. Irritations develop on both sides. But it can be said of Mr. Eisenhower that the policy he followed was the one he promised in a speech in Ottawa a few months after his election, a policy of 'patience and co-operation'.

"Whatever the strains of living in this North American neighborhood, whatever international leadership, Canadians have retained a great affection for Mr. Eisenhower. This affection now goes with him as he retires from the presidency."

Flabby Youth?

The American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation issued a statement recently charging that American boys and girls are "physical softies". It stated that in terms of overall physical fitness, "they fall shockingly below the youth of other nations."

The conclusions were based on actual tests, according to the report, which stated:

"The comparisons are shocking. They cannot be lightly regarded or glossed over easily. They should provoke serious thought and stimulate universal organized action before it is too late. They reveal . . . that the rapidly changing mode of American life is leaving its imprint on the basic physical fitness of American youth."

Which prompted the Wall Street Journal to remark:

"Flabbiness doesn't afflict the younger generation only. Nor is it just a matter of muscle. If his elders are really bent on toughening up Junior, they might begin by emptying his head of the notion that he doesn't have to worry, someone will look out for him. After all, if Dad will clear the driveway today and Washington will clear life's path tomorrow, why sweat?"

Minding Our Own Business

We like the following observation by the Financial Post of Toronto, Canada, suggesting in a nice way that our efforts to solve the domestic problems of our neighbors might be more effective if we first put our own affairs in good order. Says the Financial Post:

"'At some point,' says a U.S. news magazine, 'you quit compromising on policy and put your foot down. That, close associates reveal, is a key to the way incoming Secretary of State Dean Rusk will handle questions such as Algeria . . .'

"Just as a matter of interest, what what formula will guide Gen. de Gaulle's foreign minister in handling questions like segregation in Georgia? And when will he put his foot down?"

This comment is not a criticism of our new Secretary of State, who, up to this time, certainly has made no unwise commitments. It is a proper rebuke for the unnamed reporter who presumes to make Dean Rusk's decisions for him.

from

Elmer L. Andersen

A few nights ago a car containing four high school students sped down a highway near St. Paul, crossed over the double center line and struck a car containing three college students. All seven young people were killed. You have read about it, and I am sure were as shocked as I was.

It struck very close to home for me and my family because the three college students lived in our neighborhood. The mother of one is employed at our neighborhood drug store. Our children have known the other two.

We are determined to do everything humanly possible to cope with this insane slaughter on our highways that set a new record of lives lost last year and is continuing unabated into 1961.

We have asked every high school in the state to hold a memorial assembly on traffic safety, directed at this one accident that took seven lives, and intended to bring home to our young people the tragedy that can reach them through highway accidents.

This will be the first in a greatly intensified and continuing effort to reach our people, young and old, with education and preventive programs hopefully to condition them against the law violations and carelessness that are so often at the base of these accidents plus developing a quickened sense of caution against violators who take innocent lives.

We commend the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. on its driver safety education program built around the theme of "Preventive Driving" which leads their drivers to have a safety or buffer zone of established standards between their vehicle and others. Other business and professional organizations would do well to study the Northwestern Bell program.

We would particularly ask pastors, priests, and rabbis to redouble their efforts in sermons, prayers, and pastoral counseling to firm up moral responsibility of all drivers.

We commend the media, the newspapers, the radio stations, and the television stations for the generous use of their facilities to extend safety messages and develop helpful programs. We would urge all wholesalers and retailers of liquor and beer, on sale and off sale, to redouble their efforts to eliminate deceptive buying of beer and liquor by people under legal age, and their customers driving when not in a condition to do so.

I would ask every law enforcement officer to be particularly alert to any illegal sale of liquor, to enforce closing and curfew hours rigidly, and to obtain greater local enforcement effectiveness through additional personnel and equipment.

We have asked the legislature to consider a number of measures that would help. These include reexamination on renewal of license, the implied consent law which would permit checking alcohol content in the blood to establish drunken driving charges, a motor vehicle inspection law, mandatory driving instruction in our schools, increasing highway patrol personnel, and still others. I am sure legislators like to know what their constituents feel about these proposals.

Fundamentally, traffic safety depends on the peronal responsibility of each driver and his willingness to obey the laws and be considerate of others. If we are careful to grant the other driver his rights and be even willing to yield our own if necessary, we would begin to have the attitude around which safety can be built.

Just think, in its relatively short life the automobile has taken more lives than all the wars our country has been engaged in since Lexington and Concord. It is not necessary that this continue. If every Minnesotan dedicates himself and herself to correcting this situation, it will be done.

25 Pct. Bigger Turkey Crop Seen for State

Minnesota is expected to entrench itself more firmly as the nation's leading turkey producing state this year with growers increasing production 25 per cent.

Growers intend to raise a record 18,021,000 turkeys in 1961 compared with 14,417,000 last year, they told the state-federal crop and livestock reporting service earlier this month.

The turkey crop will be up, too, in North Dakota and South Dakota. North Dakota producers intend to raise 18 per cent more turkeys with a total crop of 989,000 birds while South Dakota farmers plan to raise about 1,109,000 turkeys, an increase of 21 per cent.

Minnesota's 1961 crop will consist of 9,099,000 heavy white birds, an increase of 33 per cent; 7,242,000 heavy bronze turkeys, up 20 per cent; and 1,680,000 Beltsville Whites and other light breeds, up 9 per cent.

The biggest increase will come in the two-way heavy white turkeys. The survey showed that 45 per cent of this type of bird last year were sold as fryer-roasters with 55 per cent raised to maturity. Most of the light breed turkeys also were marketed as fryer-roasters.

Nationally, turkey growers expect to increase production 20 per cent and raise an estimated 99 million turkeys.

Actual numbers raised, however, may vary from the January intentions depending on growers' reactions to production reports, price of feed, supply and price of hatching eggs and prices received from sale of birds over the next few months.

GOP to Honor Gov. Andersen Feb. 1st

$100-a-plate Dinner Set in Minneapolis Auditorium

Next Wednesday, Feb. 1, at the Minneapolis Auditorium, Minnesota Republicans will gather for their annual $100-a-plate banquet to honor Governor Elmer L. Andersen and to attempt to replenish the party treasury.

In addition to the governor, the guest speaker will be Rep. John W. Byrnes of Green Bay, Wisconsin, one of the most outstanding Republican lawmakers in Washington.

Dinner chairman, Wilbur Bennett of St. Paul expects to top last year's record when slightly more than 2,800 tickets were bought.

The banquet will stress 1961—Year of Preparation for Victory in 1962. The theme will be an All-Minnesota motif, with everything having a home grown, state flavor from the courses on the menu to the entertainment.

Perceding the dinner which is scheduled for 7 p.m., there will be a private reception at the Leamington Hotel's Hall of States at which time Governor and Mrs. Andersen will greet all banquet guests. The reception begins at 5:30 p.m.

Rep. Byrnes, 46, is chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee, considered the GOP's top expert on tax matters and revenue, member of the powerful ways and means committee, and rated one of a dozen key men in Congress by the New York Times.

WILDLIFE in Minnesota

Note: This week's column is written by Dr. John Moyle, supervisor of the section of research and planning.

Offhand, chemistry and game and fish may seem a long way apart. But they are not, and our chemist, Al Farnham, is busy all day long with his bottles, flasks, burettes, spectrophotometer and other tools of the chemists' trade on special game and fish jobs. You willl find him in a small but well-equipped laboratory in the basement of the Centennial building — a quiet spot compared to the general Game and Fish office on the third floor.

What does he do? Well, you may be surprised at the number of wildlife activities on which a chemist is useful. First, Al is primarily a water chemist. Thru the lab pass hundreds of half-gallon jugs of water that have been collected from lakes, ponds, and streams. These are brought in by survey crews who are trying to find ways to produce more fish and ducks on our waters. Water is not just water but contains many dissolved substances, all of which have their effect on the animals and plants that live in it. Analyses are made for such things as carbonates, sulphates, phosphorus, nitrogen and iron.

Did you know that the water of the deep clear lakes of the northeast have only about one-tenth the concentration of dissolved substances as our southwestern lakes? Water chemistry often determines the kinds and numbers of fish these waters will raise and the kinds of water plants that will grow in them. Lake trout, for example, do best in waters low in phosphorus and nitrogen. Wild rice will not grow in water high in sulphate or alkali salts. Sago pondweed, one of our best duck foods, does not grow well in very soft waters.

Then there are the walleye rearing ponds. Each year the soil from the bottom of these ponds is analyzed to determine how they should be fertilized. This is mostly a matter of determining the amount of organic material in the soil, for walleye fingerling production is closely tied to the amount of black organic material in the pond bottom.

Many Minnesota fish lakes are shallow and in winters of heavy snow there is danger of winterkill because of a deficiency of dissolved oxygen in the water under the ice. At such times analyses are run on the spot for dissolved oxygen by field men in the section of fisheries. If the oxygen is low the lake is opened to "promiscuous fishing" so as many fish as possible will be taken before it "freezes out". Here the chemist also has had a hand for he prepares the carefully standardized solutions that are used in the analyses.

And there are many other jobs for the chemist. What happens to the copper sulphate that is added to some lakes to control the growth of algae that cause green scum? The chemist's answer is that it ordinarily precipitates or settles from the water in less than a day. Then there are the troubles that minnow dealers have in holding fish. Sometimes there is too much iron in well water and not enough oxygen. Or it may be that copper pipes should not be used. Sometimes the tank aeration equipment is faulty and too much ammonia or carbon dioxide accumulates in the water.

Then there is the housewife who calls up to say that when she put city water in her aquarium the fish all died. The answer, if the water has been chlorinated, is to add 20 grams of sodium thiosulphate per 100 gallons of water. This is what we used to do at the State Fair to hold display fish before we got a well. There are also such chemical problems as pollution investigation and chemical control of the snails that harbor swimmer's itch.

Coming up are even more complicated chemical problems. We are interested in the effects of the so-called "trace elements" on the productivity of our waters and wild lands. Elements such as cobalt, copper, zinc and the practically unpronounceable molybdenum (try it) are essential for life yet are present in very small amounts. Possibly some of our waters are deficient in these elements just as some lands are. This is why stock men use "mineralized" salt. We don't know about this and we won't know until the chemist has a try at it.

A Boy Says Grace

"I thank thee, Father, for this food."

There is something very touching about a child saying grace. You feel that here is a small person who is really in communion with God. His earnest face filled with utter trust breathes the real spirit of thankfulness. He feels what he is saying.

And yet a prayer of thanks does not come naturally to a child. Just as he is taught to feed himself and brush his teeth and tie his shoe laces, so he must be taught to pray. Not taught exactly—but shown. He must be made aware of the loving Father's care.

Send your child to church school—take him to Church. There he will learn to recognize the presence of God in his life and to be grateful for the many blessings showered on him daily.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Home, Possessions Lost in Fire

Friday evening after the basket ball game, a fire alarm was sounded when Andrew Boen discovered the home of his neighbor, Gerald Stromberg, was burning. Evidently it had started from an over heated stove. The young couple had taken their infant and gone out to the parental Krist Hjelle farm. The Red Cross, of which Ingvald Rokke is our local chairman and Daryl Haugen is area chairman, are assisting these young people who have lost everything for establishing a home. They carried no insurance. I'm sure a good many have extra funiture, clothing or appliances they would be glad to contribute. The house was formerly owned by Adolph Johnson but was purchased by Mrs. Nannie Lefroth. The Strombergs have made arrangements to start anew in the Gust Onger house, formerly Swan Oosin's home.

Top of Nation Dairy Tour Is Attended by 60

Martin Carrico of Hallock Is Elected Association Head

Two different methods of cattle feeding were inspected by 60 area dairy farmers and others interested in the dairy industry during the annual dairy tour and program Friday, January 27, under the sponsorship of the Top-of-the-Nation Dairy association.

At the Warren Gast farm west of Fertile, the group saw a herd managed under the conventional stanchion system. The registered Holsteins had a production average of 467 pounds of butterfat last year and a 12-year average of 462 pounds. Thirty-one cows and 15 head of young stock is fed from 20 acres of green chopped alfalfa and 18 crop acres in pasture.

The second farm was that of Gregory Welland, southwest of Thief River Falls which practices loose housing of its herd. The 57 cows in milk have a herd average of 400 pounds and are fed with a lazy susan from the silo.

Following the tour, the group visited the Bridgeman Creameries processing plant and had a Dutch treat luncheon at the Rex Cafe.

Paul Stelmaschuk, Pennington county agent, was in charge of the afternoon session in the basement meeting room of the city Auditorium. Dr. Edward Fredericks of the Northwest school in Crookston, who was scheduled to speak, was unable to attend.

Stuart McLeod, president of the Northwest Dairy Improvement association, gave a brief talk in which he complimented the farmers for the good attendance and for the large number of young farmers who had taken an interest in upgrading their herds through better practices. He also commented on the growing respect of the public for dairy farmers and the dairy industry.

Principal speaker at the session was Lew Conlon, manager of the Minnesota dairy industry committee. Conlon said that the Top-of-the-Nation sale was the only production sale in the state and emphasized the importance of consigning good cattle for the sale. He also announced that the presentation calf to be presented at Northwest Dairy Day this year

General Public, as Well as Shareholders, Urged to Attend and Hear Plans

Local citizens interested in the progress of the county fair were reminded today that the public is invited to attend an open meeting of shareholders of the Pennington County Agricultural society, sponsor of the fair, Tuesday evening, January 31, at 8 o'clock in the assembly room in the basement of the municipal Auditorium.

The purpose of the meeting, said Albert Koop, president of the fair board, is to discuss proposed legislation being sought by the board of directors of the society to increase its financial stability, and to explain the plan worked out at the recent annual meeting.

Tuesday's session, Koop said, has been arranged at the request of some of the shareholders who were not present at the annual meeting.

Parked Car Hit Saturday Night

Never a weekend passes without at least one report of a minor traffic mishap, so it seems, according to police.

There were no serious accidents but Orrin Benson, city, was the unfortunate owner of a 1961 Chevrolet that was bumped by some unknown person while it was parked on Red Lake boulevard Saturday night.

Police said an estimated $80 damage had been caused to Benson's car.

Redistricting Bills Proposed in Legislature

Pennington County Would Be Part of Enlarged 6th Dist.

The first tentative lines have been drawn for a battle that probably will not be over until the end of this session of the Minnesota Legislature.

The battle is one that will be fought over the Congressional redistricting made necessary by the fact that the 1960 census showed Minnesota had grown less than some other states.

Two bills have been introduced to divide the state into eight instead of nine districts. One is by a conservative and one by a liberal, and while they may not necessarily represent conservative and liberal positions, they illustrate the political aspects of the problem.

The first proposal, by Sen. Chris Erickson, Fairmont conservative and chairman of the Senate Elections Committee, puts Republican Rep. H. Carl Andersen and DFL Rep. Fred Marshall in the same district — a district made up largely of counties now represented by Andersen.

The second, by Rep. Peter Popovich, St. Paul liberal, would have Anderson and a Republican colleague, Rep. Ancher Nelsen, in the same district.

Andersen now represents the 7th district, Marshall the 6th. Their home counties, Lincoln and Meeker, both would be in the 7th under the Erickson bill.

In the Popovich proposal, Nelsen's home county, McLeod, and Lincoln county both would be in the 2nd District.

Both proposals are likely to undergo many changes before being approved by their respective houses and the likelihood is that the final measure will be written by a conference committee.

The two bills agree on five of the eight districts, the 3rd, 4tb, 5th, 6th and 8th.

The 3rd District would be composed of Hennepin county outside the city of Minneapolis and Anoka county; the 4th, Ramsey and Washington counties, and the 5th, the City of Minneapolis.

Making up the 6th would be Kittson, Roseau, Lake of the Woods, Marshall, Beltrami, Pennington, Red Lake Polk, Norman, Mahnomen, Clearwater, Clay, Backer, Wilkin, Otter Tail, Hubbard, Cass, Wadena, Crow Wing and Morrison counties.

In the 8th would be Traverse, Grant, Douglas, Big Stone, Stevens, Pope, Swift, Lac qui Parle, Chippewa, Kandiyohi, Yellow Medicine, Renville, Todd, Stearns, Benton, Sherburne, Meeker, Lincoln, Wright and Lyon.

3 St. Paul Youths Charged in Theft

Took Bedding in Roseau and Clothing in TRF

A call from the Roseau police department Saturday on a complaint that bedding had been stolen from a Roseau hotel resulted in the arrests here of three St. Paul juvenile boys.

The youths had apparently come up to watch the hockey contests between northwest teams and St. Paul Johnson high school and when leaving the Roseau hotel, had taken the bedding. They were not with or in any way associated with the St. Paul Johnson team, police emphasized.

A check by local police located the car here and the three were apprehended, not before they had taken items from clothing stores in Thief River Falls.

According to police a juvenile petition for appropriate action by St. Paul authorities was filed and the youths were released to return to the state capital.

The Newfolden club had learned earlier that the local club's Ladies Night was to be held the same evening and made extensive plans for crashing the party. They brought with them a crate of six live Leghorn chickens which they presented, with much fanfare, to the local Lions.

Other guests at the party were Dist. Gov. E. S. Taunton of the Riverside Lions club in Winnipeg, International Counselor Ben Jansen of the Hallock Lions club, and Carl Olson, cabinet secretary of Karlstad.

Ann Myers-Neal Paulson Exchange Vows Recently

Altar decoration of pink carnations, white pompoms and mums backed by palm leaves, a white archway with clusters of pink roses and altar candelabra, provided the setting for the marriage of Ann Kathleen Myers of Minneapolis to Neal Peter Paulson of this city in the Assembly of God Tabernacle here. The bride's father, Rev. H. M. Myers, assisted by Rev. Waldo Trask, performed the double ring ceremony, December 30, at 8 o'clock p.m.

The pianist, Gloria Carlson of Minneapolis, provided the traditional nuptial music with Delaino Blazer singing "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Promise Me." "Together" was sung by Boni Morehart and Alvin Sherwood as the couple knelt at the altar.

The bride, entering on the arm of her father, preceded down the carpeted aisle, graced on either side by four large palm trees. Her father then took his place at the altar to perform the ceremony. The bride was attired in a floor length gown of white satin brocade, woven in flower design. A long sleeved jacket was buttoned at the wrist and the bouffant skirt fell from a princess waist into soft pleats in the back, forming a chapel train. A pearlized orange blossom crown held in place a finger tip veil. Her bouquet was of a white orchid, surrounded by white pompoms and carnations, accented with pink sweetheart roses and white stephanotis.

Carole Jeanne Myers of Minneapolis, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor with Lorraine Paulson of this city, sister of the groom, and Esther Hanson of Minneapolis as bridesmaids. They wore identical ballerina-length dresses of dark blue velveteen with three-quarter length sleeves. They carried white furry muffs with head clips in their hair, bouquets of pink and white carnations and pompoms, accented with white stephanotis, the maid of honor having pink sweetheart roses added to hers.

Serving as best man was Charles Randal Myers, brother of the bride, with groomsmen, Denn Smith of Minneapolis and Delaino Blazer of this city. Ushers were Alvin Sherwood and Wendel Gorgenson. All the gentlemen of the wedding party wore white tuxedo jackets, dark trousers and white carnation boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. H. Paulson chose a toast brown satin dress while Mrs. Myers wore a light blue crepe dress. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Glasgow, wore a deep blue jersey and all had corsages of pink and white carnations and pink sweetheart roses.

The bridal party and family were guests of the bride's parents at a dinner in the Rex Cafe at 1:30 p.m., Friday, December 30. Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors. The Library Corner

By Eleanor Olsen

My interest in Minnesota was awakened again by the book I told you about last week describing old houses. On my next trip to the Library I asked the librarian what else I might read to learn more about the state's history. She suggested the magazines published by the Minnesota Historical Society and led me to the shelves where the current issues are kept until they are bound into permanent volumes. I brought home three issues of both Minnesota History published for adults and the Gopher Historian which is aimed at junior readers. I have enjoyed both very much as "pick-up" reading this week.

The 1960 winter issues of these magazines cover the northeastern corner of the state. I read with great interest the history of Duluth and the railroad that connected it with St. Paul. Duluth was only a frontier village with 20 crude buildings when Jay Cooke, wealthy Philadelphian financier, first saw it. Even within Minnesota it was little known except to traders and fishermen in the Great Lakes region. But with the building of the railroad, pioneers dreamed of it as an infant Chicago. Now a hundred years later, with the opening of the St. Lawrence seaway, we see its possibilities as a world port.

The northeastern corner of the state is extremely important to us now as a recreational retreat for canoers, campers and fishermen. The farms that were opened up in the area on the most part proved unproductive and the rural residents who live there hold outside jobs in the mines, taconite plants or resorts. Lumbering, once a giant industry, now consists of cutting poplar, spruce and pine for pulpwood. New uses are being found for the "scrub" trees once thought useless.

The spring issue of the Gopher is devoted in its entirety to the story of St. Paul. The history of its inauspicious beginning as a grogshop that sold home brew to the soldiers at Fort Snelling and the Indians and as a refuge for the Red River settlers driven from Selkirke's ill-fated colony intrigued me. So did the importance of its being the last navigable port on the Mississippi. The number of immigrants who arrived daily by boat in the 1850's often reached 500.

Sometimes it is hard to realize in our automotive age just how important the waterways and railroads were to the setlement of the state. Both were means of communication before the days of radio, telephone and telegraph. That everyone went to meet the incoming boat or train seems quaint and ridiculous to us when we hear all the news simply by flicking a switch.

I am glad indeed that Father Galtier was successful in renaming our capital after his little chapel; how horrible it would be if it were still known as Pig's Eye.

Other equally interesting articles in the issue tells about the city's cultural activities, described the sculpture that can be seen there, and cover its industry, its suburbs and its activities as a market center. One article even contains its geological background which can be visually traced on the river bluffs clear back through the ice ages. The Minnesota River which joins the Mississippi at St. Paul once drained the immense prehistoric Lake Agassiz whose beach ridges lie west of Thief River Falls.

The articles in these magazines which tell what is being done to preserve and interpret our historical sites are both encouraging and discouraging. Whatever your particular interest in Minnesota may be, I think you will wind the articles will hold your attention and perhaps start you on some historical exploration of your own.

National Foundation Fund Drive to Be Held

Bill Would Seize Car Operated by Unlicensed Driver

Is One of Three Safety Bills to Be Introduced in State Legislature

A traffice safety bill calling for seizure of vehicles operated by unlicensed drivers will be introduced in the Minnesota legislature, it was announced Friday.

The bill would require law officials to seize the vehicles and sell them in the same way that guns and vehicles are confiscated and sold for violation of game and fish laws.

Sen. James R. Keller, Winona Conservative, and Rep. Joseph Prifrel, St. Paul Liberal, said this will be one of three safety bills they will introduce in the house and senate.

"These bills would not only put teeth into our traffic laws, but sharp teeth that would snap off the driving career of any person who shows so little regard for the law that he would drive without a license," Keller said.

He and Prifel said in a joint statement that the public has accepted for years the seizure of vehicles used in violating game laws.

"We believe that people should have the same protection as wild game," they said.

The other two bills would impose stiff penalties for driving without a license or after cancellation or suspension of a license.

Other safety bills, introduced Friday would require that seat belts on school buses, driver training for all license holders under 18, and make "implied consent" to a test for drunkenness a condition for receiving a driver's license.

Dr. Billy Graham to Conduct Crusade in St. Paul in July

Famed Evangelist Will Be Speaker July 9 to 16 on State Fair Grounds

Evangelist Dr. Billy Graham has accepted an invitation to conduct an eight-day Crusade at the Minnesota state fair grounds, July 9 to 16.

The meetings will be held daily with the crowds to be seated in the grandstand and bleacher sections.

This will be Dr. Graham's first crusade in Minnesota since 1950, at which time he conducted a three-week crusade in the Minneapolis auditorium.

Preceding next summer's crusade, a week of area meetings will be held starting July 2 in Rochester and Duluth; Aberdeen, South Dakota; LaCrosse, Wisconsin and additional Upper Midwest cities.

These meetings will be conducted by Dr. Graham's associate evangelists including Dr. Larry Love, the Rev. Joe Blinko, Dr. Grady Wilson, the Rev. Leighton Ford, the Rev. Roy Gustafson. Some of the musicians on the Graham team will also participate.

Wichterman Hits Andersen Budget

Says New Excise Taxes Are First Step to Sales Tax

Rep. Ben Wichterman of Plummer, chairman of the House education committee, labeled Governor Andersen's excise tax recommendations as the "first step in the piecemeal adoption of a general sales tax."

"A 3 per cent tax on automobiles, telephones and electricity would be an open invitation to apply the same levy on an ever-increasing list of items.

"As it pertains to education, the Governor's budget message is more remarkable for its omissions rather than for its recommendations," Wichterman said.

"Just three weeks ago the Governor told the legislature about the importance of college facilities in western Minnesota. But his budget message makes no specific recommendations. The absence of strong administration support certainly weakens the position of western Minnesota state college advocates.

"In the inaugural message the Governor underscored the need for scholarships to make possible higher education for worthy students. Aside from a token Indian program and a nurses training program, the budget message offers nothing new.

"One of the major considerations of school districts hoping to conduct junior college programs is building construction costs. Again the Governor's budget message is silent on this crucial subject."

Buzz Saw Victim Plans for Career

Belgrade Youth to Be Occupational Therapist

Arthur Heinze's decision to devote his life to helping handicapped people and promoting safety came the hard way:

He lost parts of both arms in a buzz saw accident.

Artificial limbs are now making it possible for the Belgrade, Minnesota, youth to lead a normal life at the University of Minnesota, where he is a sophomore. He plans to become an occupational therapist.

Three years ago, when he was thrown against a spinning saw blade, he lost one arm above the elbow and the other above the wrist, in addition to suffering a severe gash in his right leg.

"I'm getting along well with artificial limbs but could do better with my own hands," says Heinze.

The accident occurred because of "too much hurry," Heinze testifies. He was standing in front of and too close to the saw. When he tried to get out of the way of the tractor which was bucking frozen slabs, he stumbled and fell into the saw.

Heinze reflects that are many dangers around a buzz saw—the spinning blade, the moving drive belt or shaft and the handling of timber, to name a few. He warns: "Be sure everyone stays away from the front of the saw, and do not reach across it to handle timbers. The saw doesn't stop for human flesh and bone. And don't be in too much of a hurry."

With the woodlot work season in full swing, Glenn Prickett, University of Minnesota farm safety specialist, joins with Heinze in appealing for caution.

The chain saw is dangerous, too, reminds Prickett. "It can get away from the operator unless he maintains a solid footing. When carrying the saw, shut off the motor, grip it by the handles and guard the blade. Do not run the motor or smoke while refueling. Make sure everyone is a safe distance away before starting the saw."

Manager Chamber of Commerce

Perhaps basketball doesn't belong under a Chamber of Commerce column heading but the Bemidji game last Friday evening was one of the most interesting events I have ever seen. Eight busloads of students with their pennants, buttons, banners and bows in addition to dozens of carloads of Thief River Falls fans filled our side of the new Bemidji court with what I estimated at between five and six hundred local spectators. The game itself showed us losing in a last second, well-maneuvered stall and shoot play by Bemidji. Significant to me, however, was that the game was very tight defensively. Bemidji is no push-over but neither is Thief River Falls. Jack Junker's Prowlers proved that they can handle themselves against strong competition and I, for one, am looking forward to the tournament. Therefore this gets to be a community project and it doesn't seem out of line to say, "Good luck boys, the best is ahead."

Last week has brought us a membership kick-off, a retail trade meeting, the annual meeting of Northwest Dairy Day promoters, the annual DHIA tour and the annual meeting of the 'Top of the Nation' Dairy association was held as well. Lew Conlon of the ADA added a great deal to the DHIA tour as he spoke on marketing of dairy products. The tour found us at the Warren Gast farm in the Fertile area and also at the Gregory Welland farm 12 miles west of St. Hilaire. The Bridgeman plant tour climaxed the circuit before going to a noon luncheon as a group.

C. L. Charlson's Education Committee will meet at 6 p.m. at the Rex Cafe Tuesday evening. All committee members please try to be there promptly.

The membership drive is going fine. You members who have contacts to make be certain not to let the drive slacken.

It was good to read that the Jaycees had Les Watson, their state president, here recently. The Farmers Union had Ed Christianson, their state president, here this week too. Anytime these state leaders can visit Thief River we can only benefit for they have so much to offer.

Keep smiling as we enter the cold, full-moon period, and be sure that you Shop and Trade Where Bargains Are Made—In the Heart of Northwest Minnesota, Thief River Falls.

Minnesotans Warned about Health Quacks

Hucksters of quack health machines continue to flourish because of the public's gullibility and also because of legal loopholes, according to the Minnesota State Medical association.

Health machine quacks have robbed Americans of millions of dollars and lured them away from legitimate, ethical medical treatment of serious diseases. Mechanical quackery is believed to make up a substantial portion of the $610 million or so paid to medical charlatans annually.

The machine quack with his gadgets—impressive to the gullible because of their flashing light bulbs, ticks, and buzzes—carries out a vicious medical con game, capitalizing on people's respect for the electrical and atomic wonders of our scientific age. He milks the latest scientific advances, translating them into his own special space age vocabulary to promote his fake machines as a cure-all for everything.

In such diseases as cancer, tuberculosis, and heart disease, early diagnosis and treatment are so vital that the waste of time with a fraudulent cure-all gadget can prove fatal. The diabetic patient who relies on cure by the quack device and therefore cuts off his insulin intake can be committing suicide.

Authorities emphasize that many intelligent people have been conned by preposterous device panaceas, and older persons are a prime target of the quacks.

The answer seems to lie in public education and in strengthening law enforcement procedures particularly on the state level.

All authorities also agree that consumers, as potential victims, must learn to evaluate statements of quacks, pitchmen, house-to-house canvassers and other promoters who prey on ignorance in medical and nutritional fields.

Here are some rules of thumb for spotting a quack.

Beware:

If a "medical expert" uses a special or "secret" machine or formula he claims can cure disease.

If he guarantees a quick cure.

If he advertises or uses case histories and testimonials to promote his cure.

If he clamors constantly for medical investigation and recognition.

If he claims medical men are persecuting him or are afraid of his competition.

If he tells you that surgery, x-rays or drugs will cause more harm than good.

Top of the Nation Dairy Tour Friday Is Well Attended

will be purchased from a breeder in this area. This is possible, he said, because foundation stock is now available locally although this was not true a few years ago.

Conlon listed the benefits of past Dairy Days to dairy farmers of the area but warned that "when you produce more, you have the additional responsibility of helping merchandise dairy products."

Using displays, Conlon showed ways the American Dairy association is creating a greater market for dairy products and said that acceptance of butter in the merchandising of other products has never been better. He pointed to the advertising of General Mills, Pillsbury's and Consolidated Foods which includes the advertising of butter.

The MDIC chairman concluded with observations on the importance of research and advertising and read unsolicited comments made by merchandisers who had taken advantage of the Princess Kay publicity in selling dairy products.

Getting dairymen to consign cattle for the sale was difficult this year, Carrico said. He went on to ask that more cattle be consigned in 1961 and that there also be a much larger number of consignors.

The necessity of having cows bred right, and having them in good shape for the sale were also emphasized by Carrico.

At a meeting of the association following the afternoon's program, Carrico was elected president succeeding Maynard Mehrkens; Lloyd Kasprick of Angus, vice president succeeding Carrico; Stuart McLeod, secretary succeeding Elmer Sandberg; and Ken Onken, treasurer.

One new director was elected and four other were reelected. Harry Nelson of Hallock will replace Donald Craigmile of Hallock on the board. Reelected were Dr. Edward Fredericks of Crookston, Clyde Christenson of TRF, Allen Magnuson of Roseau and Donald Walker of Red Lake Falls.

The next meeting of the board of directors will be June 13 in the basement meeting room of the city Auditorium.

half of the city and the Chamber.

J. J. Womack, treasurer of the association, presented the annual financial report which indicated that 1960 was a successful year. Although receipts of $1,952.70 were somewhat less than those of $5,075.65 in 1959, expenditures of $4,829.03 were substantially below the $6,771.79 the preceding year leaving a net gain of $123.67 rather than a deficit of $1,696.14 reported in 1959. The organization now has a bank balance, savings certificates and cash on hand totaling $5,488.32 plus an inventory of $2,094.61, the treasurer's report showed.

Following the treasurer's report, county agents from Roseau, Beltrami, Norman and Pennington counties made comparisons between participation in Dairy Day in 1960 and in previous years and reported that they expected a large number of contestants this year. Creamery operators, field men and others also commented on the program.

Following the showing of a film on the 11th Northwest Dairy Day, Lew Conlon, manager of the Minnesotary dairy industry committee, gave a talk, opening with a tribute to former leaders and workers in the state, local and area dairy organizations. He reported that the American Dairy association completed a successful year.

Four proposals were made by Conlon which, he said, might extend the scope of the local Dairy Day. Suggested were: Having a 4-H dairy food demonstration competition; that consideration be given to buying the presentation calf in this area; promote the competition of more advanced animals at Dairy Day to encourage 4-H and FFA members to carry through with their projects; and the more careful selection of princess candidates eliminating those who are "just contestants" and putting into competition those who want to become Princess Kay.

A discussion of the first proposal followed with general agreement that a dairy foods demonstration competition would be a valuable addition to future programs. The matter and the other proposals will be discussed further at the next board meeting.

Thieves Senior Sextet Trounces Hallock Here 12-3

DelRay Offerdahl and M. McMahon Each Score Three Goals Here Sunday

With DelRay Offerdahl and Mike McMahon each turning in a three-goal "hat trick" performance, coach Paul Bedard's senior hockey Thieves had a comparatively easy time in trouncing the Hallock senior hockey club in a game played at the Arena Sunday afternoon, winning by a 12 to 3 score.

The Thieves boomed away to a 7 to 1 first period lead, with DelRay Offerdahl and brother Cal Offerdahl scoring two goals apiece, and McMahon, Joey Poole, and Eddie Holmes marking up single goals.

The locals increased their lead to 11 to 2 by notching four goals in the second period. Del Offerdahl, Sid Bonsaime, Chip Strand, and McMahon accounted for the Thieves' goal. McMahon, completing his "hat trick" scored the Thieves' lone tally in the third period.

In a preliminary game, the local Eagles' Bantams defeated the Crookston Bantams, 13 to 0.

St. Paul Johnson Nips Prowlers Here 3 to 0

A veteran St. Paul Johnson high school squad, well-supplied with strong skaters, defeated the Prowlers, 3 to 0, in a hockey game played on the Arena ice sheet here Saturday night.

This week's schedule will find coach Gene Sack's squad engaging in three "road" games. On Tuesday night, the locals will travel to Hallock for a Region Eight conference game against coach Ken Wellen's Hallock Bears. On Friday night, the Prowlers will meet the conference-leading Roseau Rams at Roseau. And on Saturday night, the Prowlers will play the Baudette Bears at Baudette.

In Saturday night's tilt here, coach Rube Gustafson's St. Paul Johnson team possessed too much all-round strength for the Prowlers. And it was only thru some expert goal-tending by Tom Teal that the visitors' score was kept within bounds. Teal was credited with 18 on-goal stops during the game, and several of these "saves" were on solo-rush breaks.

The Prowlers' offense was pretty well checked by the Johnson defense, with the result that the locals were limited to but seven on-goal shots. On only one occasion did the Prowlers have a good opportunity to break into the scoring column, and in this instance the Governors' goalie, Bob Johnson, guessed correctly and came out to smother Larry Poole's shot from just in front of the north goal.

The Prowlers, playing without the services of wing Jack Houfek, who was sidelined by an injury, played the Governors on near-even terms during the opening minutes of the first period and it was not until the 8:27 mark of the period when, on a face-off play in the Prowlers' zone, that Johnson scored on a shot by Mic Gabriel.

The Governors added a pair of tallies in the second period to take a strong lead. At the 3:16 of the period, Larry McGrath, on a screened shot from just inside the blue-line, scored on a slap shot, sending the disc into the north goal. And at the 11:02 mark, Dave Peterson, with Dick Ackerson setting up the play, scored from close-in.

In a preliminary game, the Roseau V.F.W. Midgets, with a fine exhibition of team-work and pattern-play, defeated the local V.F.W. Midgets, 4 to 1.

Three Thief River Falls fishermen won top honors in the Manitoba-Canada Master Angler award competition in 1960, it was announced in Winnipeg late last week.

James M. Anderson, 229 Crocker av. N.; Harlan Huseth, 603 Red Lake blvd.; and Stanley Egenes, 917 Tindolph av. S., all caught trophy-sized fish in Manitoba waters to win the bronze awards.

Anderson caught the fifth largest walleye taken in Manitoba in 1960, weighing 12 lbs., 8 oz., at Gould Point, Lake of the Woods, and Huseth landed a 10 lb. 8 oz. walleye from Birch Point in the same area. Egenes landed an 18 lb. 8 ob. northern pike in the Winnipeg River.

A total of 325 anglers in 22 states and three Canadian provinces qualified for the award. Of the 187 U.S. winners, 29 were from Minnesota.

The year's largest northern pike, a 33 lb. 3 oz. monster, was caught by Joe Nonnenman of Rock Island, Illinois. The lake trout class was won by Dr. G. B. Ingwell of Knox, Indiana, with a 50 lb. 2 oz. beauty from Gods Lake. A Winnipeg man, Len Robb, caught the largest walleye, 13 lbs., 7 oz. and Walter R. Souder of Columbus, Ohio, took brook trout honors with a 6 lb. 8 oz. catch.

Schedule, Wednesday, Feb. 1
Washington at Northrop, 4:15 P.M.

One of the "crucial" games of the grade school basketball league will be played on the Northrop court on Wednesday afternoon when coach Ken Swenson's league-leading Washington Wildcats meet coach Al Staley's Northrop Indians.

The Wildcats hold a one-game lead over the defending champion Indians, and a win on Wednesday would just about clinch a share in the league title for the redshirts.

In last week's play, the Indians, with a well balanced scoring effort, defeated the Knox Tigers, 17 to 4, in a game played on the Knox floor.

Coach Roger Dorn's Tigers played the Indians on even terms in the first period, with the score being deadlocked at 4-all. The Indians held the Tigers scoreless for the balance of the game as they moved into a 6 to 4 lead at the intermission, and a 13 to 4 advantage at the end of the third period.

3000 See Bemidji Tip Prowler Quint 40-38

Spencer Price's one-handed push shot, from twenty feet out and just off the right of the free throw circle, swished into the south basket as the game-ending buzzer sounded Friday night to give coach Bun Fortier's Bemidji Lumberjacks a two-point win, 40 to 38, over the Prowlers in a thrill-packed basketball game played before more than 3000 fans in the Bemidji State College gymnasium.

The victory evened the season's series between the two teams, with the Prowlers having registered a 48 to 46 win in a game played here a couple of weeks ago.

Coach Jack Junker's squad will be facing a double barreled schedule this weekend, meeting the Crookston Pirates at Crookston on Friday night in a district conference game, and then playing coach Marv Skaar's Grand Forks Central Redskins here on Saturday night.

In Friday night's dramatic tilt at Bemidji, neither the Prowlers nor the Jacks were able to build up a point-cushion, and the game roared into its final seconds with the score knotted at 38-all. Jack Phelps' jump shot, with 1:26 to play, had given the Jacks a 38 to 36 lead, and with 1:16 to play, Bemidji called a "time out" to set up ball-control tactics to stall out the game. A bad pass, which went out of bounds, gave the Prowlers' possession, and Ron Hanson drove in for a lay-up shot to even the score. The Jacks moved the ball carefully up the court and Price, at the last second, pulled the trigger on the game-winning shot.

In the first period of play, the Prowlers held a 11 to 7 lead with a minute to play, but Lee Fawbush's field goal, on an out-of-bounds play, and free throws by Larry Higgins and Larry McDowell, tied the game at 11-all.

In the second, the Jacks' outpointed the Prowlers, 7 to 5, to hold an 18 to 16 lead at the half-time intermission. Hanson, who was the game's high point player with twenty-one points, scored the Prowler points in the second period, having a pair of field goals and a free throw.

Opening the second half, Harvey Ebbighausen, taking a pass from Eddie Lietzow, drove in for a lay-up shot. Higgins, recovering a rebound, hit on a quickie from the lane. Hanson's two free throws made it a 20-all game with 6:49 of the third period to play. The two teams played on even terms, with the Prowlers having a one-point lead until the final second of the period when Higgins, from just inside the center circle, hoisted a long shot into the basket to give the Jacks a 29 to 28 lead entering the last period.

Phelps, from the lane, dropped in a field goal, and the Jacks, held a three-point lead, but not for long. Hanson, hitting on a jump shot, and then following with a lay-up, boosted the Prowlers into a 32 to 31 lead with 5:10 to play. Price scored on a lay-up shot and Phelps added a Bemidji free throw, and Bemidji held a two-point lead. Lietzow's jump shot, from the top of the "key," was successful and the game was again in a knot, 34 to 34. Higgins, who proved very adept at getting off his shots, scored from the lane with 1:57 to play, only to have Hanson, who racked up four field goals in the final period, drive in for push-up shot with 1:48 to play. Phelps, from off to the right, pumped in a jump shot, and the Jacks held a 38 to 36 lead. Hanson's drive-in lay-up, and Price's game-winning toss closed out the hectic game.

Fair Enough

The Bemidji Lumberjack and Prowler varsity basketball squads have engaged in sixty-four minutes of tense and exciting basketball this season, in two games, and the total score is an 86 to 86 tie. That's "fair enough, and it gives a true indication of the rivalry between the two teams.

On Friday night, on the spacious court of the Bemidji State college gymnasium, the Bemidji Lumberjacks, on a last-second shot by Spence Price, defeated the Prowlers, 40 to 38.

That loss was the first of the season for the Prowlers, and it evened the two-game series with Bemidji with one game won and one game lost. Bemidji, too, has lost but one game this season, and that being the loss to the Prowlers.

Friday night's game, played before a standing-room-only crowd, and a noisy crowd, too, was not as well played as the game that was played here by the two teams a couple of weeks ago. The big floor (it was college-size, ninety feet long by fifty feet wide) may have been a factor, with the boys having trouble in becoming orientated to the floor and the position of the baskets. And, too, the college-sized backboards, which are considerably larger than those in use in high school play, added somewhat to the problem of getting position on rebounds. Prowler center Ron Hanson admitted that a couple of his reverse lay-up shots, from just off to the side of the backboard, were off-target because of larger backboards, with Ron taking his shot from too far out on the board.

And, too, the Prowler partisans were extremely critical of the officiating. It was, of course, a difficult game to "call." The chief complaint of the Prowler fans was to the lack of consistency of the "calling" on travelling fouls. The Prowlers had a couple of baskets nullified because of travelling infractions, and these calls were perhaps right enough, but the Jacks, too, were guilty of travelling on several occasions, particularly on some of their out-court maneuvers, and these infractions were missed.

A peculiarity in the trend of the personal fouls in the game was that the Prowlers were charged with seven fouls in the first half, and but two in the second half. The "bonus" foul rule did not have any effect on the game's scoring, though.

And now it's the start of a "new" season for the Prowlers as they make preparations for their trip to Crookston on Friday and their district conference game against the Pirates. The Prowlers will continue to be the prime target of the East Grand Forks Green Wave, and the Climax Vikings, all of district 31.

Jorde the Pro

Marvin Jorde, who came up through the hockey ranks from the sandlot rinks of the north end of town, has now become a professional hockey player, having joined the Minneapolis Millers of the IHL league a week or so ago. Marv has done real well with the Millers, and in one game he put on a three-goal scoring performance.

Marv, who was an all-state tournament choice at center in 1954, when the Prowlers won the state championship, has tremendous hockey desire. With the possible exception of Dale Wennberg and Joey Poole, we doubt if there has been a youngster here in town who has put in more effort at hockey than Marv. In his high school days, Marv thought nothing of getting up at six o'clock in the morning to get in some skating at the Arena. He missed a couple of years of hockey in his 8th and 9th grades in school because of a knee injury, but he surely put in the practice sessions to regain those "lost" years of hockey.

To Enter the State Bonspiel

The Ardell Liden curling rink —Jerry Amundgaard, Don Liden, Ardell Liden, and Harold Halverson — will represent the local curling club in the Minnesota state bonspiel that will be held in St. Paul next month. This decision was reached last week.

That the rink will be a capable representative of the local club there is no doubt. They gave an indication of their potential last Thursday night when, in a match against the Bob Kinsman rink, they scored a seven-ender. That's a remarkable performance for a curling rink at any time, and against such marksmen as the Kinsman rink it was a noteworthy effort.

The rink has been shooting their rocks in the following manner and the same lineup will undoubtedly be followed in the state bonspiel: at lead, Jerry Amundgaard; at second, Don Liden; shooting third rock and skipping, Ardell Liden; and throwing the skip rocks, Harold Halvorson.

VA Pensioner Income Reports Due by Feb. 1

Many veterans living in North Dakota and the Ninth Congressional District of Minnesota, along with their dependents and widows, should start watching the calendar if they expect to continue receiving Veterans Administration pension checks.

They are fast running out of time in which to answer the income questionnaires which VA sent them January 1, John R. Parrish, manager of the VA Center in Fargo, warned today.

Replies must be received by February 1 or payments will be suspended.

The VA Center in Fargo sent out 8,500 income questionnaire cards to beneficiaries along with their January 1 checks. To date, fewer than 70 per cent of the cards have been returned, Mr. Parrish said.

VA needs the cards to determine eligibility for pensions on the basis of annual reports by beneficiaries as to their actual income last year and their anticipated income for 1961.

Regulations and the law permit no leeway. Either the beneficiary reports his income or VA stops payment as of February 1.

Many newcomers to pension roles did not receive questionnaires and are fearful of being suspended. Mr. Parrish explained that anyone going on VA pension roles are October 20 does not have to fill out a card this year. They will make their first report next year.

Others, receiving disability or death compensation, want to know why they didn't get income questionnaires. Since compensation is paid for disabilities or death resulting from military service, these beneficiaries are not concerned with pension income limitations. Pensions concern only non-service connected disabilities or deaths.

Beneficiaries got their questionnaires along with pension checks in U.S. Treasury envelopes. Inside were explicit directions to return the cards to the VA Regional Office in their state; but, apparently, because the cards were in U.S. Treasury envelopes, thousands have ignored the instructions and have sent the cards back to the Disbursing office.

Otter Tail Power Co. Will Improve Area Facilities

M. O. Sunby, Otter Tail Power company district manager at Hallock, announced last week that the company is starting construction to enlarge substation facilities serving Middle River and Holt.

Seven miles of transmission line conductor will be replaced with larger wire. As this portion is completed, it is planned that 24 miles of conductor from Newfolden to Argyle will be changed also.

According to Sunby a 400 K.W. mobile diesel plant is being used to minimize service interruptions. This equipment is located five miles south of Middle River on the Clarence Smith farm along highway 32.

Big Increase in Farm Real Estate Debts

Farm real estate debt in Minnesota has nearly doubled in a decade, reports R. P. Dahl, associate professor of agricultural economics at the University of Minnesota.

It rose from 277 million dollars in 1950 to 519 million in 1959.

Farm income, on the other hand, has declined. Hence, the farm real estate debt per dollar of income has also increased. And claims on income for debt servicing are greater today than in 1960, according to Dahl.

Dahl points out that the principal factor in the increase in farm real estate debt has been the transfer of farms at higher prices. The average value of farm land in Minnesota increased from $85 per acre in 1950 to $157 in 1959—a gain of 85 per cent.

Minnesota farm real estate loans from individuals increased more than those from any other source in the past decade—from 113 to 242 million dollars—according to figures compiled by Dahl. Individuals now hold nearly half the total farm real estate debt in Minnesota. The largest group of individuals is made up of sellers of farms who retain a mortgage on a contract for part of the purchase price.

A sizeable share of the farm transfers financed by sellers is on land contracts. A study of 1,257 farm sales in Minnesota during the six months ending June 30, showed land contracts were used to finance 44 per cent of the sales.

Dahl suggests that those buying under contract use caution in the months ahead, because heavy debt commitments might be difficult to meet if farm income continues its downward trend.

Furthermore, indications are that farm land values have begun to level off and even decline in some areas of Minnesota. This may make it difficult for contract buyers with small quantities to obtain refinancing.

As Dahl sees it, the farm real estate debt will probably continue to increase but at a slower rate if land prices level off. The trend toward farm enlargement and improvement will continue.

Voluntary land transfers, however, declined in 1959. This ended a rising trend in the transfer of farms by voluntary sales since 1953.

2 New Stamps to Appear This Week

The stream of commemorative stamps being issued by the U.S. postoffice department will be replenished by two more stamps late this week. Included are a four-cent Range Conservation stamp printed in black, yellow and blue, to make its appearance Friday, February 3; and a four-center honoring publisher Horace Greeley and printed in maroon, which will go on sale Saturday.

SUGAR FEVER

Reprinted from the Jan. 27 issue of Time

Buyers scrambling for the rich, mucky land along the shores of Lake Okeechobee in Florida's Everglades last week were paying as high as $1,000 an acre for land worth only $300 just six months ago. They were not Northerners planning vacation homes; they were Florida sugarmen looking for good cane-growing land so they can cash in on the sweet—prosperity they see ahead for the domestic sugar industry, now that Cuban supplies are cut off.

"What happened in Cuba points up the necessity for a strong, healthy domestic production," said President Harry T. Vaughn of Florida's biggest producer, United States Sugar Corp. The corpoation is going to more than double its cane plantings in the next two years, to 65,000 acres, and put $20 million into a new mill and refinery. Within a few years, Florida's raw cane production is expected to be five times the 175,000 tons it is today. So confident are Florida producers, says Vaughn, that even though they could not meet their last year's quota, they will lobby hard with Congress for a 3.6% quota increase to 800,000 tons and a bigger share of the unfilled allotments of other producing areas.

Switch from Vegetables. New growers are entering the industry. Some 300 farmers have banded into the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida, and by next year will have a $6,000,000 mill operating. Growing sugar, at yields of $200 an acre, is more profitable than riding the ups and downs of raising vegetables. Refugee sugarmen from Cuba are jumping into the Florida mucklands to start anew after Castro grabbed their Cuban holdings. The Florida Sugar Corp. is setting up two mills and planting 2,000 acres, with $6,000,000 from the Bacardi rum interests. Osceola Farms, backed by three Cuban families, owns 4,400 acres and is negotiating for much more. The Cubans who are moving to the U.S. have a good example to follow. The Okeelanta Sugar Co. was started by two Cuban families in 1952 as a sideline to their island companies. Now their two Florida mills and bast acreage are worth almost as much as their $27 million worth of mills and land that were confiscated.

Sugar beet producers, who supply 24% of U.S. consumption, also see a 10% increase in production to 2,700,000 tons this year. But the sugar beet men are cautious about the future. They want to see what sort of sugar law Congress passes when the old one expires March 31. (Congress seems likely to follow Dwight Eisenhower's request to extend the present law while a new sugar policy is worked out.) They are also wary of the effects of a sudden return to good relations with Cuba after their expansion plans are well under way. The Florida optimists scoff at this, say Cuba will never get as large a slice of the U.S. market as it did (3,100,000 tons, one-third of U.S. consumption.)

Surplus Ahead? While U.S. growers hide comfortably behind quotas and price supports, the world market, where prices have remained fairly stable at 3c a lb. since the U.S. cut off Cuban sugar, is threatened by a large surplus. Good growing weather has pushed estimated world production up 8 per cent to a record 50.8 million tons, outpacing expected demand by 3.4 million tons. Cuba and Russia alone, the two largest sugar producers, may have 6,000,000 tons between them for export. If they dump it on the market, it could send world prices skidding.

The Debt Limit

Thanks to the integrity of the present Supreme Court, Minnesota now must recognize the Constitution's debt limitation for what it is — a limit on debt. That limit has been exceeded nearly as long as Minnesota has been a state. By deliberate ignoring of the limit or, as in recent years, by subterfuge measures, the barrier has been either hurdled or by-passed. The Supreme Court has now stated that there will be no more of such nonsense, and that is well.

In submitting an amendment to the voters bringing the debt limit up to a realistic figure, there will be strong pressure within the legislature for a ceiling so high that it would not act as a curb on the present trend toward more borrowing and spending. We now have a 48 cent dollar, and the debt limit should be geared to that value and not the value of a ten-cent dollar that may be ahead of us.

Unless the new limit is low enough to actually serve as a limit, the proposed amendment should have vigorous taxpayer opposition.

Reasonable Question?

It may or may not be significant, but it nevertheless is interesting to note that the agricultural South is going to be well represented in the group of officials who, with Orville Freeman of Minnesota, will direct the activities of the department of Agriculture. Of the six tops aids to Freeman, recently nominated by President Kennedy, two are from Georgia, two from Kentucky, one from North Carolina and one from California.

Looking back over the history of our farm program, and keeping in mind that it has been largely the product of congresses controlled by the Democrats, there is justification for the observation that the southern states have not been slighted when the subsidy dollars have been passed around. In the early days of the farm program it was decided that a few crops would be considered as basic to the welfare of the nation, and should be given special consideration in the schedule of price supports. Six crops were selected, cotton, tobacco, peanuts, rice, corn and wheat.

Those who speak for the states in which cotton, tobacco, peanuts and rice are important crops, are generally regarded as astute leaders. They are not the most talkative men in Congress, but in the protection of their own interests, they no doubt are among the most effective.

In the present Congress these regional leaders are in an especially strong position. Their support is vital to the program of the present administration. They are shrewd traders and they have what the administration needs. They probably will get a good price for what they have to sell. It may be that control of the farm program has been one of the demands. It appears that they have been given the actual control of the department that administers that program.

Elsewhere in this issue is a report on what is being done about sugar production in this country, clipped from the current issue of Time. Both cane and beet acreage will be increased this year, pending permanent changes in our allotment schedule to be determined by the present Congress. According to this report southern cane growers are paying fancy prices for additional acres for future development.

Does this justify the question as to whether the cane growers have already been given assurance that their region is again going to be favored in the distribution of government grants?

A Youth Corps

There has been much support for the proposed organization of an American youth corps for peacetime foreign service as civilians rather than as soldiers in backward countries. The idea has merit. In his campaign for office, President Kennedy promised to expedite the "youth corps" proposals. Public reaction is said to have been generally favorable.

There are many different ideas, however, as to how such a corps should be organized and for what purposes. It has been proposed, for instance, that such a service should be made available as an alternative to military service. Under certain conditions that might be proper. It is a big problem, full of interesting possibilities.

We are impressed with an outline of six provisions for such an organization, suggested by the Christian Science Monitor to "meet certain basic tests." The Monitor believes:

1. Its service should be draft tough, draft-pay, and draft-duration. But it should not be simply an army replica in mufti—soldiers armed with hybrid seeds instead of bullets.

2. At the outset it should simply supply graduate technicians to serve in existing overseas aid projects, primarily at village level. These are projects conducted by the Point Four program, the Ford Foundation, universities abroad, etc.

3. Its administrators should carefully screen all applicants (1) to match the needs of these institutions and (2) to keep out "gold brickers," draft dodgers, and aimless soldiers of fortune.

4. It should have a rigorous basic training period in languages, customs, and special needs of the job to be filled.

5. It should be started in a small way. No opening should be provided for Parkinson's Law to go into effect, with participating institutions lured into creating new, hastily conceived projects simply because they have a pool of manpower to be used.

6. Agricultural, educational, and technical projects undertaken should be those requested by the host nation. In as many cases as possible local currencies earned by United States aid loans or sales should be used to pay the modest salaries, expenses, and transportation costs of youth corps personnel.

This appeals to us as a sound outline for the start of the argument as to what a civilian, peacetime youth corps should be. Certainly, as the Monitor suggests, it should not be a haven for gold brickers or draft dodgers. The nature of the service should appeal to the venturesome with an interest in welfare.

To be really effective, however, such a service should be put on a career basis, with opportunities for advancement. The period of preparation might even include professional education and degrees in such fields as medicine and engineering.

We are satisfied that there is a real need for such a service and that a "Youth Corps" organized and trained for such general purposes could be justified as a part of our national defense program. There is no place in such a program, however, for a six-months or three-year enlistment period. That kind of service requires years of training and preparation. There is no place in such a service for young people looking for an "easy out."

A Letter to the Sheriff

(Public opinion letter printed in St. Paul Pioneer Press)

Sheriff Kermit Hedman:
Ramsey County Court House,
St. Paul, Minnesota.
Dear Sheriff Hedman:

In this morning's paper, the St. Paul Pioneer Press, Jan. 16, 1961, at the end of the article, TEEN-AGE HONOR DRIVING PLAN EYED, you are quoted as having made the following statement: "It was a sad thing, but it was no reflection on anybody."

If there was "no reflection on anybody" then why had the insurance on the car driven by the Irish boy been canceled last week? Why did the parents of this boy allow the car to be driven without insurance and after the curfew? Who will pay the judgments accruing from the lawsuits now to be initiated? If the Irish boy had four violations in "slightly more than two years," why was he allowed to get behind the wheel of an automobile that would travel at the rate of 100 miles per hour? Should not the headlines have been:

TEENAGER UNDER INFLUENCE OF LIQUOR DRIVING 100 MILES PER HOUR KILLS SEVEN PERSONS.

Mr. Hedman, every night when I go to bed I do so with a prayer that I will not be called to just such an accident—dreading, of course, the day that I will have three, four, five or seven coffins lined up the center aisle of my church for a requiem mass.

Many nights after I retire I can hear the screech of tires on the asphalt pavement two blocks from my rectory . . . I wait for the sound of a crash . . . somehow it has not come, but it will. The next morning I will have sad-eyed parents in my office telling me that "our boy was such a good driver, we cannot understand how he could have been driving at that terrible speed"

Perhaps, Mr. Sheriff, it is because you ride in a sheriff's car that you do not see what goes on today with teen-age driving.

Oh, I'm quite sure that not all teen-agers are bad drivers . . . In fact, I'm happy that they are good drivers, or you and I would both have been dead years ago. But it is the occasional bad driver, and there are one or two in every high school, of whom I speak.

If you do not believe me, go to any high school at dismissal time and hear the screeching of tires, observe the failure to stop at stop signs and the racing down the street from the parking lot, endangering the lives of the children on foot.

It is absolute madness to pass a high school parking lot at dismissal time. And if you do not know this, Mr. Sheriff, then you should not be the sheriff of Ramsey county.

So, what do we do about it? Put in an honor system! When Almighty God promulgated the Ten Commandments, He knew that He could not get the desired effect by establishing an honor system.

I would like to make a suggestion: Give these children driving licenses at 16 if you will, but for ONE violation, take the license away until they reach the age of manhood, 21 years. These children want to be treated as adults when they are incapable of acting as adults. If such a law had been in effect, the Irish boy and the other five boys and the girl would be at school today instead of in a morgue.

If someone set up a machine gun at Rice street and highway 36 and had mowed down seven persons, it would have been a crime of the greatest magnitude. But a boy, 17 years of age, with a bad record of driving, going 100 miles an hour, mowed down six other persons and himself. This is called an unfortunate accident, "a sad thing."

I am not a crank or a crackpot. I have never before written a letter of this kind. I am a pastor who would like to see more of our youth grow to maturity.

Sincerely yours,
Rev. Harold E. Whittet,
St. John Vianney church
South St. Paul.

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

A youngster rushed home from school one day insisting that his mother immediately buy him a set of pistols, complete with holsters and belt.

"Why, whatever for, dear?" asked his mother. "You're not going to tell me you need them for school?"

"Yes, I do," he said. "The teacher said that tomorrow she's going to teach us to draw."

Why do you trust this man to feed your family?

Have you ever realized that the most precious thing you buy every day is food? Probably not. Yet your own family's health and well-being depend largely on the quality of food you buy. Your food store dealer never forgets this fact. That's why he's as careful of the food he offers you as he is with the food he takes home to his own family.

While experience has taught you to rely on him for the best—most wholesome—foods, you likely take for granted his constant check for quality...his investment in new and better foods...and that he brings all of this to you at a price you know is right.

And how rewarding for you if your favorite food store gives you S&H Green Stamps.

You know, of course, that half the families in America save them today.

Your S&H Green Stamps make it possible for you to choose from over 1,500 top-quality, famous brand-name items at your S&H Green Stamp Redemption Store.

What happened in this high-producing Minnesota herd . . .
before . . . and after Purina

Don and Bonnie Sloan, Ellendale, Minnesota, with two of their high-producing registered Holsteins. Don is holding Ellenvale Inka Bell Pearl who had a record of 20,665 pounds of milk and 803 pounds of butterfat as a three-year-old. Mrs. Sloan holds Ellenvale Beauty Belle Pabst who made 20,196 pounds of milk and 782 pounds of fat as a four-year-old.

Before they switched their herd of high-producing Holsteins to the Purina Dairy Program, Don and Bonnie Sloan of Ellendale, ran their own split feeding test.

For one full year they put ten cows on the Purina high-efficiency ration of corn, oats and Cow Chow and a similar number on corn, oats and soybean meal. Their DHIA records for the year ending November 1, 1959, showed that the cows on the Purina ration had produced an average of 3,809 pounds more milk and 134 pounds more butter-fat. At that time they switched the whole herd to the Purina ration.

Further comparison is shown in the September-to-September profit-per-cow records based on the DHIA year. Before Purina in 1957-58, the Sloan herd showed an average of $245.90 per cow based on 28.1 cow years. During the same period in 1959-60, with the whole herd on Purina, the average profit per cow was $272.40 based on 24.21 cow years . . . an increased profit of $26.50 per cow on the Purina Dairy Program.

A new Hog Chow from Purina Research

PURINA EARLY WEANING CHOW FOR BABY PIGS

New PURINA EARLY WEANING CHOW is a highly palatable, fortified ration made for hogmen who wean pigs at three weeks. This Chow may also be used in early weaning of late-farrowed litters, for orphan pigs and for pigs that are undersized at normal weaning age.

Six experiments showed 618 pigs fed Early Weaning Chow gained as fast, or faster, than those on sow's milk and creep fed from 3rd to the 6th week. They averaged .77 lb. per pig daily gain—made 1 lb. of pork on only 1.27 lbs. of feed.

In on-the-farm feeding comparisons in various hog-raising areas, pigs followed about the same pattern . . . weighed 23 to 33 lbs. at 6 weeks. Feed cost per pound of gain on thrifty pigs, raised under good management conditions, ranged from 12¢ to 14¢.

Co. Fair Group to Seek 2-mill Levy

Would Hike Present Half-mill Levy to Permit Free Gate

Only two dozen interested persons of Pennington county turned out Tuesday evening, January 31, to discuss whether or not the county commissioners should seek special enabling legislation which would allow a levy of two mills to support the county fair, and would make possible a "freegate" at the event.

In response to a question by Albert Koop, president of the Pennington County Agriculture society, as to whether the fair should be continued, the group unanimously voted in favor of the continuation and a majority showed their approval of the two-mill levy.

It was reported by some members of the group that the greatest opposition to an additional levy came from those who had not been informed as to the part that the Pennington County Agricultural society plays in the annual county fair. It was explained that many Minnesota fairs were, at one time, put on by such county groups but that the one in Pennington county is perhaps the last. Legal efforts on the part of the society over a period of many years to transfer the activities and holdings to the county or the city of Thief River Falls have been unsuccessful but are being continued.

Of the more than 300 original stockholders, less than 40 are still living and only nine are active in putting on the annual fair. None derive any profit and their only pay each year is in the form of a free meal during the fair.

"I know nine men who would be glad to give up their jobs on the fair board if some group, county or city, will find some legal way to take over the job," Jim Roche, secretary of the so-

Next Story Hour at Library Saturday

The story to be read at the Public Library Story Hour this Saturday at one o'clock will be one of Grimm's fairy tales, "The Wolf and the Seven Little Kids." This is a translation of a book written and illustrated by a noted Swiss artist Felix Hoffmann. The drawings which make the most of this old folk tale show the goat family in comfortable domesticity, the wickedness of the wolf and Mother Goat's practicality as she proves herself capable of rescuing her children from a dire situation.

The Swiss edition of the book was awarded the Youth Book Prize in that country in 1957. Its remarkable pictures which blend fantasy with realism are simple in line and restrained in color.

This has been a popular book among six and seven year olds and will appeal strongly to the 1-3 graders for whom story hour is designed.

G. Selke Transferred Big Marshall Area to Game & Fish Division

Announcement was made this week that George A. Selke, commissioner for the department of conservation, has ordered the transfer of 33,000 acres of Marshall county land from the division of lands and minerals to the division of game and fish. The transferred land is in the Mud Lake area. The effects of this transfer will be the withdrawal of these lands from sale to private individuals.

The announcement was made at the Pennington County Sportsmen's club banquet last week by Dave Vesall, supervisor of the section of game in the division of game and fish. Commissioner Selke ordered the transfer on his last day in office, he having resigned to accept a position with former governor Orville Freeman in Washington.

There was much opposition to the transfer among farmers in the region who organized several years ago as an anti-wetlands association. Commissioner Selke had assured them that there would be no transfers and that the status quo would be maintained until a survey and study of the Thief River Watershed had been completed, in the hope that a program of land use that would best serve the needs of all interests could be agreed upon.

The three major areas included in the transfer are as follows:

Eckvoll Unit—A total of 5,960 acres in Eckvoll Township immediately adjacent to the east boundary of the Mud Lake National Wildlife Refuge. It is similar in nature to the Mud Lake refuge with marshy and peat land, some open water and aspen

Seed and Feed Show in Auditorium on Friday

Program to Include Exhibits and Talks on Farm Problems

"Bring exhibits and take part in the program" is the call of the Pennington Crop Improvement association. The group is staging a Seed and Feed Show in the city Auditorium in Thief River Falls Friday, February 3. Cooperating in sponsoring the show are the seed-feed-fertilizer dealers, bank and loan agencies, Pennington county, the local Chamber of Commerce; and the Red Lake Electric Co-op.

Judging of seed grain, cleaned, bin-run, and certified, will take place at 10 a.m. Friday. Also scheduled for Friday morning is a grain clinic for FFA and 4-H members. This will be followed by a free bean feed for grain clinic participants. At 1 p.m. the judges will comment on the exhibits and Merv Syverson of the Minnesota Crop Improvement association will discuss briefly the certified seed program.

At 1:30 p.m., Robert Jacobs, livestock specialist from the University of Minnesota, will talk on "Rolled Barley and Beef Programs". He will discuss problems such as: The cost of rolled barley gains as compared to corn; can rolled barley be fed alone or should it be supplemented?; should it be dry or steam rolled?; what class of feeder cattle do best under what feeding programs?

At 2:45 p.m., company representatives of Spencer and Monsanto chemical firms will report on their field trials with Carbyne and Avadex for wild oats control. Wild oats is a major problem on farms in the area and everyone is invited to hear the reports.

The public is urged to view the exhibits and commercial booths, and take part in the program.

$1.037 Collected in Mothers March Here; Solicitor Is Injured

Approximately 100 women solicited funds in the residential districts of Thief River Falls Monday and Tuesday in the annual Mothers March in behalf of the National Foundation, and turned in a total of $1,037, slightly less than the 1960 figure, it was announced by C. W. Rodekuhr, chairman of the Pennington county chapter.

Rodekuhr stated it is expected the funds collected to date will be augmented by proceeds of a mail solicitation in the rural areas and the Thief River Falls business district. In charge of the city campaign was Mrs. Henry Bothman, with Mrs. Walter Halverson directing activities on the east side.

The drive was marred by an injury sustained by Mrs. Oliver Holmen, one of the canvassers, when she slipped and fell while making her rounds on Kendall av. Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, suffering a fracture of both bones in one arm.

Rodekuhr said he had been advised by the St. Cloud office of the National Foundation that it carries insurance to protect victims of such mishaps. He added that Mrs. Holmen's assignment had been completed by her daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Wold.

Earl Nicholson left Wednesday for YorbaLinda, California, after spending two weeks here. He came to attend the funeral of his father, Ira F. Nicholson Friday, January 20.

Mrs. Arthur Anderson of Fargo arrived Friday evening and visited her mother, Mrs. Victor Swanson, who is a patient at Northwestern hospital and her brother, the Irving Swansons and Mr. and Mrs. Benhard M. Wold. She returned to her home Sunday morning.

An interesting sketch of the history of the Waterous Co. of St. Paul, fire fighting equipment manufacturers, included the above reproduction of an engine built in the '80s and sold to the city of Thief River Falls. A few old-timers of the community may remember seeing it in action.

Police Chief Advises on Driving in Winter

Provided a driver has equipped his car with all recommended devices for driving comfortably and safely in wintry weather, what are the special added precautions he should take to avert trouble and prevent accidents at this time of year?

How well a driver answers this question is of interest to Chief of Police Elton Cummings, since it has a direct connection with the city's safety record.

The chief's own recommendations are as follows:

1. Limit driving to necessary trips in bad weather.
2. Figure out the easiest, safest route—and take it.
3. On slippery roads, start out gently and increase speed gradually, without spinning the wheels. (Spinning wheels only makes the road surfaces slipperier for the next driver to come that way. This is especially true at intersections, where polished approaches create extremely hazardous conditions.)
4. Use tire chains with regular or snow tires on ice or deep snow.
5. Keep the car moving with moderate power, but not with speed. Maintaining momentum sufficient to carry the car up hills.
6. Anticipate stops, so speed can be reduced gradually.
7. Pump brakes gently when stopping, to flash a brake-signal warning to following drivers and to get maximum braking action without locking the wheels and losing steering control.
8. Never follow other cars too closely.
9. Avoid sharp turns. If a turn is missed, forget it and drive on around the block rather than attempting a last-second turn on a slippery street.
10. Take time to brush accumulated snow from all windows to assure adequate all-around vision. Maintain windshield wiper arms and blades in good condition, check the arms for sufficient pressure to really wipe off rain, road spray and snow. Many stations can measure if arms exert necessary ounce per inch of blade length.
11. Use special care on streets where snow cover is bumpy or rutted.
12. Don' insist on the right of way; the other fellow may be unable to stop even if he wanted to.

For good measure, Chief Cummings listed the following misconceptions or mistakes which seem to persist in spite of all that has been said to the contrary:

1. The false idea that traction can be improved by letting some of the air out of one's tires.
2. The practice of driving with only a small peep-hole cleared in a frost-covered windshield.
3. Attempting to save time by starting with a cold engine.
4. Or worse yet, warming up the engine in a closed garage. (Each winter season brings reports of drivers killed by carbon monoxide.)
5. Leaving tire chains on after the need for them has passed. This causes them to wear out before their time, when they should be carefully preserved for the next occasion when they will be needed.

Progress of Agency to Aid Farm Planning Discussed at Rotary

Progress in the farm management planning program which was started a few months ago in this area was reported on at the regular Monday noon luncheon meeting of the Rotary club January 30.

Bill Penning, University of Minnesota extension service field man, was introduced by Paul Stelmaschuk, Pennington county agent. Stelmaschuk gave the background on the formation of the program which, he said, included both the activities within the farm home as well as for the rest of the farm. Starting with just a few farm families, the program now includes a total of 51 in this area, who share the cost with the University on a 50-50 basis.

Penning told the Rotarians that farmers taking part in the study in the organization of farming operations vary in their gross product income from a low of $1,000 to $100,000.

His job, Penning said, is basically educational and is not intended to be a farm management service. He listed farm management problems with which he is concerned including those of organization and operation, legal, family living and finances.

The club extended thanks to W. E. Dahlquist for his efforts in securing permanent service to Thief River Falls by North Central Airlines.

It was announced that 18 members of the club will make the trip to Winnipeg February 18 for the annual International Goodwill meeting.

Charles Larson gave his observations on the work of the Rotary club gathered during the month of January while he and Don Ulferts had been Junior Rotarians.

Partial Test for Brucellosis Will Be Made in County

Veterinarians to Start Testing 20 Per Cent of Pennington Herds Feb. 27

Agents of the State Livestock Sanitary Board will conduct a partial test for brucellosis in Pennington county starting on February 27. The test will include at least 20 per cent of the herds in the county. The herds to be tested are those on the current retest list, those not covered by ring test, and enough other herds to equal 20 per cent of herds in the county.

Minnesota already is modified-certified for brucellosis. This highly successful testing program is being continued to completely eradicate the disease. The test is being started at this time because the county is due for brucellosis recertification.

The Livestock Sanitary board plans to authorize five veterinarians, who practice in the Pennington county area, to conduct the test. Each of the veterinarians will have an assistant who lives in the area in which he will work.

The veterinarian or the local assistant will make an appointment with the cattle owner to test his herd. The owner then is to have have his cattle in the barn and help restrain them for the test. The testing must proceed on schedule, with no delays, so the county can be certified on the due date. A certified county means more markets for dairy products, healthier and more productive herds, and less human brucellosis.

Dr. Alfred Peterson, Crookston, an area supervisor, will be in charge of the Pennington county test. He will be available during the test to answer all questions.

Methodists Plan for Family Night Program Sunday

The program following the supper will include the presentation of a special motion picture film on Africa entitled "New Faces of Africa." Any who are unable to be present for the supper but who would still like to see the film are welcome to come at 6:45 p.m.

The entire program will be in the church dining room.

IS LUNCH READY? This "open-air restaurant" for bovine beauties features a feedlot fence, developed by U.S. Steel and its American Steel and Wire Division. Steel cable, strung through pressure creosoted posts, permits maximum air flow in a feeding area. Resulting cattle comfort means more rapid gains on full feed.

Examining the feedlot fence system (top photo) are P. G. Strom, agricultural industry representative for American Steel and Wire (right), and T. L. Willrich, extension agricultural engineer for Iowa State University. The "sag-proof" cable is held with a heavy-duty spring that gives an elasticity to withstand the shock and crowding of cattle in a comparatively small feeding area.

'60 Wool Payments Affect Deliveries Before March 31

Farmers Reminded to Apply for ASC Payments Before End of April

Wool growers were reminded today that the 1960-program payments, to be made this summer, will be made only on wool and unshorn lambs which are marketed before March 31, 1961. That is the closing date for the 1960 program.

Patrick W. Culkins, manager of the Pennington County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, also pointed out that applications for such payments under the 1960 wool program must be filed before end of April 1961.

He emphasized that adequate records on the sales must support the information on the payment applications. For instance, producer's sales records for shorn wool should show name and address of buyer, date of sale, name and address of producer, net weight of wool sold, and net proceeds to producer after normal marketing deductions.

Payments to producers for the 1960 marketing year will follow the same methods employed for the 1959 year. Shorn wool payments will be equal to a percentage of each producer's cash returns from wool sales. The percentage—to be announced later this year—will be that required to raise the national average price received by all producers for shorn wool during the marketing year up to the incentive price of 62 cents per pound.

Lamb payments will be made to each producer who sells lambs that have never been shorn. The payments will be at a rate per hundredweight of live animals marketed to compensate for the wool on them on a basis comparable to the incentive payment per pound of shorn wool.

Under the 1959 wool program, growers in Pennington county last year received a total of $14,900.85 in incentive payments earned under the marketing year ended March 31, 1960.

$1.5 Billion Federal Taxes Paid in State During the Past Year

The federal government collected approximately 1½ billion dollars in taxes of all kinds out of Minnesota in 1960, George Lethert, director of internal revenue, reported Tuesday.

This was an average of approximately $500 each for every man, woman and child in the state and represented an increase of about $145,000,000 over 1959.

Nearly all of the increase was paid by individuals earning wages or salaries.

Of the total collected last year, 945 million dollars was collected from withholding and individual income taxes, compared to 813 million dollars the previous year.

Taxes collected from corporations totaled 376 million dollars, a decline of a million from 1959.

Excise taxes for the years were 103 million dollars, an increase of six million dollars over 1959.

Of this total, 34 million dollars were collected on beer, an increase of nearly 2 million dollars over 1959. Receipts from liquor taxes were $3,200,000 a decrease of $200,000 compared to 1959.

Taxes on estates and gifts totaled 27 million dollars, an increase of five million over 1959.

Taxes on transportation were 34 million dollars, up three million from the previous year.

Unemployment taxes rose from five million in 1959 to $5,400,000 in 1960.

The total collected in Minnesota was equivalent to all the federal taxes paid by all the states in 1915.

Public Opinion

Dear Editor:

Please allow me a little space to comment on the second and final drive in the fund raising campaign now on by the Red River Valley Winter show board of managers. The money is to be used to erect new housing facilities for the 51 year old Red River Valley Winter Show.

As we go about the county and visit with a great many people, the new building program of the Winter Show comes up often and here is the common question asked, "Why do they need new buildings?" Our answer: "The buildings are as obsolete and inadequate for a show like the winter show as a one horse shay would be on one" farm today. Any 50 year old building used continuously become obsolete. It must be repaired or replaced.

The present location of the show located in the city of Crookston, makes parking for livestock trucks and patron's cars a most deplorable situation. The new site selected for these new building is located one half mile south from the Northwest School of Agriculture on highway 2 and 75. Ample parking next to the show buildings. Adequate housing for livestock and industrial display. All necessary room to accommodate the present winter show, twice its present size. First and foremost, adequate in all respect to comply with safety, health and sanitation for patron's and livestock. Nothing is spared to make these buildings the most practical for showing of livestock and industrial displays. They are arranged for comfort and convenience to its patrons.

Andy Skaar of Thief River Falls, chairman, assisted by several energetic farmers in Pennington county, are now in full swing completing the second and final drive in this fund raising project for new Winter Show buildings.

The present show buildings were erected by funds donated by citizens from all corners of the Red River Valley. Without such help it would have been impossible to accomplish such a fete. Likewise today, the Red River Valley Winter Show, stands a monument of community accomplishment and as such, let's again rally to rejuvenate and make possible adequate buildings for a large and ever expanding Red River Valley Winter Show.

Sincerely,
County Committee
Odin C. Hanson, James Engelstad, Alvin Fjeld, Glenn Tasa, Silas Hanson, Carl R. Anderson, Kermit Maidment, Woodrow Almquist, Earl Peterson.

County Fair Assn. Calls for Raise in Levy to Two Mills

There was general agreement that more information about the society's part in the fair should be given the people of the county, that the group should continue in its efforts to have special legislation prepared and introduced and that everyone should tell his friends and neighbors about the situation.

SPEAKS Rev. Ray Collver will be at the local Assemblies of God Church February 8 to 10 to tell of his miraculous escape when the airplane he was flying as a Royal Canadian Air Force pilot during World War II exploded and crashed from 19,000 feet. Mr. Collver was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and other honors.

Koop opened the meeting by giving a history of the Pennington county fair. It was a history of earning enough money each year to pay the expenses of putting on the four-day show, but not enough to maintain and replace buildings or to keep up the grounds.

He pointed out that other fairs with a "free gate" forced the Pennington county fair into a position where it had to compete for fairgoers. A "free gate" at the local fair, he said, would make the annual event more attractive to a greater number of persons. The loss of revenue through not charging for admission to the grounds would most equitably be made up by increasing the county levy from the present ½ mill to 2 mills.

It was pointed out that most county families would, through the increased levy, be paying no more each year to attend the fair than they are paying under the present system. In addition, it was shown that 4-H girls and boys of the county receive more each year in premiums at the fair than is raised by the present county levy and that the total premiums have increased during the past 10 years by a large sum.

Calling the fair the "showcase of the county," Robert J. Lund said that "we are at the crossroads as far as the fair is concerned." The question, Lund said, is whether we are going to have a fair or not.

"If someone has a better idea on how to solve this problem other than increasing the levy to two mills, I'd like to hear it and so would many others," Lund said.

Those attending the meeting were urged to promote the increased levy proposal at the close of the evening and to encourage their county commissioners to seek the legislation which would be necessary.

Fosston Woman Is Accident Victim

Mrs. LeRoy Lewis Killed in Car-truck Collision

A head-on collision of a semi-trailer truck and a car three miles east of Fosston on Highway 2 early Tuesday claimed the life of Mrs. LeRoy Lewis, 19, Fosston.

Her death raises the Minnesota traffic death toll to 55 for the year and brings Polk county's highway death toll to two. State highway deaths at this time in 1960 totaled 48.

Mrs. Lewis was headed east on her way to work at a Bagley bank when her car collided with a truck driven by Raymond Tolvonen, 30, Hurley, Wis., on a slight rise in the highway. Tolvonen was not hurt.

The Lewis car was completely demolished by the impact.

Officers said visibility may have been obscured by blowing snow. The road had been cleared by a plow but a fall of three inches during the night was easily kicked up by vehicles.

The victim's husband had recently opened a cabinet shop in Fosston.

Numerous cases were heard in municipal court Monday and Tuesday of this week and last Friday, by Judge Stanley Mortenson, with two of the cases trials in which defendants were found guilty.

There was only one highway patrol case. Kenneth M. Nelson, Middle River, forfeited $17.50 bond on a speeding charge and an additional $35 for driving after license revocation.

Sheriff Charles Richards had Alton L. Larson, Lake Bronson, in on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants brought by a citizen. Larson was given a choice of $100 fine or 30 days in jail. For driving after revocation he was sentenced to pay $50 or serve an additional 15 days, and for illegal use of license plates, $25 or 10 days. Larson, who pleaded guilty on all three counts and is in custody.

Ronald Mathieu, St. Paul, forfeited $100 bond for furnishing liquor to a minor.

Found guilty after trial was Carl O. Nygaard, Halma, on a charge of furnishing beer to a 17-year-old girl. He was sentenced to pay $100 or serve 30 days. He, too, is still in custody.

Tuesday, the sheriff had Walter J. Lambert, rt. 2, in court on a citizen's complaint of driving under the influence of intoxicants. Lambert was found guilty and fined $100. He was also charged with driving after revocation by Richards, to which he pleaded guilty and was fined $50.

Richards said this week that it is noteworthy that all of last year he made five arrests on citizens' complaints, while to date in 1961 he has three.

All other cases were brought by city police. Last Friday Donovan Dyrdal, rt. 3, pleaded guilty to drinking by a minor and was fined $15.

Monday, John G. Ofstedahl, city, was found guilty after trial of failure to yield the right-of-way to a pedestrian and was fined $35. All others brought in by city police pleaded guilty, and were fined as follows:

Hallock Bears Whip Prowler Sextet 5-0

Coach Ken Wellen's Hallock Bears, capitalizing on their scoring opportunities, defeated the Prowlers, 5 to 0, in a Region Eight hockey conference game played at Hallock on Tuesday night.

Coach Gene Sack's Prowlers will meet the Roseau Rams at Roseau on Friday night, and the coach John Tignstad's Baudette Bears at Baudette on Saturday. Both games are Region Eight conference games.

After holding a marked advantage in the play throughout most of the first period of Tuesday night's game at Hallock, the Prowlers gave up three quick goals in the final minutes of the period. Jim Tureson tipped in Mike Mattson's shot at 9:44 of the period. And Bill Ryden and Mattson, scoring twice within fifteen seconds, hit the mesh of the south goal at 11:29 and 11:43, the Bears held a commanding 3 to 0 lead.

Late in the second period, with the Prowlers skating two men short, having Lloyd Ranum and Tom Morben in the penalty box, the Bears added a tally when Mattson's shot, from the "point" took an erratic bounce over Tom Teal's stick and into the net.

The game's final tally was scored at the 11:52 mark of the third period when Tureson, on a screened shot, hit the net from fifteen feet out.

The game, which was played at a hectic pace in the narrow confines of the Hallock rink, was somewhat "heavy," with body contact being the rule.

In a preliminary game, coach George Schlieff's Prowler 'B' team, with Elroy Frolland, Wayne Loeffler, and John Weigelt doing the scoring, defeated the Hallock 'B' team, 7 to 0. The win marked the second successive 7 to 0 victory for the local 'B' team as on Monday evening, in a game played on the Arena ice, the locals defeated the Crookston 9th graders, 7 to 0.

Newfolden Quint Defeats Middle River, Greenbush

Nordics Edge Middle River Tuesday 52-48 and Greenbush 47-26

The Newfolden Nordics got back on the winning track this past week in defeating Middle River, 52 to 48, at home on Tuesday and downing Greenbush, 47 to 26, on the Tigers floor Friday. High point man in the Middle River game was Calvin Anderson with 17 points, with the Nordics Dick Inman potting 16 and Jim Dahl also in double figures with 14. For the Skippers, Tom Conklin had 10 and Armand Kiel 12. In the Tigers game, Jim Elseth of the Nordics led the scorers with 14 followed closely by Jim Dahl with 11. Jack Brazier was in double figures fir the Tigers with 11.

The Middle River Skippers proved just as tough as in the first game of the season when the Nordics won 29 to 27. In fact, the Skippers led much of the game by a point or two until midway in the fourth quarter. The Skippers held quarter leads of 10 to 9, 24 to 23, and 35 to 33. Midway in the fourth quarter the Nordics opened up a lead of as much as 8 points, many on free throws. In fact, free throws won the game as the Nordics sank 20 out of 24 while the Skippers were only making 12 out of 24.

The Greenbush Tigers maintained a lead much of the first half as they held a first period lead of 9 to 8 and a halftime lead of 16 to 15 in the third period, the Nordics pulled away scoring 18 points while holding the Tigers to 4 and eventually won easily going away. Coach Frank Kohoutek in commenting on the game said that the Greenbush squad was much improved but Jim Elseth and Jim Dahl, forwards, sparked the victory for the Nordics. He said that Howard Davis turned in a steady job at his center post. If the Nordics had been as cold the second half as they were the first half, they could have lost the game.

This week finds the Nordics playing three games, two of them at home on Tuesday and Friday against Badger and Roseau respectively. On Saturday the Nordics travel to Warroad for a return game. The Nordics have defeated all three of these teams in earlier season games but at last two of them will probably be a struggle.

Coach Sheldon Elseth's "B" squad split in two games this past week losing to Middle River, 31 to 26, and winning from Greenbush, 25 to 23.

The win, the fourth straight for the Broncos, moved the club into a tie for first place in the league standings, sharing the top rung with the Washington Wildcats. The goal-getters for the Broncos in their shutout win were Bobby Sullivan, with a pair of goals, and Charlie Bedard, with a single tally.

The Washington Wildcats were held to a 2-all tie by the Knox Tigers to gain one point in the standings, and are now deadlocked for the league lead with St. Bernard's. Dick Holmes and Jerry Droppo scored goals for coach Rolland Smith's Washington team, while Chuck Larson and Ron Berger picked up the goals for coach Neil Carlson's club.

Resuming a Series

After a recess of four years, the basketball series between the Prowlers and the Grand Forks Redskins, which had its inception 'way back in 1928, will be resumed on Saturday night on the Lincoln high school court.

It was in 1928 that Prowler coach Ed Boe, a graduate of North Dakota U and Grand Forks Central, arranged the first game with the Redskins. In that game, the Central squad rolled up a 39 to 9 win over the Prowlers. And there were some famous names on that 1928 Prowler squad: Bob Ericon, (Roundy), was the captain; Selmer (Snus) Severson, Mel (Fish) Carlson, Gordon (Boomer) Dablow, Roy Oen, Fred Wengeler, Richard (Rip) Dablow, Emil Dostal, and John Arnold were team members. And the next year, 1929, Grand Forks racked up a lopsided 33 to 4 win.

Back in those days the Grand Forks Central team was a "power" in North Dakota high school circles, and the basketball team was a participant in the national high school tournament held in Chicago.

Since that game during the 1927-28 season, the Prowlers and the Redskins have engaged in forty-three basketball games, and Grand Forks team holds a decided edge in victories. The Redskins have scored twenty-nine wins, and lost but fourteen games during the thirty-two year span.

The Prowlers, except for a two-year period in the early 1950's, have been unable to build up a winning streak against the Redskins. In 1952-53, the Prowlers, coached by Bob Nick and co-captained by Gary Smith and LeRoy Aasland, defeated Grand Forks, 51-48 and 48-36. And in 1953-54 the Prowlers, with big Art Johnsonas captain, defeated the 'Skins, 45-43 and 50-36.

Grand Forks Central has rolled up a couple of winning streaks at the expense of the Prowlers, one of eight games and another of six. And at present the Redskins are working on a four-game streak. The 'Skins' eight-game streak began during the 1944-45 season and was concluded during the 1948-49 season when the Prowlers, co-captained by Al Williamson and Harley Wagner, scored a 35 to 30 win.

But before the Prowlers have their Saturday night date with the Grand Forks Central team the locals have a district conference game with Crookston, at Crookston on Friday night. And that's of greater importance.

The Needle

That Kenneth (Red) Wilson, director of athletics at Bemidji high school, is adept at giving "the needle" to Prowler fans is evidenced by this incident following last Friday night's game at Bemidji.

The game, which was won by the Lumberjacks on a last-second field goal by Spence Price, 40 to 38, was, from the viewpoint of the Prowler fans, marred by erratic officiating. Prowler fans were outspoken in their criticism of the officials.

One of these fans, in the excitement of the game's final minutes, fogot his cap and as he was leaving the building he realized his loss. He returned to the bleachers to recover his cap, which he found, and on the way he met up with Red Wilson. Knowing Red quite well, this fan exclaimed, "Where were those referees from?" Red answered, "From Nashwauk." And then noting that the fan was near the "boiling point," Red added this jab, "They are relatives of mine."

A Farm System

Tony Dorn, who refereed the V.F.W. Midget hockey game here Sunday afternoon, between the Roseau Midgets and the Thief River Falls Midgets, was tremendously impressed by the play of the Roseau team. The Roseau squad defeated the locals, 4 to 1, but it was the manner in which the Roseau Midgets set up their plays, and the poise that they exhibited, that impressed Tony particularly.

Tony, of course, is well qualified to judge hockey, for he has had experience that carried from his days as a junior hockey player here and up to the New York Rovers of the Eastern league. He closed out his active career as a durable defenseman with the local Thieves of the States-Dominion league.

This Roseau Midget hockey team, and they will graduate into the ranks of the Roseau high school in a couple of years, is the result of a well-organized "farm" system. Many of the players on the squad were the products of the four country rinks that have been installed and maintained in the Roseau area. Roseau businessmen have given assistance in the building of rinks at Ross, Salol, Malung, and Wannaska; and they sponsor kid hockey teams in these areas.

Speakers and Music at RRV Shows Feb. 22

"India—Its Agriculture and Its People" will be the subject of the illustrated lecture to be given on Wednesday evening, February 22, at the Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston. The program will be given in the Crookston Central high school auditorium at 8 p.m. The lecture will bring to the citizens of the Red River Valley a personal and firsthand look at a giant nation undergoing a quiet revolution.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Maxwell of LeSueur, Minnesota, who recently returned from India, will be the two speakers. They made a tour of India, with ten other American farmers, covering 10,000 miles in a visit of 10 of the 15 states of India.

The project was sponsored by Farmers and World Affairs, Inc., a non-profit educational organization working in cooperation with a number of other farm organizations in the United States. The Farmers' Forum of India, that country's national farm organization, helped plan and sponsor the travel itinerary in India.

The presentation by Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell is based on colored slides that, with narration, give a vivid picture of the life of the Indian people and the forces at work influencing the quiet revolution going on in that country.

Preceding the speaking program, the Crookston Choraleers, under the direction of Garfield Reichert, will sing several selections. This is a men's group of 25 voices.

A special sidelight to this program will be the recognition and crowning of King Agassiz, the newly-created symbol for the Red River Valley Winter Shows. Newspapers will carry further details on this presentation.

State Moose Herd Loses 77 in 1960

19 Were Killed During Deer Hunting Season

A survey has been completed by state game wardens to determine the causes of moose mortality and the extent of moose disease in the hard during 1960, the Department of Conservation reported today.

Of the 77 cases of moose mortality reported by wardens, 25 were shot by hunters, 19 during the deer season. Collisions with cars and trains accounted for 10 more and 20 were found to have died from disease. In addition, 32 were found to be suffering from some disease at the time of the survey.

Highest counts were from the Grand Marais warden district with 21 dead and 8 sick and from the Finland district with 16 dead and 8 sick.

The cases of moose sickness being reported in the state is the highest in 15 years, according to Arnold Erickson, game research supervisor. One reason could be the recent increase in the moose population in the state, however, whether this accounts entirely for the increase in sick animals reported is by no means certain, Erickson said.

Very little is known of the diseases which attack moose, despite the fact that the subject has been studied for some 20 years.

Although liver flukes (a worm which destroys the animal's liver) has been found to be responsible for deaths of many diseased moose, others show symptoms of damage to the central nervous system.

The animals thus afflicted lose their native wariness, show no fear of humans and walk in circles with their heads cocked in one rigid position.

Figures are currently being compiled and studied following a count of the state's moose herd by aircraft and this report is expected to be ready soon, department officials said.

Savings Bonds Have A Birthday

Retiring Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson (left) and the new Secretary of the Treasury, C. Douglas Dillon, joined in ringing a replica of the Liberty Bell to signal the 20th anniversary of the U. S. Savings Bond program. The recent ceremonies took place on the west steps of the Treasury Building, opposite the east entrance to the White House. Americans now own over $43 billion in series E and H Savings Bonds. This is an all-time record high.

The Liberty Bell replica in the Nation's capital has counterparts in every state, donated by leading American companies as a feature of the Independence Savings Bond drive in 1950. State governors, as honorary bond chairmen, will rally their volunteer forces with similar bell-ringing ceremonies this spring.

Drinking Driver Control Bill Urged by Safety Council

Recommends Adoption of Implied Consent Law by State Legislature

Adoption of implied consent legislation undoubtedly would assist greatly in combatting the drinking driver problem, the Minnesota Safety Council said today. "Implied consent" means that every person driving, operating or in actual physical control of a motor vehicle is deemed to have given consent to a chemical test to determine the alcoholic content of his blood when he had been arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol.

A chemical test is one of the best ways of establishing scientific, conclusive evidence of intoxication, the council pointed out. Combined with Minnesota's presumptive law, where persons with more than .15% of alcohol in the blood may be presumed to be under the influence, the consent feature offers a greater deterent to driving after drinking.

The council emphasized that under the consent rule no person could be directed to submit to a chemical test unless he had been arrested, based upon reasonable grounds that he was operating a vehicle while under the influence; and that unless these two conditions existed at the time the arrest was made, no action could be taken against the driver for refusing to submit to a chemical test.

Highway department accident records show that in more than 25% of the fatal accidents in 1960 the drivers involved had been drinking; and that this percentage increases sharply during holiday periods.

An implied consent law would be another tool in the constant battle against traffic accidents by giving better control over the drinking driver, the council said.

Only $183 Million

The general accounting service, an agency established by congress to keep an eye on government expenditures, reports that the air force is spending $183 million wastefully this year by keeping officers on flying status, with additional flight pay, unnecessarily. The report states:

> "The added expense is caused by the air force policy of retaining all officers in flying status who continue to have the ability, motivation and physical qualification to pursue this career."

There are more than 10,000 officers currently on flying status who are not needed for that kind of work, the report said.

So what? The report of the general accounting service probably will not be questioned. An air force spokesman is likely to explain that all factors have not been taken into consideration, but there probably will be no argument. The report will be filed away and forgotten. That is a fairly safe guess.

The general accounting service probably could prove that its charges are true. The general accounting service, we are sure, can prove that billions of the taxpayers' dollars will be wasted by the federal government this year. Millions of dollars will be wasted by the state of Minnesota. And more millions will be wasted by our various units of local government thruout the state, counties, school districts, cities. The smaller the taxing units, however, and the closer the taxpayers are to the tax spenders, the more carefully will needs and costs be considered before the dollars are spent.

Congress isn't going to be greatly disturbed about $183 million mainly because there are too many pressure groups that do not want congress to adopt a penny-pinching approach to spending. Such an approach might derail the gravy trains for too many of our citizens, who have come to look upon government checks as a source of income in which they have acquired a vested right rather than as fair compensation for a service rendered.

Recent reports from Russia and China are interesting in that they indicate a retreat from Marxism in both nations. In recent speeches Khrushchev blasted inefficiency in the factories and on the farms, and now openly supports the principles of "merit" pay. He was quoted in the Soviet press recently as saying:

> "Do you want to build communism only on moral factors? Moral factors are good, but there must be a material basis. A combination of these factors creates a good condition for progress."

That is a far cry from the basic principle of Marx that, "From each according to his abilities; to each according to his needs." Khrushchev's statement is basic capitalism.

From Hong Kong come reports that communist China is breaking up the "people's communes", launched several years ago with great fanfare. At that time Chinese and Russian officials were in serious disagreement over the program. The Chinese justified it because it was based on pure Marx and Lenin doctrine. The Russians argued against it because they had tried it and had discovered that it would not work.

Now the Chinese government has in effect admitted failure. An order from the Communist party central committee meeting in Peiping last week provides "material incentives" for farmers, and small individual freedoms. These include small plots of land for individual use, two days off a month, the right to keep some poultry and a pig or two, and the right to eat or sell surplus production.

As Russia, and now China, are moving to the right, we continue to drift to the left. Russia, and now China, have shifted their course because of the lessons they learned by experience. We are getting the experience but so far a crisis has been averted. The bill-collector hasn't caught up to us as yet.

Commonwealth Partners

The welcome that Queen Elizabeth of England received in India on the occasion of her recent visit was most encouraging. There was a time, not many years ago, when a British queen would have been heralded as "Empress of India". In that capacity she probably would not have received as royal a welcome as that which was now accorded to the Queen of England by the independent government and people of India.

Queen Elizabeth was recognized as the "head" of a great Commonwealth of Nations, in which India is an equal member with Britain, Canada, Australia and many other nations of various colors and creeds thruout the world, that once were parts of a great British Empire. The importance of this Commonwealth as a factor for stability in the world cannot be overemphasized.

Communist leaders point accusingly at European colonialism and American imperialism as threats to liberty. The cordiality of the relations that now exist among the member nations of the Commonwealth are convincing proof that colonialism has been replaced by a partnership based on understanding and common interest.

The relationship between England and India is particularly interesting. Commenting on the Queen's visit, and the good relations that exist between the two nations, the Christian Science Monitor makes these observations:

> "Reports of the dazzling scenes along the route of Queen Elizabeth's visit must surprise peoples in many lands who know nothing of the quieter side of British-Indian relationships over the long and often turbulent years. Those who know only the surface of that history may well be bewildered.
> "But wherever people of many nationalities meet—at dinner in London, a house party in New York, a Boston drawing room, a Paris soiree—there is likely to be an Indian modestly thanking Britain for part of the heritage India cherishes today: a parliamentary system of government, the English language which so many educated Indians speak with remarkable beauty, a civil service embodying British traditions of incorruptibility. India is aware of contributing in return important values, humane and cultural, to the Commonwealth.
> "These things are discussed in polite half tones the world around where East meets West. Along the routes of the processions of the "Head of Commonwealth" in the last few days they have been celebrated by a million-voiced welcome to a sovereign who seems somehow not less but more than a Queen."

One More Agency?

President Kennedy has appointed James M. Landis to head the Office for the Oversight of Regulatory Agencies, a newly created board that has been established with power to review, and if necessary over-rule, arbitrary decisions by a number of regulatory boards and commissions. As the "Overseer" for this new agency Mr. Landis will be available for appeals from decisions of the Federal Trade Commission, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Security and Exchange Commission, the Federal Communications Commission, the Civil Aeronautics Board, and the Federal Power Commission.

According to columnist Clinton Davidson, Mr. Landis is well qualified for the tough job he faces. He has served as chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the Civil Aeronautics Board, and as Dean of the Harvard Law School.

Commenting on the new agency, Mr. Davidson states:

> "The really important thing is that for the first time in several years there will be an authority with power to review, and if necessary over-rule, arbitrary decisions by the semi-autonomous regulatory agencies.
> "Over the past several years we have repeatedly called attention in this column to the urgent need for closer supervision of the regulatory agencies which almost daily make decisions affecting every user of transportation, radio and TV, electricity, airplanes, and other public utilities and services.
> "Anyone who thought they had been dealt with unfairly by any of the agencies had no one they could appeal to in the White House, and congressmen dared not intervene for fear of being charged with "lobbying for special interests."
> "Although the regulatory agencies were created by Congress and supposedly are directly responsible to Congress there has been very little actual supervision of their operations, and none whatsoever in several years by the Administrative branch of government.
> "We have pointed out many times that the boards and commissions frequently make judicial decisions without all of the members being present to hear evidence and arguments in cases involving life or death of important companies and corporations. This is similar to a jury trial in which all of the jurors are not present."

Several of these agencies have overlapping responsibilities and authority and we agree that there is need for a superior authority that could coordinate their activities and compromise conflicting decisions. Regulatory agencies are a necessary evil in government, both at the state and national level, but they should not have unlimited power.

We favor a curb on their powers, even if it requires the creation of one more regulatory agency.

Who Reks?

(Tacoma News Tribune)

Next time someone asks us to go out and give a talk on the newspaper business, we're going to bow out in favor of 6 year old Diana Erlewine. Her essay, published recently in our Letter Box, shows she knows what a newspaper is for and what a newspaper does. We don't see how we could make it any more complete than she did in her letter, which is worh repeating:

> "Newspapers. We need them so we can know who reks and who drownds and who shoots somebody. And who wants a house, who dies or gets a baby. It tells if your dog is lost. They are good to put on shelves and to make bond fires. They also do good under a baby's plate and to keep dogs off a things. You can rap potato peelings in em. You can use one when you defrost. They tell about shows and how much things are."

Atta girl, Diana. We'll bet you wouldn't be without one, and that when you are a big lady you'll know how to use your newspaper.

P.S. Diana, they're also good to swat things with, like flies and public officials and things.

from
Elmer L. Andersen

Some people are not alarmed at the increase in highway fatalities. They feel it simply reflects increasing population and an increase in the number of vehicles using our highways. They feel that tighter laws, mandatory use of safety devices, and other legislation suggested is simply a nuisance for the vast number of good drivers and will have little or no effect on the results.

I cannot accept this view. I believe we can reduce the fatalities if we put our minds to it. It is interesting to note what other states have done. The death toll on New York state highways in 1960 was the lowest in ten years. Total fatalities for the year were 2,077 compared with 2,286 in 1959. Roughly this is three times the death rate of Minnesota in a state that has almost five times the population. Furthermore the number of vehicles traveling in New York is higher per thousand people than in Minnesota.

If the people of New York can be relatively safe on their highways there is no reason why our people cannot be. This is why we are urging increased driver education, more voluntary efforts through schools, churches, businesses and organizations. Tougher penalties for violators, a motor vehicle inspection law, increased number of patrolmen and other measures designed to deal constructively and firmly with the problem.

Your legislature would like to know how you feel. Should we accept increased fatalities as inevitable, or should we go to work with firm resolve to tighten up enforcement, and reduce fatalities. I would like to know what you think and so would your legislature.

Food Distribution

One of the first acts of President Kennedy was to direct the Secretary of Agriculture to increase free food distribution.

In our state the commodity distribution program is in the department of education. Currently there has been food distribution in a number of counties, mostly in northeastern Minnesota. In December of 1960 there were some 18,000 recipients of food.

Under the present program a family of five would receive, monthly, flour, dry milk, corn meal, rice, butter and lard having a total value of $11.45.

The foods come to Minnesota in carload lots and only one item needs to be repacked by the welfare agency. This is the rice which comes in 100 lb. bags.

Under an expanded program and with additional foods possibly included the welfare board of your county might want to re-check with our department of education to see whether they should make application if they are not now using this program.

SEE THE NEW VALUE-PACKED COMET ...THE BETTER COMPACT CAR
PRICED UP TO $331 BELOW OTHER COMPACTS
HIGH RESALE VALUE UP TO $617 MORE THAN OTHER COMPACTS
FINE-CAR FEATURES

Comet is one of the least expensive compacts you can own! These are the facts: Comet costs less when you buy—up to $331* below other compacts. Comet gives you high resale value—up to $617† more than other compacts. That's why it pays to own a Comet. But that's not all. Comet has fine-car features, too.
It's the first family-size compact. Longer wheelbase—up to 7.5" longer than other compacts—means more Comet room, not only in passenger comfort-for-six seating but in over 28 cu. ft. of trunk space—up to twice as much as other compacts.
Comet's big-car ride is the comfort difference. Extra length also contributes to Comet's road-leveling ride. The refined new suspension and easier-action springs give Comet a better ride than many standard cars. And you'll find Comet turns, parks and handles almost as easily as a tricycle!
Talk about economy and you're talking Comet. To save on gas, choose either of Comet's two thrifty engines. You change Comet oil only every 4,000 miles, save on licenses and insurance. And Comet's super-enamel finish won't cost you a cent for waxing—never needs it!
Both two- and four-door sedans and wagons. Take your pick from sedans or wagons. Comet wagons have up to 30% more cargo space behind the front seat than most other compacts, plus a convenient roll-down rear window.
Luxury quality, even where it doesn't show. Comet is quality, inside and out. Unit-built to keep quiet, stay sturdy and durable. Comet also has rustproofed vital underbody parts, complete soundproofing and an aluminized muffler.

Pennington Co. Gets $223,013 Allotment of State Road Funds

State Highway Commissioner L. P. Zimmerman today announced the allocation of state collected highway funds to the counties for 1961. A gross of $100,565,000 was paid into the highway users tax distribution fund, made up of state motor vehicle license fees and gasoline tax imposed by the state.

After paying for services performed by the motor vehicle division, the petroleum division and other state departments in the amount of $2,196,658, there is left $98,368,342 net for distribution.

Distributions as set up by law is a three-fold apportionment: sixty-two per cent goes to the trunk highway fund; 29 per cent to the county state-aid highway fund, and nine per cent to the municipal state-aid street fund, shared by 77 municipalities of 5,000 population and over of the state this year, an increase of 18 over the number of participants last year.

The county state-aid highway fund, in addition to the 29 per cent apportionment from the highway users tax distribution, is enhanced this year in the amount of $1,200,000 from interest on investments and the release of unused administrative and unencumbered research funds, bringing the total funds available for the CSAH program to $29,195,072.

Listed below is the amount area counties will get from the 1961 apportionment. These amounts are determined by law on the basis of each county's motor vehicle registrations, number of miles of county state-aid highways, and the financial need.

Pennington county, $223,013, including $128,000 for county state-aid highway construction and $85,334 for maintenance; $5,807 for municipal construction and $3,872 for maintenance.

Marshall county, $509,010, including $288,996 for county state-aid highway construction and $192,664 for maintenance; $16,410 for municipal construction and $10,940 for maintenance.

Red Lake county, $175,851, including $100,268 for county state-aid construction and $66,846 for maintenance; $5,244 for municipal construction and $3,496 for maintenance.

Aggregate amounts to be paid to other counties in this area include Polk, $706,698; Roseau, $381,654; Clearwater, $253,115; Kittson, $302,720; Beltrami, $361,399; and Norman, $336,678.

Disabled May Get Social Security

Under the 1960 Amendments approximately 250,000 people, disabled workers under 50 years of age, and certain of their dependents, are now eligible for social security benefits. Until now only those disabled workers between 50 and 65 years of age, and their dependents, were eligible for monthly social security payments.

To qualify for disability insurance benefits, a disabled worker must have worked under Social Security for at least 5 years out of the 10 years before he became disabled, and he must be so severely disabled that he is unable to engage in any substantial gainful activity.

Taking Census of Hunters & Anglers

Over 25,000,000 Persons Expected to Be Tallied

Interviewing on the second national survey of hunting and fishing began late in January, the department of the interior announced today. The period covered in the survey will be calendar year 1960.

The interviewing phase of the task will continue for about three weeks. Complete results will be available early in autumn, probably in September. Data on the size of the hunting and fishing population may be available late this spring. The work is being done by the Bureau of the Census under an agreement with the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, Fish and Wildlife Service.

This survey is being undertaken, as was the one for 1955, at the request of the International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioners.

The 1955 survey showed that approximately 25 million Americans 12 years old or older had hunted or fished that year. There is reason to believe that there will be a substantial increase in 1960 due to such factors as improved conservation measures of state and federal agencies, increased opportunities to hunt and fish, increased population, and increased incomes.

California Trees Biggest in Nation

Bristlecone Pine Tree's Age Fixed at 4,600 Years

The American Forestry association has released the latest report in its 20 year campaign to locate the largest living specimens of native American trees.

Primary purpose of the study is to stimulate greater appreciation of trees, establish a national library of reference material and to preserve these prime specimens to the end of their natural lives as cherished landmarks and as sources of seed to perpetuate the great size of their species.

California's Giant Sequoia, called the General Sherman, remains at the head of the list so far as girth is concerned measuring 101 feet 6 inches around at the base.

Tallest tree recorded so far is a redwood in Humboldt county, California, with a height of 368 feet 7 inches.

A bristlecone pine has replaced a redwood as the oldest living tree in the world. Without disclosing its location, the report says one has been discovered that is apparently over 4,600 years old. The General Sherman redwood, by comparison, has been determined to be about 3,500 years of age.

Currently, 42 states and District of Columbia has been credited with possessing champion trees. States not listed to date as prize tree growers are Minnesota, Iowa, North Dakota, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, West Virginia, Alaska and Hawaii.

Special Emphasis Put on Road Signs

Observance of Signs Stressed in February

"Traffic signs are designed to protect human lives. It is essential that everyone knows them by sight and obeys them without hesitation."

This warning was given to Minnesota residents today by Harry A. Sieben, state highway safety director, as he noted that February would be "Signs of Life" month in the year-long traffic safety emphasis program "Blueprint for Safety."

"Traffic signs represent the expert thinking of traffic engineers and safety officials and have proven their effectiveness in preventing accidents," Sieben said. "Our main job in the safety division is to persuade drivers and pedestrians to obey the Signs of Life for their own protection."

A disregard of traffic controls, such as signs and signals is a leading cause of many of our tragic traffic accidents, he said, pointing out that almost one out of ten fatal accidents resulted from this driving error.

Sieben urged all motorists to learn the shapes and meanings of the basic traffic signs so that they can recognize them upon sight, even when unable to read the letterings. He referred to the octagon Stop sign, the triangle Yield Right-of-Way sign, rectangular signs that inform and regulate, round railroad and diamond-shape warning signs, and the railroad crossbuck.

"Each of these signs is designed to make your driving safer and pleasant. They protect you if you follow their directions, Sieben said.

Marshall Co. Wool Growers Reminded of ASC Payments

Requests for Payments Due Before April 30, A. E. Strandquist States

Wool growers were reminded today that the 1960-program payments, to be made this summer, will be made only on wool and unshorn lambs which are marketed before March 31, 1961. That is the closing date for the 1960 program.

A. E. Strandquist, office manager of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, also pointed out that applications for such payments under the 1960 wool program must be filed before the end of April 1961.

He emphasized that adequate records on the sales must support the information on the payment applications. For instance, producers' sales records for shorn wool should show name and address of buyer, date of sale, name and address of producer, net weight of wool sold, and net proceeds to producer after normal marketing deductions.

Payments to producers for the 1960 marketing year will follow the same methods employed for the 1959 year. Shorn wool payments will be equal to a percentage of each producer's cash returns from wool sales. The percentage—to be announced later this year—will be that required to raise the national average price received by producers for shorn wool during the marketing year up to the incentive price of 62 cents per pound.

Lamb payments will be made to each producer who sells lambs that have never been shorn. The payments will be at a rate per hundredweight of live animals marketed to compensate for the wool on them on a basis comparable to the incentive payment per pound of shorn wool.

Under the 1959 wool program, growers in Marshall county last year received a total of $40,141.05 in incentive payments earned under the marketing year ended March 31, 1960.

BRIDGE TO GOD'S WORLD

The bridge, what a miracle! Tons of steel hanging in air . . . spanning miles of water . . . supporting an unending line of cars like so many ants.

And what a boon to man! The bridge saves untold hours and opens up new vistas of life.

The bridge of prayer, what a miracle! Spanning Heaven and Earth . . . carrying the needs and hopes of believing hearts. What a boon to man! The bridge of prayer opens up new paths of creative living and vistas into the realm of Heaven.

In Church you can discover prayer—the bridge which leads to God's world.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

She gets more for her dollars by looking and shopping FIRST in The TIMES

NEWSPAPER

Like most women, she knows that scanning the advertising columns of her newspaper is the quickest way to get the most complete picture of who's got what for sale . . . and for how much. She knows that by pre-shopping many ads, comparing many values, she stands the best chance of getting the MOST for her money when she actually sets forth to buy. She saves time and steps, too, by STARTING her shopping in the pages of the Times.

When questioned by researchers for the American Institute of Public Opinion, 69 percent of women readers said that they consult the advertising in newspapers BEFORE they go to shop. Here is where readers eagerly seek news about merchandise and values. Here is where they look for up-to-the-minute buying guidance.

Aside to advertisers: If you have something to sell to women (or men either, for that matter) put your advertising where those who are ready-to-buy START their shopping: in the Times!

Legislature Proceeding at Sluggish Pace

Liberals Demand Senate Action on Tax Withholding

The 1961 legislature closed a fifth humdrum week marked only by Liberal outcries for house Conservatives to produce a revenue-raising program.

Gov. Andersen's proposed 3 per cent excise taxes on new car purchases and light and telephone bills still had no sponsors.

Andersen's press conference remark that he is not actively seeking any sponsor drew Liberal wails he was "abdicating" his responsibilities.

That hadn't changed Andersen's mind at week's end.

Liberal Rep. D. D. Wozniak, assistant house majority leader, then added to his "abdication" charge.

He threatened to pigeon-hole Andersen's tax bills — if and when they appear — until the senate takes a position on the house-passed income tax withholding plan.

This, too, seemed unlikely to hurry things.

The only real fiscal activity saw the first (and only) bill of the session signed into law by the governor. It increased the state's authority to borrow from its other funds to fill out the income tax fund and permit passing out 23 million dollars of overdue school aids.

In other fields:

Committees were buried in highway safety bills. One called for mandatory impounding of auto licenses where owners were found guilty of driving after revocation of driver's license. Another was to confiscate and sell the car of any such license violator.

The house motor vehicles committee sent to the floor bills requiring teen-agers between 15 and 18 years to take driver training courses before being granted driving licenses, to require vision and rules-of-the-road tests for all license renewals and to make license suspension a possibility for violating speed regulations by more than 15 miles per hour.

Dennis Breamer, Albert Lea, and Karen Krapf, Jasper, were leadership winners. They were chosen by the Cooperative Extension Service 4-H staff.

Miss Lendobeja, 18, was county grand champion six times and declared champion horticulturist three years. Grand champion for her flower arrangements and posters two years, she was also reserve champion in conservation.

Minn. Historical Society Historical Building Zone 1

BILL SVENDSGAARD

Bill Svendsgaard, long time Pennington county 4-H'er, has been named International Farm Youth Exchange delegate to Switzerland, according to word received at the county extension office.

Svendsgaard is now in his senior year at the Bemidji State college. He was first assigned as an IFYE to Nicaragua in 1959, but his health did not permit him to take part in the program at that time, said County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk.

The International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE) program is a people-to-people program designed to increase grass roots understanding between nations. Svendsgaard has been named an IFYE delegate as a result of his many years of outstanding work in 4-H.

He served in club work from 1948 to 1960. During this time he completed 53 projects with seven years of junior leadership. He gave four demonstrations at the state fair, served on the dairy team which placed first at the Winter Shows in 1957, was presented the top junior leadership award for Pennington county, and won national recognition when he was presented a trip to Camp Miniwanca in Michigan in 1959.

Huge Suction Fan Lost on Highway 1

Falls off Brodin Truck on Way to Warren Feb. 2

Somewhere in the Thief River Falls area some unknown person has in his possession a large suction fan lost by a local heating installations firm, Brodin Sheet Metal Co.

Loss of the fan was reported to the sheriff's office here Thursday, after a Brodin truck, enroute to Warren, lost the fan along the way. The driver noted his loss at Warren and called back here to see if the lost fan could be found and a search turned up the carton—but not the fan—about two miles west of the city along highway 1. The carton had been opened with a knife.

Brodin's reported the fan carries the brand-name "Air Xpeller", is powered by a one-half horsepower Century electric motor and its air moving capacity is so great it would make the hair stand up on cows' backs if used in a barn.

Outside of a school building or large commercial building, the only use such a fan would have would be barn ventilation, the firm said.

Brodin's reported the fan would be large and hard to handle, and it is possible passers-by may have seen someone cutting the carton and loading the fan, Sheriff Charles Richards said. A reward is offered for the recovery or information leading to recovery of the unit, which is valued at $350.

Trainee from Finland Is Studying with Hartz, Inc.

As of Tuesday, January 31, the most eligible bachelor in the Thief River Falls area is a tall, curly-haired, deep-voiced young man of 24.

Interested parties will find him, during the working day, studying the billing department of L. B. Hartz Wholesale, Inc. His name is Veli-Seppo Harima and his usual mailing address is Helsinki, Finland.

Harima arrived in Thief River Falls on a North Central Airlines flight from Minneapolis Tuesday to study American wholesale grocery operations under the auspices of the American-Scandinavian Foundation trainee program. The organization has, since 1910, dedicated itself to furthering cultural understanding between the United States and Denmark, Finland, Iceland, Norway and Sweden. The trainee program has been in effect since 1946.

On the Hartz payroll as a regular employe, the Finnish youth began his work in the billing department and will study other departments when he is ready. He will be in the United States about a year — in Thief River Falls as long as, L. B. Hartz said, "He feels he is continuing to profit from the experience he is getting here."

Previously, Harima's main interest was in textiles. Starting in that line in 1954 in the family firm, he received outside experience for seven months with a Swedish textile firm as a worker.

The wholesale grocery business is, however, not new to the young man. His family owns 80% of the stock in a firm which operates the largest private grocery wholesale outlet in his country.

TRAINING in American methods of grocery wholesaling is being given to Veli-Seppo Harima, left, of Finland at L. B. Hartz Wholesale, Inc. under the auspices of the American-Scandinavian Foundation. L. B. Hartz, right, president of the local firm, began Harima's education last week in the billing department. A regular employe of the Hartz firm, the young trainee will study all other departments before his visit in Thief River Falls is concluded.

ENTRIES were received in the city Auditorium Friday morning, February 3, for the annual Seed and Feed Show put on by the Pennington County Crop Improvement association with judging started at 10 o'clock. Although the total of 100 entries was smaller than last year, judges expressed pleasure at the quality this year in most divisions.

Seed and Feed Show Friday Is Called Success

100 Exhibits Judged and Prizes Awarded to Winning Entries

Another successful Seed and Feed Show was concluded Friday afternoon, February 3, in the city Auditorium with a full day of exhibit judging, displays and talks by farming experts. The program was staged by the Pennington County Crop Improvement association.

Sponsored by the seed-feed-fertilizer dealers, banks and loan agencies, Pennington county, the Chamber of Commerce and the Red Lake Electric Co-op, the show attracted audiences from a wide area.

Judging of entries and a grain clinic for FFA and 4-H members occupied the morning hours and was followed by a bean feed for grain clinic participants at noon.

Winners in the grain judging were Gary Peterson, first; Wayne Larson, second, and Gary Peterson, third, all from Middle River.

Judges' comments on exhibits opened the afternoon program and Merv Syverson of the Minnesota Crop Improvement association discussed the certified seed program.

Principal speaker of the afternoon was Robert Jacobs, livestock specialist from the University of Minnesota, who addressed the audience of 25 on "Rolled Barley and Beef Programs."

Jacobs told the group about this new concept of feeding in which beef cattle can be finished on barley together with green leafy hay or vitamin supplement. He urged more farmers to fatten beef cattle in this area rather than shipping the catle out to be fed and marketed by others who make the profit from finishing locally-raised stock.

FINNISH warehousing methods, which came directly from the United States, are quite similar to those used in the L. B. Hartz Wholesale, Inc. warehouses in Thief River Falls. Goods are stacked and moved on pallets by lift trucks and other motorized equipment, stored on metal racks like those above. Note the uncluttered interior of the building with no posts to obstruct movement. This has been made possible by pre-stressed concrete construction of its roof with the only support by the exterior walls.

In addition to the home business office and warehouse outside Helsinki which wholesales textiles and a textile warehouse in that city, the firm owns warehouses in three other Finnish cities. The firm employs 350 persons in its wholesale and retail operations.

Founded by his grandfather, the firm is now managed by Harima's father. An older brother, 26, is concerned with the retail stores and the Thief River Falls visitor will be connected with the wholesale operation. Eventually, each of the brothers will be manager of the phase of business in which he is now working.

"All methods used in the wholesale grocery business in Finland came directly from the United States," the visiting trainee said, "and all our developments are those of your country a few years ago." Training in the modern methods of the Hartz company will make it possible for him to update methods in his family's operations, he said.

"The margin of profit in the grocery business is so small that we must use every possible improvement in methods to insure success," Harima explained as one reason for his period of study in Hartz warehousing methods. He added that a few years ago, the firm used American mechanical bookkeeping methods but ceased leasing the machines later. After a short study of the system used in the Hartz operation, he has already uncovered some additional operations which could have been performed by the machines and which might have made the bookkeeping system profitable.

Plans for coming to the United States were begun in 1959 when examinations were taken by Harima for the study trip under the auspices of the American-Scandinavian Foundation. Background material on the young man reached Mr. Hartz last September and, following his approval, Harima was notified that he would be studying in Thief River Falls.

Walking through the Hartz warehouses Wednesday afternoon, it was surprising to learn how similar operations were in its Helsinki counterpart, how similar were the products and even the way they are handled.

Products such as coffee and cereals from the United States are placed on pallets, then handled by forklift trucks just has they are in the Hartz warehouses. American products make up about one quarter of the total items in stock with about 70% of the total produced in Finland. Photographs show that the method of racking merchandise in the warehouses is very similar.

Although the young Finnish visitor had only been in Thief River Falls a day when interviewed, a brief tour through the large Hartz warehouses revealed that this American operation encompassed a larger number of items. One line of merchandise is, however, missing. His family firm handles a line of motorbikes and motorscooters which, he revealed, are a common form of transportation in Finland.

Harima is justifiably proud of the Helsinki-located main office and warehouse which were completed last year. Designed by an American-trained architect, the buildings combine beauty and utility which are often not coupled in structures of their type.

Curtain construction of the office building open its interior to outside light and do away with the ponderous and ugly feeling so often found in other forms of construction. Movable partitions within give flexibility of room arrangement.

Virtually post-free, the interior of the warehouse is open to rearrangement and the ceiling is 17 feet high at its lowest point. Support of the roof by the side walls is made possible by using a series of arches formed of pre-stressed concrete. The floor will support 600 pounds per square foot in the 120 by 150-foot building.

Coming to the United States by ship has convinced the Thief River Falls visitor that air transportation is better. Although he usually travels by air, he decided to take passage on the S.S. United States which made the toughest voyage of its career while he was aboard. Next time, he'll fly!

Would Allow Tax Deductions for College Expenses

Congressman Odin Langen Thursday proposed a bill which would allow taxpayers to deduct college and university expenses incurred by themselves or their dependents.

The bill as drawn would allow deductions for tuition, fees, and books at all accredited institutions of higher education.

In introducing the bill, Langen said, "It is my belief that this measure would accomplish three desirable objectives — it would provide stimulation for greater college and university attendance; it would provide aid to the taxpayer in meeting the ever-rising costs of higher education; and it would provide the nation with a larger group of college-trained young people at a time when education is of great importance and significance."

Legislature Is Moving Slowly Up to Current Week

The house education committee approved a bill to increase junior college assistance, jumping the present $250-per-student state aid to $350 for resident students and $300 for those from out-of-state.

It would raise the cost of the aid program from $1,578,250 to $2,654,750 for the two-year period.

President O. Meredith Wilson of the University of Minnesota began arguments for his 84-million-dollar budget before the house appropriations committee, with particular stress on the 21 million dollars in new building funds that he seeks.

State college presidents also put in their licks for their $27,400,000 of requests, $5 million over what the governor recommended for them.

Election of University of Minnesota regents, due next Thursday, was postponed indefinitely. Congressional districts now send one regent apiece to the board. But in view of the mandate to the legislature to cut the districts from nine to eight, a shadow was cast over an early session election from the current districts.
